

FOUR LIVES TOLL IN SHOOTING AFFRAYS RANCHER IS HELD

Two Victims Dug From Graves On Puget Sound Farm After Confession—Murder, Suicide Takes 2

SEATTLE, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Two separate shooting affrays leading to the deaths of four men stood uncovered today, with the bodies of two of the victims dug from a grave on a ranch near Egan, across Puget Sound, after having been buried there several months.

As an outgrowth of the double slaying, Elmer J. Martin, about 60, a rancher, was held in jail on an open charge at Port Orchard. He related that he had employed the two last fall, but that they beat him up in an attempt to rob him, and he shot in self-defense. Sheriff D. L. Blankenship said.

Is Ex-Convict. Martin is a former Oregon State penitentiary inmate. The other shooting affray took the lives of Frank Carliello, 43, in his little cabin at a Cedar River resort south of here, and Emil Matson, 40, who lived in a nearby cabin. Authorities described their deaths as murder and suicide, with Matson dying last night of a self-inflicted wound at a hospital here, several hours after they had been found.

Carliello had been dead apparently since some time Saturday night, and the slaying was discovered when his brother-in-law, O. W. Peterson, and his wife went to visit him and bring him weekly groceries. He had been shot through the head.

Summoning deputy sheriffs from Seattle, Peterson led them to a nearby cabin to which tracks were leading in a dying condition. A revolver lay near his outstretched hand, they said.

Meanwhile, the identity of the two men found at Egan remained unknown today, although an autopsy last night by Drs. Elmer Cornell and Joseph Coyle showed they were both white but apparently of foreign extraction.

LAST OF RURAL PLAYS THIS WEEK

The last two of the competitive plays to be given in the county will be held this week by the following committee:

Central Point will put on "Friday for Luck" on the 28th, with Mrs. Victor Bursell directing, and Lake Creek group on Thursday will present "Kingrow" under the direction of Mrs. Alma Myers. A small admission charge will be asked for each. These plays have created much interest throughout the rural communities of the counties, and have attracted many visitors.

The finals, with the three best plays competing will be held at the Washington school auditorium on March 8th. That evening's entertainment should be one of the best offered to the public for sometime. The winning plays of each district will be announced as soon as the last play has been given, that is the one at Lake Creek on the 2nd of March.

BUSINESS MAN IS SENT TO PRISON

SALEM, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Charles R. Archerd, for 16 years a leader in business and civic affairs of Salem, was sentenced today to serve three years in the penitentiary. Conviction was on a charge of larceny by bailer, the jury returning a verdict at 11:45 o'clock Sunday morning after deliberating since 6 o'clock the night before. Archerd was convicted under an indictment charging him with converting to his own use over 60,000 pounds of wheat left in the Archerd warehouse by T. F. Walker, Marion county farmer.

W. C. T. U. Notes

By Mrs. Wm. H. Hill. The W. C. T. U. is an organization of Christian women of every creed, banded together for the protection of the home, the abolition of the liquor traffic and the triumph of Christ's golden rule in custom and in law.

In 1874 a declaration of principles, written by Frances Willard reads like 1933 technocracy. "We believe in the coming of His Kingdom. . . . We believe in the gospel of the golden rule and that each man's habits of life should be an example safe and beneficent for every other man or woman to follow."

"I hereby solemnly promise God helping me, to abstain from all distilled, fermented, and malt liquors, including wine, beer and cider and to employ all proper means to discourage the use of the traffic in the same."

D. A. R. DENOUNCES LAW BREAKING IN HOT RESOLUTION

Whereas, for several months our community has been kept in a condition of turmoil and unrest through the publication of much false and un-American propaganda, unjustly libeling and attacking the circuit court of this district and many of the trusted and respected officials of our county.

And whereas, many of said publications contained an appeal to people our district to disobey and disregard the constitution and laws of our land and of our state, and are therefore seditious and criminal in character;

And whereas, the Daughters of the American Revolution believe in and stand for the orderly administration and enforcement of the laws of the nation and state, and have a high regard for American institutions provided for and by such laws.

Therefore be it resolved, that this organization denounces and condemns those guilty of such acts of syndicalism as being un-American and a menace to our government.

And there be it resolved, that we do endorse our circuit court and Judge Harry D. Norton and other officials under attack and assure them of the respect and support of this organization in the orderly conduct of affairs of such offices.

And be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to officers under attack and to the newspapers for publication and to the GRATER LAKE CHAPTER, DAUGHTERS OF AMERICAN REVOLUTION, Medford, Oregon, Feb. 24, 1933.

Girl Disappears in Thin Air

The Oriental girl reclines on a sheet of plate glass supported by two slaves. The magician waves a white sheet in front of the pretty maiden. . . . She has disappeared in thin air.

ILLUSION: The Oriental girl reclines on a sheet of plate glass supported by two slaves. The magician waves a white sheet in front of the pretty maiden. . . . She has disappeared in thin air.

EXPLANATION: "Disappearing" acts are among the most popular in the repertory of the magician. Dogs, horses, girls, whole rooms disappear—whiskered into wings, dropped through trapdoors, hidden by mirrors. But this "disappearance" is a bit different. One of the "slaves" is a hollow dummy. When the magician holds up the sheet the little lady disappears completely—into the convenient figure of the dummy.

There is also a trick of cigarette advertising, whereby a few magic words are used to create the illusion of "Coolness." EXPLANATION: Coolness is determined by the speed of burning. Fresh cigarettes, retaining their full moisture, burn more slowly... smoke cooler. Parched, dry cigarettes burn fast. They taste hot. This makes the method of wrapping very important.
