'Good Government Congress' Hears Familiar Charges Against Judge in Court House Mass Meeting

The "Good Government Congress," headed by L. A. Banks, met in the auditorium of the court house last night, listened to a harangue from its sponsor, based on the familiar cry of "breakdown of law and order," demanded "the removal of cause" of Circuit Judge H. D. Norton and District Attorney George A. Coddling, and lambasted the Southern Oregon Bar association as "unscrupulous gangsters." The resolution was adopted by a handclapping vote, one member of the audience dissenting.

It was a characteristic attack on the court. The meeting started with a prayer and singing "America." Opinion summarized the results, as "Jackson county is saved again." Demands Court Suspension. Banks, in a speech, demanded "that the proceedings of the circuit court be suspended until law and order is established." Banks further charged "that the circuit judge and district attorney tied the hands of the grand jury, until the last vestige of law and order have vanished from Jackson county." The journalistic crusader kept his voice out of the higher keys, and restrained his table thumping to one resounding whack. He further declared Jackson county "did not know what was going on" and "should read about what people in Iowa and Minnesota were doing about illegal proceedings." The speaker suspected also, there was a "conspiracy" abroad. The circuit judge and district attorney were also charged "with violating their oath of office," "protecting murderers" and allowing the "Jacksonville Miner," "an unscrupulous, libelous and slanderous sheet," entrance to the mails. Leonard Hall, editor of the weekly, was among those present.

Adopt Resolution. The meat of the long resolution presented by Banks, is contained in the following "whereas": "Therefore, be it resolved that all legal proceedings in our circuit court be immediately discontinued and held in abeyance until the laws of this state and the constitutional rights of our citizens may be re-established in Jackson county, and "Be it further resolved that our Circuit Judge, Harry D. Norton, be removed from office for cause, and "Be it further resolved that our District Attorney, Mr. George Coddling, be removed from the office of district attorney for cause."

G. L. Ray, formerly of Colorado, delivered an opening prayer, and in a later talk urged everybody to join, and promised the crowd "some startling facts, backed by affidavits."

Other speakers in limelight. Mrs. Martin, wife of a civil service employe at the federal radio station, C. H. Brown, a recent arrival from Portland, who sat at the table in a secretarial capacity, Roy Chandler, secretary of the local unemployed, Frank Root officiated as chairman. County funds for relief were urged.

Another speaker was T. L. Breechen of Ashland, a Democratic leader of that city. Mr. Breechen gloated over the recent Democratic victory, recounted the Galveston flood in Texas many years ago, and told stories, which kept the crowd in good humor until the rumor started that he was engaged in a "wise-cracking filibuster."

All the speakers except Breechen stressed "loyalty" of members as the keynote. "Justice" was announced as the objective, and "public exposure" as the "penalty."

Mrs. Martin declared in her talk that "the county was lucky to have a man like Mr. Banks" and argued that "in unity there was strength." She scored their association, and reviewed her appearance at the recent Armory meeting.

The most spontaneous applause of the session came when Banks announced "that Earl H. Fehl was ringing true, and would continue to ring true." All other speakers were greeted with respectful applause, and Banks was given "three cheers" following his first appearance, as suggested by a member of the audience.

Miss Medford's Home While Visiting Hawaii

Long years ago, on the spot where once Hawaiian kings held court in a grove of coco palms, bordering Waikiki beach, stands the Royal Hawaiian hotel, and farther along the beach is the Moana hotel, with its famous bayana courtyard.

Here Miss Medford will make her home for nine luxurious days in the entrancing Hawaiian islands. The service to be given her could not be tendered this same ancient royalty in a more attentive manner. Silent-footed waiters anticipate her every wish. Her room is luxuriously appointed, and the quiet calm in this fair haven will be delightfully restful.

In this strange, different city, from sunrise to sunset, skies change with the minutes; rainbows float above the valleys; the sea sends forth opalescent hues; every bit of nature vies to lend color to the atmosphere. Romance, calm and peace are in the air.

A trip to the city, with its placid composure, its simplicity and genuineness, intrigues and excites. Here you find a bit of San Francisco of New York, and generous touches of the South Seas—an accidental atmosphere under western influence.

Everywhere you go you hear the soft speech of the kindly, lovable inhabitants of native Hawaii. Ceremonial recalling olden times are performed; the authentic hula is still to be witnessed; melting melodies of the lutes hold listeners spellbound; groups of serenading Hawaiian youths accompanying their singing with ukuleles and steel guitars, stroll in the evening along the beaches and under the palms.

Romantic memories of departed royalty linger for at the Iolani palace in Honolulu is "the only throne-room within the American borders." A visit to the aquarium at Waikial leaves you bewildered and perplexed. Every nook and corner of this beautiful old city is crammed full of interest and excitement and intrigue. Every minute of every hour of every day is filled to capacity, and still lone wonders and exclamations!

Oh! to be taking that trip! But if you can't, why not make it possible for some young lady of the Rogue River valley to become enthralled with these exquisite beauties? APOLLO PIANO PUPILS PROVIDE MUSIC TREAT IN RECENT PROGRAM

A genuine treat for those who love music and its interpretation by youthful fingers, which bring from the keys assurance that there are more artists yet to be, was offered Sunday afternoon at the Baldwin Shoppe on South Grape street, when pupils of Sebastian Apollo were presented in recital.

The home-like studio was filled to capacity for the event and many would-be-guests were turned away because of lack of space. The program, one of the best presented by Medford pupils in the opinion of the large audience, was interesting from standpoint of technique, phrasing, interpretation and touch. Each pupil in playing also exhibited a love and understanding of music with the desire for further mastery. To those who had heard the pupils play before they showed outstanding progress and confidence born of thorough training.

Several advanced pupils were the recipients of far more than ordinary words of praise, when they expressed talent not frequently found in students of their years. All were given an enthusiastic reception.

Adding much life and beauty to the recital, James Stevens, well known local soloist, sang a group of songs, which brought the immediate demand for an encore. In the group were an Aria from Faust, a negro spiritual and "I Love Life," the song by which many of his admirers choose to identify his voice, however many others he may sing.

The Baldwin Shoppe, offered by the Purickers for the concert in the interest of the advancement of good music, formed an ideal setting for the occasion. The Baldwin pianos used adding much to the finished interpretation of the music.

TOOK PILLS FOR 30 YEARS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF

Mr. Forsythe Endorses ALL-BRAN for Constipation

If you suffer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this voluntary letter: "After taking pills and tablets for about thirty years for constipation, I started to take your ALL-BRAN three times a day according to directions. Today I can eat cheese, and that is binding, and certainly feel fine."—Mr. Ed. Forsythe, Box 219, Youngstown, N. Y.

Science says ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using patent medicines—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. In serious cases use with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.
