Foreign Problems Form Subject Of Interesting Paper

The members and guests of the Wednesday Study club heard many interesting and pertinent facts pertaining to international problems, in the paper given March 1, by Mrs. J. F. Lawrence.

First she stated that never did foreign relations involve so many interesting problems as now. Among the many things needing study to understand these problems, she mentioned political alliances in Europe, the League of Nations, international conferences, the unhappy situation in the Far East, reparations and allied war debts, and the coming world economic conference.

Lacking time to discuss all these questions, she stressed the political situation in Europe, and the reparations and allied debts. The whole pivot upon which the future of Europe depends is the answer to the question—shall things stay as they are? The dispute over the boundary lines between Germany and Poland is as dynamic and is a menace to the whole world in its unsettled state.

The authors of the newest book on the economic situation declare that doing away with all war debts would hasten world prosperity. And that the demand for payment would be detrimental to the debtor nation.

Mrs. E. N. Warner presented current news items ranging through local, state and national affairs.

Age Claimed Asset To Business Woman

An article of interest to all women in pursuit of business careers appeared in the National Business Women's Week, sixth annual observance issue. It tells of surveys, which bring an optimistic outlook to all, for each and everyone is sure of one thing, regardless of the times, "years will bring age."

The article reads: Age looms up as a possible asset, not a liability, to business and professional women. In two surveys made by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the organization which sponsors observance of National Business Women's Week.

A survey conducted jointly with Bryn Mawr college and now in process of tabulation indicates that in many professions age has a distinct advantage over youth, bringing with it higher earnings and more rapid advancement. The same survey shows that of the first 5000 women reporting those over 60 years of age earn the highest wage, a median of $1926 being reported by them, as compared with a median of $1890 for women between 40 and 60, and of $1019 for women under 25. "This is cheering indication that, for this group, at least, advancing years did not result in discrimination," says Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, chairman of the research committee of the federation, the agency which sponsors such surveys.

A survey of 14,000 members of the national federation made by the University of Michigan and published in 1930 is corroborated by the Bryn Mawr study as respects advancing years. It indicates plainly that the earnings of business and professional women do not drop until late in life.

In the Michigan study salaries rose until the age of 50, remained at about the same level till 60, and dropped only after that age. Moreover in some occupations there was not even a tendency towards wage decreases after 60.

In many other respects the two studies corroborate each other. They demonstrate, for example, that except in rare instances business and professional women are not highly paid. In the Michigan study the median salary was $1548. In the study conducted with Bryn Mawr, in which 20,000 women participated, it was $1580. According to both studies the real field of opportunity is in independent work.

Women in business for themselves earned considerably more than those employed on a salary basis.

St. Ann's Altar society will hold a rummage sale at 222 West Main St., March 8, 10 and 11. It was announced yesterday and extensive plans for the affair are being made by Mrs. Wm. Smith, chairman, Mrs. Jensen, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. R. Singler, Mrs. J. E. Marshall and Miss Ann Kelleher.

All persons with discarded clothing or other articles are asked to bring them to parish hall on South Oakdale or to phone 610-R.

Woman's Missionary society of the Christian church observe regular meeting Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Allen Curry presided and "The Call for Papers" was sung, after which Mrs. Bertha Huson led in prayer.

The worship period was conducted by Mrs. Gertrude Kirkpatrick, reading from Matt. 4:1-24 as fitting the theme "And he healed them."

The presentation hour was in charge of Mrs. W. Kindred and group. Mrs. Kindred gave a short introductory talk, giving a review of the past three months' study of "Seedtime in China." She announced that the study for the coming three months will be "Harvest in China," taking up the changes that Christianity has made in the individual, homes and communities.

First on the program was a scene in a mission clinic a short dramatization of the work done in the mission hospital by Mrs. E. N. Elden. Mrs. L. Seaborn gave an interesting talk on the life of "Viola Wang," and her wonderful work among her people. A dialogue in which two physicians discuss the work in the mission hospital, was given by Mrs. David Hood and Mrs. Allen Curry, dressed in Chinese costume. Mrs. L. Gentner gave an interesting review of the mission hospital and public health the great need for public projects, and work that is being done.

Mrs. Gerald Barr sang "The Prayer Perfect" as the closing for the program hour.

Refreshments were served the 29 members and three guests present. Assisting Mrs. Kindred were Mrs. Ernest N. Bidden, Mrs. Louis G. Gentner, Mrs. Gertrude Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Leslie Seaborn, Mrs. Lulu Roe and Mrs. Fred Gerard.

INAUGURAL SPOTLIGHTS ROOSEVELTS AND GARNERS

Inauguration of Franklin Delano Roosevelt as President and John Nance Garner as vice-president was the pivot about which revolved the colorful Washington ceremonies marking installation of a new administration Saturday. The completed program promises five lively days for capital society and throngs of visitors from all over the nation.

