

CRATER ERUPTION TO DWARF NOISE OF LOCAL BATTLE

The Crater is scheduled to erupt. An old-time explosion, the like of which hasn't been felt in Medford and southern Oregon for many a day, is on the calendar for this evening, and promises to make the political upheaval of the past few months sound like a toy popgun in comparison.

Craters and their guests—for each member has been asked to invite some one—will gather at the Hotel Medford at 8:30 o'clock this evening for a banquet, honoring O. T. Baker, who has resigned his post as secretary of the chamber of commerce here to accept a similar position in Boise, Ida.

FORMER SHERIFF'S CANDIDACY LEGAL SAYS SKIPWORTH

(Continued from Page One) witness. She testified to the condition of the ballot boxes and pouches. It was brought out during her testimony that the present grand jury had investigated the seals on the ballot boxes, and the condition of the ballot containers. She explained that on the tin containers the seals adhered firmly, but that on the canvas pouches they did not stick so tight. Mrs. Meyer testified that the ballot containers were in the main room of the clerk's office, and that they were under the eye of her department during the day.

Attorney Elton Watkins of Portland, frequent update candidate for congress, and a state Democratic warhorse, appeared with Attorney E. E. Kelly and Frank DeSouza of this city as counsel for Sheriff Schermerhorn.

Former Sheriff Jennings was represented by Attorneys Porter J. Nerr and Frank Van Dyke of this city. Many Hear Proceedings. A well-filled courtroom, including many of the leading Democrats of the county, listened to the proceedings with interest.

Attorney Watkins, following the ruling of the court, filed a motion to quash the proceedings, which was overruled. Most of today is expected to be devoted to the hearing of legal arguments on various phases of the issue.

On the face of the official count Sheriff Schermerhorn was elected by 123 votes, and was issued a certificate of election by the county clerk. Former Sheriff Jennings last December filed an election contest, but service was unobtainable as Sheriff Schermerhorn was in Siskiyou county, California until he assumed office last January. When he returned a new contest was filed.

Jennings alleges in his petition that he was elected "by not less than 97 votes," and that the election boards of the county discarded 381 votes cast for him on "technical errors." Misspelling of the name, incomplete initials, and failure to mark an "X" in front of the written name, were listed as the chief reasons for casting out the "write-in votes."

MOSQUITO BILL MAJOR ITEM IN CAPITOL'S GRIST

(Continued from Page One) Upton senate measure which met its Waterloo yesterday in the upper house, has a ghost now in the hands of the alcoholic traffic committee. Being carefully considered, this bill, providing the machinery in case of the repeal of the 18th amendment) is said to be purged of all the objections contained in the Upton bill. It eliminates, it is said, the specific objection to the possibility of calling a special election for that purpose only. Proponents of the measure today estimated that they will have 18 affirmative votes in the senate.

There is no speaker around the capitol halls as much in demand as Louise Palmer Weber, prominent club woman of Portland. Interested in practically all of the legislation considered, Mrs. Weber is forever turning down invitations by sponsors of the various controversial measures, to appear in their behalf at the public hearings. Brilliant of mind and clever of tongue, she has them all cheated as an extemporaneous speaker. But unless she herself is sold on one side or the other, there is no pressure under the sun that can make her enter the forum.

Last night she went to bat for the "Grade A Producers association" at a public hearing in Senate Bill No. 160, a proposed measure which, in the words of Mrs. Weber, "gives the dairymen the right to appeal over the decision of the subsidized milk inspector."

When word was passed about that Mrs. Weber was to speak, the room which was set aside for the hearing gradually filled to the point of discomfort. So the crowd was moved to a larger one. This was found inadequate and a still larger move was made.

MEDFORD POLICE TAKE GUN FROM BANKS FOLLOWER

(Continued from Page One) been one stick of concrete proof that anyone was threatening to violently destroy his newspaper plant or his home, but Banks has convinced others that such was the case. Whether it is done simply to throw out an impression of persecution as a matter for individual opinion, but the fact remains that there has never been an attempt made on Banks' life, or to dynamite his newspaper.

Perfect Example. VanWegen's plight is a perfect example of how Banks can convince an intelligent person that black is white. VanWegen told officers, when his revolver was taken that "people were stealing Banks' paper and supplies, and they were guarding the Daily News to see they didn't do it any more."

VanWegen, who is a working man himself, lost sight of the fact that a working man, seeking back wages, has redress in the courts, and that the paper had been attached by Gene Wright, who had to use the last resort—the courts—to collect his back wages.

VanWegen lost sight of the fact that Banks had first, in his editorial column and under his signature, declared the paper belonged to Mrs. Elsie Fehl, and on the next day declared that it belonged to the "co-operative workmen" of the News.

The incident of having the Daily News guarded is regarded by many as another case of Banks creating an odious part so he can refuse to play it. He has done the same thing with the attorneys of Medford, and with the courts of Jackson county.

Three Years of Abuse. For three years Banks has carried on an unceasing attack on the officers of Jackson county, while the officers have been particularly lenient with him. After the three years of abuse and vilification, if Banks were to commit a crime, or be arrested on a complaint signed by someone, Banks, it is commonly believed, would declare the officers were "seeking vengeance," and the Good Government congress would be called upon to come to his aid.

For three years Banks has vilified and abused the courts of Jackson county, particularly the circuit court, and he now flatly refuses to go before that court because of a condition he has built entirely by himself. He declares that he has no legal representation, but has discharged one attorney after another, vilifying each in his paper, until attorneys, by their own admissions, are afraid to represent him. Boosted Norton Once. Banks has won every one of his cases in the courts of Jackson county when he was in the right according to records on file at the court house. Banks won the case of Sander vs. L. A. Banks and the Suncrest orchards, when Sander sued on a charge of short weights by Banks, and when the trial was finished, Banks declared that "Judge Norton was an able judge, and had conducted the trial fairly."

That the Good Government congress was organized by Banks for the sole purpose of protecting him from the courts is generally recognized over the valley, and the unemployed and the tax ridden are being used as pawns to further protect Banks from the inevitable day when honest debts become due, when human patience is expended, and when the courts, by their slow and tiresome process, have finally decided that for an editor to safely call a man a liar, murderer or thief he must be able to prove his charge.

Jobless Not His Care. "Nothing can be done for the unemployed and the tax ridden until the blood has been washed from the hands of Jackson county," Banks declared from the platform in the court house one week ago. "That one statement opened the eyes of hundreds of unemployed and taxpayers in the valley who have followed Banks with the idea that he will help them."

When Banks said "until the blood has been washed from the hands of Jackson county," he meant that the officers must be prosecuted in the Dahlack case, and in the Bates case. With officers prosecuted in these two cases, Banks' court troubles, as well as Earl Fehl's, would be over. What Banks would do for the unemployed and the tax ridden after that is best answered by what he did for them before he became enmeshed in the present row.

238 AUTOISTS BUY TEMPORARY PLATES

According to the records of the sheriff's office, 238 temporary auto licenses, under the $2.50 fee, and good until June 30 next, have been issued the past week, to Jackson county autoists. It is estimated there were between 1200 and 1500 autoists failed to procure licenses under the old rate. Applicants are applying at the rate of from 10 to 15 daily, and assuming days and spring is expected to increase this number.

After June 30, the auto fee will be $5.00 per year. The new rate is also expected to win back many Oregonians who heretofore have purchased California and Washington license plates for $3.
