

Tigers to Meet Grants Pass Here Friday

TWO HARD TILTS OVER WEEK-END FOR BURGERHITES

Victory Over Climate City Boys Held "Cinch" — Roseburg Has One Win Chalked Up Over Locals.

Grants Pass tomorrow night, and the strong Roseburg team Saturday night! Such is the schedule ahead of the Medford Tigers on the basketball court this week-end.

Medford has defeated the Grants Pass team in one conference game this season, the only conference game played so far, and the Tigers feel even more certain of defeating them on the Medford floor tomorrow night. Grants Pass, however, has improved, and Coach Darwin K. Burgerhite makes no such statements about the Tiger chances in the game. The players, according to reports, feel that "they took them once, and they can do it again."

The game against Roseburg Saturday night, although not a conference game, is engaging the Tigers even more than the conference game with Grants Pass. Roseburg defeated the Tigers by a narrow margin a few weeks ago, and the Tigers are looking for vengeance Medford lost to Roseburg on the Roseburg floor, and the men are determined to defeat Roseburg on the home floor. Both games are certain to be good.

Burgerhite's men are all in good condition for the games this week-end, barring accidents tonight or tomorrow. Brown has regained his strength, and Schell's old knee injury hasn't been bothering him, despite several bad falls in the Chemawa series last week-end when fans held their breath for fear Schell would get up with a limp. If Schell doesn't get some break trust on his knee, Coach Burgerhite feels he will get through the season in good shape. Just one fall to give his knee a wrench, and Schell is done for the year.

White, Kunzman, Harris and Luman are all reaching mid-season form and with more practice for all the men on basket-shooting, the Tigers will be ready for the state tournament.

RANKIN BOWLERS TRIM SHERWOODS

Sherwood's team tried hard to win last night's match in the Eike's bowling tournament, and claim they would have won "if" Jack Thompson had been present. However, Rankin's bunch took the first two games in spite of a 49-pin handicap. Rankin was high for the match, with 839.

Wednesday's scores:
Sherwood's
Sherwood	144	158	188	440
Quentner, Herb	155	161	180	497

KALLIO PINIONS MILLER FOR WIN

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Ous Kallio, widely recognized claimant of the middleweight wrestling championship, defeated Bob Miller of Chicago, two out of three falls here last night in a fast, clean bout. The wrestlers went at each speed and with so rapid a change in holds they frequently brought the crowd to its feet with applause. Kallio had to extend himself to the limit to take the final fall.

Chet Wiles, 175 pounds, and Larry Bennett, 174, went five rounds to a draw. Sailor Frank, San Diego, and Pat Callahan went three rounds to a draw in the opener.

GOLFING WEATHER PROMISED SUNDAY FOR HAM TOURNEY

Despite the cold snap that has tied up most of the United States, and the slight flurry of snow here this morning, the opening gun in Medford's golfing year will be fired at the Rogue Valley golf course Sunday, as per schedule, according to Jack Hueston, professional at the club, and A. P. Johnson, chairman of the tournament committee.

Weather reports from the local weather bureau, and as received over the radio, indicate a relief from the storm, and predict warmer weather, and fair, for Sunday. Those who go deep for their divots need have no fear of breaking a club on frozen ground, the weather man said, and rheumatic joints will stand exposure to the wintry elements.

Chairman Johnson has sent a letter to each club member announcing the "blind pig" tournament, so termed because hams and bacon will be given as trophies. All players will select their own handicap for the "blind bogey," which will be 70 for club members and 75 for visitors.

The loud speaker will again be put in operation, Johnson said, by which nervous players will be urged to greater efforts by the master of ceremonies, warmly entrenched in the clubhouse. Those who tee off on the first hole will hear all about their stance, approach, swing, left leg and left arm, and if they don't smack out a long one they will hear about that.

Thirty or 40 out-of-town guests are expected, as word has already been received from Ashland, Grants Pass, Roseburg, Yreka, and Weed that golfers from there would take part.

Shaughnessy Has Leg On Stagg Job

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Clark Daniel (Shag) Shaughnessy, former Minnesota grid star and now coach at Loyola of New Orleans, today was recommended as the man to pick up where Amos Alonzo Stagg left off on the University of Chicago football field.

Shaughnessy's appointment as the gridiron coach on Chicago's midway needed only the approval of the university's board of trustees at its meeting this afternoon.

Other guests were those members of the chief executive and others in official life who have shared the early morning workouts with Mr. Hoover on the White House lawn. Wives also were present.

CLAIM THAT JAPS WON BY 'DOPING' OUT OF ORDER NOW

Specific Charges Should Be made to the International Swimming Federation, Is Sport Writer's Opinion

By ALAN GOULD, (Associated Press Writer.) It seems quite all right, in principle, to conduct a "war against doping" in the matter of star swimmers or athletes in general, but it smears of poor sportsmanship at this date for any American, much less a college coach, to belittle the magnificent victory of Japan's young swimmers in the 1928 Olympics, on the basis that oxygen was used by them as a stimulant or restorative.

So far as Japan is concerned or any of its performers it is not the business of our National Collegiate A. A. to do any investigating, anyway. Specific charges, if and when made, might be taken before the International Swimming Federation but I doubt that any will be drawn up.

Meanwhile, such references to the Japanese as have been credited to Matt Mann, Michigan's swimming coach, on the subject of "doping" seem altogether inopportune and out of order.

Our swimmers and coaches at Los Angeles last summer knew just how good the Japanese were, beforehand. It was simply a question of whether the youngsters from the Orient could duplicate their performance at home. They did and they won the men's Olympic championships for the first time from the U. S. A. They also proved themselves grand sportsman.

