

DISCRIMINATION IN R. F. C. LOANS CLAIMS SENATOR

Certain Members of Board Attempting to Obstruct Relief to 'Humble' Says Sen. Lewis at Hearing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—While a senate committee was hearing charges by Senator Lewis (D., Ill.), that the reconstruction corporation had discriminated against the weak in administering relief funds, the organization today approved $24,000,000 of loans.

Charles A. Miller, president of the corporation, shortly before the appearance of Lewis, had approved a measure that would put another $150,000,000 in the hands of the organization for relief loans to states.

Five of today's loans were for self-liquidating projects and three for relief work in Indiana, Tennessee and West Virginia.

Senator Lewis, speaking after several others had approved the bill, said the government seemed blind to the danger of revolution and that certain members of the corporation's board had tried to obstruct relief to "those of humble society" and allowed precedence to "those formerly of power."

She appealed for reconstruction corporation funds for the capital.

Mrs. Patterson said she did not believe the reports of distress until she accompanied relief workers on a personal investigation.

She quoted stories of distress among school children, but said they wanted their names withheld because they were afraid of incurring the displeasure of Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, who she said insisted there were no hungry children.

"We offered to start a fund with $5000 to feed the children, but he turned us down," she said. "He didn't want to bother."

JACKSONVILLE GRANGE AND MEDFORD C. OF C. ENJOY FINE PROGRAM

A program of harmony, both in music and good will, was presented last Friday evening at the Jacksonville Grange by the Medford Chamber of Commerce Gleemen.

The splendid musical numbers presented by the Gleemen were appreciated by the Grange patrons as well as the talks by Wm. S. Bolger, Bill Gates and C. L. McDonald. After the program refreshments were served followed by a social hour of dancing.

C. C. Hoover, who had charge of the program, presented a short program which included data on early pioneer musical history and musicians of Jackson county. Expressing his belief that music can play an important part in relieving the present depression, he introduced the following speakers to tell which was the more valuable to them personally: Algebra or music, Chester Wendt, Mabel Sims, Catherine Wendt, Carl Niedermeyer and George Wendt. With two exceptions, the speakers spoke in favor of music. As one speaker aptly remarked that "playing in the band is about the only chance nowadays for a farmer to toot his own horn."

The Home Economics club met at Mrs. Hartley's Wednesday afternoon with 15 present. The meeting was opened with the singing of several pep songs, followed by rollcall and response. Plans were made for a Washington day luncheon to be held at Mrs. Anna Wendt's. Mrs. Zola Pick and Mabel Sims were named as the entertainment committee. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Edith Gifford's on Thursday, February 9. Instead of Wednesday, the 8th. Miss Claire Hanley will have charge of the entertainment.

The slide occurred where the road skirts the Pacific ocean, and two steam shovels were brought into action.

Heavy rains were held responsible for loosening the earth.
