

PROPOSE STATES CO-OPERATE FOR FARMERS' RELIEF

South Dakota Editor Presents Plan Before Senate Agriculture Committee — Would Meet Arguments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25. — (AP) — A new idea contemplating active cooperation of states with the federal government in administering the domestic allotment plan for farm relief was put forward today for consideration of the senate agriculture committee.

It was presented by W. R. Ronald, editor of the Evening Republican, Mitchell, S. D., as an answer to arguments often raised against the bill as passed by the house.

Ronald, who has played a prominent part in advancing the voluntary domestic allotment plan, expressed his views in a letter to Senator Norbeck (R., S. D.).

States Responsible. Under the Ronald proposal responsibility for obtaining prescribed acreage reductions would be placed with the states.

Only if a state made the required curtailment of production would it be eligible to receive the allotment money for distribution among its producers.

The plan as it passed the house January 12 provides for a tax on the miller, packer or other processor of wheat, cotton, tobacco, hops, rice, peanuts and dairy products, the money to be paid to farmers who cut production 20 per cent.

Another argument against it, he said, was that it "would be likely to give too much power to the administration and set up a dictatorship or bureaucracy."

Like Highway Aid Plan. To meet these two arguments, Ronald proposed "to work out the plan on the same general basis as federal aid to highways."

"I am proposing," he said, "that each state be authorized to advise the secretary of agriculture as to its limitation on production, and this in practice would mean that the states would speak for the producers in each case."

"In this way we would meet both of the arguments outlined above. There would be no dictatorship because each state would be dealing with the secretary of agriculture or whoever the administration would be. There would be no bureaucracy because the secretary of agriculture would simply specify the terms and conditions under which each state would qualify for its share in the tariff adjustment fund."

EAGLE POINT GRANGE MEETING LURES MANY DESPITE COLD NIGHT

In spite of the inclement weather the last meeting of Eagle Point Grange on January 17 was very well attended and there were a number of visitors present.

Reports of various committees were very good. Two applications for membership were read and Brother I. R. Klins gave the 1st and 2nd degree obligations to two new members, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merriman of Trail.

Among visitors were Mrs. Henry Hansen and Pearl Hansen of Roxas and daughters, formerly of Phoenix, now living at Eagle Point.

The program was put on by the H. E. C., consisting of several assembly songs, a talk on the duties of the H. E. C. by Mrs. Madeline Barrett and a solo by Rudy Weidman.

It was reported that the executive committee met on January 9 to attend to the business of the last quarter reports of 1932. Members of both the old and new executive committees were present.

Next regular meeting will be February 7, when the new annual word will be given to members.

DOG HAS LAMKIN IN DILEMMA BY REFUSAL LEAVE

He wants Judge O. B. Lamkin for his master and he won't take "no" for an answer—the little black and white spitz dog, which recently wandered to the home of the former county official out from Ashland.

Several weeks ago the little dog came to the Lamkin farm. The Humane society was notified of the very appealing stray and Mrs. Sidney Richardson assumed the job of finding him a home.

The little dog covered the 20 miles again without difficulty and showed up at the Lamkin farm. The judge, in despair, phoned the Humane society and the black and white spitz is again at the local shelter.

ROLF GUILTY OF SLAYING FRIEND; LENIENCY ASKED

Reinhard A. Rolf of Central Point, who last October accidentally slew his hunting companion and friend, Joseph St. Germain, in mistake for a bear, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter, with lenient recommendations, by a circuit court jury.

The jury recommended the minimum sentence with immediate parole, and to deprive Rolf of "the use of firearms in civil life for such time as your honor may think best."

The verdict was reached Tuesday evening shortly before six o'clock after slightly less than four hours' deliberation. Most of the jurors had hunted in southern Oregon for years.

The evidence showed that Rolf was a tenderfoot in western hills, though he had hunted as a boy in Minnesota. He and St. Germain had a set of signals, and when St. Germain failed to whistle, Rolf fired in the dim light of the timber, at what he thought was a bear, with tragic results.

Rolf, hagrard from worry, told his own story of the tragedy, as the principal witness for the defense. He is a resident of the Central Point district, and his friends there say he has aided, as best he can, the widow, and that he has borne a heavy load of grief since the accident.

The hunting accident occurred in the Butte Falls district last October. Rolf has been a resident of this county for about two years.

Regular dance every Saturday night, K. of P. hall, New orchestra.