It's An Old Story. The use of stimulants by athletes undergoing the stress and strain of major competition is nothing new, anyway, nor in many cases is it necessarily illegitimate.

Old-timers can tell of many an instance where it was necessary to "pep up" the boys by one means or another, by methods usually harmless or sometimes otherwise. The use of sugar or candy is, of course, common. Veterans often prefer something with alcoholic content for fortification of body energy and determination.

I have heard it told, seemingly on good evidence, that hypodermic injections were used to sustain some of the competitors in a famous Olympic marathon, also that an over-indulgence of spirits was costly to one of the favorites in this event.

It may also be recalled that the administration of sherry and cognac helped stimulate one of our great Olympic champions, his source of energy having been pretty well tapped by a heavy campaign. Alleged "doping" of Olympic athletes was investigated in 1928.

Why, therefore, all the clamor, even if the Japanese did use liquid oxygen to stimulate or revive their swimmers? It was done upon medical advice after a study of the effects. Would Have Won Anyway.

In the furtherance of that well known desire to win, certain of our college football coaches have been known to use some method of stimulation, but it has mostly been confined to vocal or emotional exhortation.

Rarely have there been such cases as those where a coach administered caffeine tablets to his team in the final game against a leading rival or another used strychnine pills. Generally the dietary variations have been something like the "milk diet"

FIREBALL DAZZY VANCE SWAPPED TO CARDINALS

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—(AP)—While most of the major league baseball clubs were apparently content to concentrate on the contract situation, the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals have broken loose with one of the season's most startling trades. The deal, announced somewhat unexpectedly last night, sent Dazzy Vance, Brooklyn's veteran fireball pitcher, and Gordon Stiehl, infielder, to St. Louis Cardinals for Owen Carroll, right-handed hurler, who came to the Cards in the deal for Jim Bottomley and Jake Flowers, utility infielder, whom the Dodgers sold to St. Louis in 1931.

It was known that Brooklyn was willing to listen to offers for Vance, who has been slipping from his once-great form in the past couple of seasons.

Vance was not listed as a holdout, but he had not signed the contract Brooklyn offered, which was understood to be considerably below last year's $15,000 figure. Some of Dazzy's poor work last season was attributed to the fact that he was believed to be resentful over the salary reduction he had to take then.

Taking second place among the Dodger news today was the announcement that William Watson (Lefty) Clark, one of two National League pitchers to win 20 or more games last season and the only left hander to accomplish that feat, had signed his 1933 contract.

Ready to leave for the south, Babe Ruth made it clear that he will sign with the Yankees before he takes part in any exhibition games.

Bob Kline, big right handed pitcher of the Boston Red Sox, also joined the ranks of the ball players who are satisfied with the salaries offered or at least resigned to them.

RED RATS LEAD IN BASKETBALL AT HIGH SCHOOL

Charging, jumping on opponents' limbs and generally mistreating whoever comes in the road is the usual method of playing intramural basketball at Medford high. Yet at times, basketball of state tournament variety may be seen.

Unusual enthusiasm is being manifested both by the boys participating and those not. Also many potential stars of future years have been unearthed in these games, where much fundamental work is given. Color is added to the games by the oddity and originality of the names.

Monday evening two fast games were played with the Red Rats and the Gas House Gang competing. Both games were well played, with the Red Rats and the Slaughterhouse Five game being very close until the last few minutes of play. Bennett Lewis, Joel Cowden, Myron Walters, Dave Lowry and Frank Brown were outstanding players in the two games.

Lineups: Red Rats—Slaughter H. 5—W. Howard (2).....F.....L. Reich (2) M. Walter (6).....F.....B. Lewis (11) J. Pierce (3).....G.....G. Andrews (2) B. Mathews (1).....G.....Holzang J. Cowden (8).....G.....Sparks Gas H. Gang—Rinky Dinks—Ed Bennett (6).....F.....P. Brown (12) W. Colbaugh (11).....F.....C. Hicks D. Lowry (9).....G.....Hooker Stern.....G.....Harrison (2) Santo.....G.....L. Campbell G.....Atkins (2) G.....B. Young Substitutes—Jordan, Smith for G. H. G. and Lowry and Nelson for R. D. Standing of the Teams.

Red Rats	4	0	1,000
Slaughter House	3	1	750
Gas House Gang	2	2	500
Rinky Dinks	2	2	500
Basketballs	1	2	333
Pink Elephants	1	2	333
Slide Winders	1	2	333
Padooka Wilcats	0	3	000

Red Rats adopted at Brown university, noted for its "iron men." As for the use of the "Japanese pulmotor," it seems very rare indeed and hardly worth all this disturbance. The Japanese would have won the Olympics swimmers, anyway, with or without it.

STOP!

CONSIDER the PRICES of things in 1929 - 1930 1931 and 1932

at TODAY'S PRICES, then BUY!!!

THAT "Prices Are Rising" is a fact backed by stock shortages all along the line from retailer to manufacturer. And there is a shortage of "supplies" in most homes as well. Operating on a limited budget people have used the old things until they simply can't be used any more.

If the things you and your family use are giving out, if your reserve supplies are running low, now is the time to stock-up . . . now, before the rising market catches you napping and you are forced to pay far more for things you simply must have. Medford shops have never shown more attractive merchandise—and have never offered greater values!

And here is another tip: you'll find that the best way to obtain full advantage of today's prices is to watch carefully the ads that appear in the Mail Tribune. Buy now before rising prices take from your dollar its present value and use the Tribune as your buying guide.
