SMEEMAN BACK IN JAIL; WIFE TRIES SUICIDE

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 25.—Glenn Smeeman, Cleveland business man and Colorado convict, was back in his cell at the Canon City prison today awaiting action on his pardon plea, while his wife was recovering here from an attempt at suicide.

Mrs. Smeeman talked readily of her attempt to kill herself by a sleeping potion and gas in the home of a relative last Thursday. The attempt was not disclosed until yesterday.

"One minute I was building up hope, the next I was frightened," she said. "It's been like that for days. And days have been so long, always worrying, wondering if everything will be all right."

"Finally I said, 'What's the use?' Regardless of what action is taken on Smeeman's plea for pardon, she will remain close to him, Mrs. Smeeman said.

Smeeman, convicted of auto theft here in 1917, escaped and became a successful business man in Cleveland before the law finally found him out. He faces a similar charge of auto theft in St. Louis, Mo. He has applied to Governor Edwin C. Johnson for a pardon and the governor has taken the request under advisement. Yesterday the state board of corrections and Prison Warden Roy Best recommended to the governor that executive clemency be granted.