The incoming President, shown with Mrs. Roosevelt, follows a busy program on inauguration day, taking the oath at noon on the east front of the capitol, following the senate chamber ceremonies inducting the new vice-president, shown with Mrs. Garner. The inaugural parade was timed to follow these ceremonies.

Time-honored custom brings the great parade from its starting point near the capitol, along Pennsylvania avenue, past the reviewing stand near the White House, with seats of honor reserved for the Roosevelts and the Garners and other notables. Gen. John J. Pershing (center) was accorded the honor of leading this year's procession along its historic route.

Locust Grove Has Large First Night

PHOENIX—The Locust Grove held opening night on March 1. Fifty-four attended and the owners of the new lodge expressed pleasure at the number of local people present. Dinner and dancing were enjoyed. Cluster of long balloons swung from the lights in the dance hall. Several special numbers were enjoyed by all Mrs. Catherine Stang of Medford, gave two dancing numbers. Connie Stang and Ethel Mae Crandall also danced. Geraldine Mullenberg entertained with piano music. Howard Thompson played an accordion number accompanied by Dorothy Thompson on the piano.

Other plans are being made for future parties and entertainments here. Announcements will be made later.

Divis Club Has Very Pleasant Afternoon.

The Dixie club held its regular monthly meeting on Saturday at the home of Mrs. William Campbell on Cornish Court. A large membership was present.

Mrs. A. J. Hanby gave a splendid talk on women of the south, especially of the work of Elizabeth Hume, American trade commissioner in Rome, and the work she was accomplishing. She also spoke of Mrs. Lulu Vollmer, the playwright, and of her early struggles and final success.

The period devoted to current events brought out many topics of national interest.

A resolution was read and adopted, pledging support to our courts and officials as chosen by the people.

Mrs. Rawles Moore and Miss Imogene Wallace gave piano numbers that were much appreciated.

The flag salute was led by the president, Mrs. D'Albini, in which all joined.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. The table was beautifully arranged. Mrs. George C. Canode and Miss Ora Cox poured.

Activities of Legion Auxiliary

By Mrs. Cole Holmes

The business meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held Monday evening in the club rooms at the Armory. The evening program was provided by Mrs. Wm. Bricker, Americanism chairman. The meeting was opened by the salute and pledge to the flag and community singing followed.

Mrs. Bricker gave a summary of the object of the Americanism work of the auxiliary. We are pledged to support the constitution and help in the Americanization of aliens; to see that our flag is taken care of in the proper manner; to see that the coming generation is instructed in the flag code; to help suppress anti-patriotic organizations. The next number on the program was from the Washington school. Leaders chosen from the 4th and 5th grades of the Washington school demonstrated how they conduct gymnastic exercises for their squads. Following this they danced "Pop Goes the Weasel," an early American dance. Miss Gwendolyn Krous played the accompaniment. The girls received a hearty applause. Mrs. Volney Dixon gave a very interesting paper on the "Life of Washington." It was especially enjoyed as Mrs. Dixon gave incidents of his life not often heard. It is interesting to know that the Mt. Vernon Ladies' society restored Mt. Vernon by many of the pieces of furniture had to be built as the original furnishings were destroyed or lost. The next number on the program was a violin solo by Betty Jo Southwick of Talent, accompanied by Miss Young. The solo was very appropriate to the occasion being Mozart's Minuet. Betty Jo is a pupil of Miss Young. Mrs. Bricker closed the program by giving the Flag Code.

The benefit card party was well attended and the auxiliary takes this opportunity to thank everyone who contributed to make this event a success. The proceeds will be given the school luncheon fund for needy children.

Monday evening the Sewing club will meet at the home of Mrs. Walter Olmstead, address 233 West Jackson—to make the large poppies for decorating the graves on Memorial Day. A large representation is requested.

If any member knows of any other member ill or in distress please phone 640 or 1091-Y.

At the close of the meeting last Monday evening the American Legion invited the auxiliary members to an impromptu buffet supper.

Pythian Sisters To Enjoy Luncheon

Pythian Sisters club will hold regular meeting in the club rooms of the Knights of Pythias hall March 7, opening with 1 o'clock luncheon. All visitors are asked to bring covered dishes, as the affair will be no-hostess.

Following a short business meeting the afternoon will be devoted to sewing on a quilt.

W. C. T. U. President To Speak Monday

Confidence!

IT IS with confidence that we face the future under the guidance of our new president, Franklin Roosevelt. A spirit of intense AMERICANISM displaces partisanship feelings... The pledges Mr. Roosevelt made yesterday are echoed in the hearts of the millions of other Americans in support of their faithful performance... All America will lend whole-hearted cooperation to him with full confidence that he will successfully meet the grave responsibilities we have entrusted him with.
