

ENDEAVOR UNION MEETING CLIMAX OF ANNIVERSARY

Bringing to a close the 22nd anniversary of Christian Endeavor founding, the local societies held a union meeting in the First Christian church Sunday evening, February 5, led by Norman Fraley, president of Crater Lake union. A violin solo was presented by Miss Geraldine Thompson. The young people took charge of the evening's church service. Carl Hoyer in charge, with Don Wilder giving a bass-baritone solo.

Relating the history of Christian Endeavor, Jack Moore, Miss Emily Brown and Gerald Latham gave interesting versions of the work carried on by the organization, followed by an inspirational talk by Rev. Howell of the First Presbyterian church. Rev. W. R. Baird of the First Christian church led the singing.

Crater Lake union's final observance of Christian Endeavor's anniversary week was a short program over KMEM, Friday evening, February 4, during which their president, Norman Fraley, gave an interesting summary of Christian Endeavor's history, telling how the tiny seed, sown 52 years ago, has grown to be a worldwide organization, with a membership of five millions, with even greater fields before it to conquer than in former years. Doris Beahm, Wilda Hewitt and Ray Clark were the members of the trio furnishing vocal numbers.

Other activities of the week included a union meeting of the young people in the Presbyterian church, Sunday evening, January 29, a district party at the First Christian church, Tuesday evening, with Carl and Ruth Hoyer in charge, prayer service in charge of the Christian Endeavorers, with John Fries as leader, at the Christian church, Wednesday evening, and a rally and political banquet at Phoenix Thursday evening, by Crater Lake union, with Gerald Latham as toastmaster.

In addition to the social and religious activities, Crater Lake union Christian Endeavorers had an attractive window display in both Medford and Ashland, to better acquaint the public with their pledge, their motto and the work carried on by their group.

Lucky Medford Girl Who Wins Honolulu Journey Will Treasure Memory

The cruise to Honolulu is a trip that will live forever in the memory of the fortunate young lady who wins the title of Miss Medford. On boarding the luxurious S. S. Niagara in Victoria, Miss Medford and her gay companions will settle themselves in their comfortable cabin for seven days of cruising over the blue Pacific—leaving a winter climate and sailing ever nearer to summer suns. And then nine enslaving days in and around the Islands.

What a sensation Miss Medford will experience when the huge liner pulls away from the wharf and starts across the Pacific. Think of it! Seven days of thrilling ship life, covering 2400 sea miles.

What joy the Honolulu cruise holds in store for Miss Medford. Hours of lying around on deck, soaking in the glorious sunshine, pleasant social contacts with charming people; deck games; dancing; and card parties. Everything to make the time pass all too quickly.

What more fitting name could Honolulu have? It seems "fair heaven" and so it is. No other name could describe so accurately this lovely port city which is the melting pot of the eastern hemisphere. Here, besides the native Hawaiians, one finds Filipinos, Japanese, Chinese, Porto Ricans, Koreans, Portuguese, and representatives of a dozen other nationalities walking the streets. All are becoming Americanized and the islands show a decided western influence—but Honolulu still holds its confusion of primitive and civilized; its old traditions are still manifest beneath the new veneer.

What an experience it will be for Miss Medford to travel Kealekua (the Pathway of the Gods) to visit Haleakala (House of the Sun), and to view Kilauea (Rising Smoke Cloud). These are the names of just a few of the many strange and interesting sights and places to be seen and visited. The speech of the native Hawaiians is a liquid language for which an alphabet of twelve letters suffices, and the few names mentioned here certainly are extremely
