

DIRECTED VERDICT FREES WILSON ON ASHLAND CHARGE

Lealie (Buck) Wilson of Ashland, indicted by the grand jury for alleged receiving of stolen goods from the J. C. Penney store in Ashland last summer, was freed late yesterday on a directed verdict of not guilty, ordered by the court. The court held that the state had failed to show definitely that Wilson was connected with the burglary or that he had any guilty knowledge of the crime. The court also held that the state's claim that Wilson was wearing some of the articles stolen from the Penney store was too remote. Luther (Toots) Crosby and Virgil (Dodo) Burnett, who entered pleas of guilty to the charge, will be sentenced Saturday morning. Emalee (Bobby) Mansfield of Ashland, jointly indicted with Wilson for receiving stolen goods, also entered a plea of guilty and is now in the state industrial home for women. Authorities say that Crosby and Wilson are on parole from state prison for the robbery of Miller's Toggery in Ashland two or three years ago. Wilson, in defense, claimed that he was a "victim of circumstances." Sentence will be passed in the morning by Circuit Judge H. D. Norton in a number of cases where defendants have pleaded guilty at the present term of court.

WILKINSON TRIED FOR BURGLARY

Martin Wilkinson of Jacksonville, indicted by the last grand jury for the burglary of the Chitwood drug store in that city, on the night of December 17, went on trial this morning in circuit court. Wilkinson is a former resident of Polk county, Oregon, and is represented by Attorney O. H. Bengtson. One of the main witnesses against Wilkinson will be Robert Langensbacher of Jacksonville, at whose cabin Wilkinson is alleged to have left the stolen articles. Langensbacher was given a suspended sentence when Jacksonville friends interceded in his behalf. Attorney Bengtson filed an objection to members of the jury who had heard the plea for Langensbacher, sitting in the Wilkinson case, on the grounds they would be influenced. The court overruled the objection. The trial is expected to be concluded this afternoon.
