Birthdays Inspire Colorful Motifs At Social Affairs

Events of the past week have been festive ones in keeping with all expectations for the month of February. The birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington have shared honors with St. Valentine in inspiring the decorations for luncheons, teas and dances. Although affairs have been small, they have been colorful, and those of the coming week promise to be equally so, with the birthday of the country's first president still in the offing.

Wednesday Mrs. Allen Smith and Mrs. David Yale will be hostesses at a luncheon, where the Washington's birthday motif will be used in decorations. Invitations have been issued to 20 guests and luncheon will be followed by bridge.

Benefit Affairs Retain Favor in Medford Groups

"Charity" is again the incentive of much entertaining in local social circles and the events, which have feted her, are many. One of the most favored of her branches has been the Lions Relief kitchen. Among those entertaining for the benefit of that particular project were: Mrs. Rose Schiefel, Mrs. B. A. Kroschel, Mrs. J. D. McPherson, Mrs. Jack Porter, Mrs. George Porter and Mrs. G. G. D'Albini.

Mrs. G. R. Stachwell, president of the Greater Medford club, which is sponsoring aid for the kitchen, yesterday voiced her appreciation of the entertaining done by the women named.

Mrs. Reames Adds Luncheon to Aid Welfare Exchange

Mrs. A. E. Reames was hostess yesterday at a charming spring luncheon, arranged as a benefit for the Welfare Exchange, carrying on the chain of events, started a short time ago at the home of Mrs. Leonard Carpenter.

Nine guests were invited for the afternoon and luncheon was followed by bridge.

Edgells Welcomed Home From Carmel

Society is welcoming home Mr. and Mrs. Corbin Edgell, who returned Thursday from spending the winter at Carmel. They were accompanied by Mrs. Edgell's mother, Mrs. Alice Holloway, who was their guest following the Yuletide. Mrs. C. N. Black with whom the Edgells spent considerable time in the south, will not return to southern Oregon until some time in March.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Roberts entertained at dinner last evening for the pleasure of the Edgells.

Mrs. Roberts was also hostess recently at a charity luncheon to which 12 guests were invited, the event being one of those planned to benefit the welfare exchange.

Mrs. Clark Gives Contract Party

Wednesday Study Club Holds 7th Papers

The Wednesday Study club held its regular meeting at the club rooms, Wednesday, February 15. An unusually interesting program was given.

Mrs. Laura West gave a very instructive paper on foreign relations. She said all foreign relations are of three kinds, economic, political and social. Mrs. West said that the United States, since the days of Lincoln, has been the foremost nation in promoting relationship with other nations. We were the first to open relationship with Japan and the whole world has looked to us for this pioneering spirit. Our relationship with Canada has always been peaceable, easily settling all differences by negotiations. This condition she attributed largely to speaking the same language. Our neighbors on the south speak a different language, which fact separates us and friendly relationships are much harder to maintain.

She suggests that much of the trouble with our foreign citizens might be settled if we insisted on them being better acquainted with our language before they were allowed citizenship.

We are the greatest consumers of all nations, and the whole world looks to us for a market for their goods. No nation spends like the United States. We use over one-half of all the tin produced in the world. We use 100 pounds out of every 100 pounds of all rubber produced. It takes one-half million animals a day to supply us in leather. Even Italy ships us annually 40 million pounds of tomatoes.

Mrs. West's paper should make people consider home production and home consumption, as a way out of our present civic economic trouble, it was emphasized.

Mrs. W. M. Van Scoyoc reviewed the Life of Owen D. Young, written by Ida Tarball. It is a new book, very well written as is characteristic of all her writings. She gives his life from early childhood. He has always been a good student and led a clean life. His personality permeates wherever he is. Because of his great value to the nation and the world the Republicans would like to claim him but he is nevertheless a Democrat. Mrs. Van Scoyoc stated.

Mrs. J. H. Cochran closed the program with very interesting topics of the day.
