

SALE BANKRUPTCY SALES BANNED BY MEDFORD COUNCIL

Merchants' Request Speedily Granted — Lions Get Relief Kitchen Aid—Sewage Plant Costs Presented

Definite action to discourage the carrying on in this city of bankruptcy and selling out sales, claimed to force into the market merchandise of inferior quality, was taken last night by the city council in the passage of an ordinance regulating such sales.

The ordinance was presented by John Moffatt, representing the merchants division of the chamber of commerce. It was approved by the license committee of the council and met with early passage at last night's meeting at the city hall.

Both the merchants and the public suffer from such sales practices, Mr. Moffatt stated, citing instances where much inferior stock was brought in from other localities and sold as sale merchandise here.

Lawrence, local jeweler, also spoke in behalf of the ordinance, stating that such sales have proved very detrimental to the jewelry business here and have fooled many people, who bought faulty imported stones, believing them to be perfect ones, offered at sale prices.

Lions Get Funds
The request of the Lions club for financial aid in feeding the many people, calling at the Community Relief kitchen, was considered by the city council last night and the council voted to donate $25 to the cause.

The council also voted to grant the newly appointed Jackson County Relief committee space in the city hall. Rooms on the third floor will be used as headquarters by the committee as long as need for relief work is realized.

Resolution read by City Attorney Frank Farrell, asking that Riverside avenue be recognized as a part of the Pacific highway and that no undue obstructions to travel be permitted there, was approved by the council.

Dr. L. D. Inakep, city health officer, appeared before the council, with costs for the construction of a sewage plant here, as submitted by Frank McQueen. The total cost was listed as $80,000 for this particular system, which is now in operation in San Francisco. The matter was referred to the council committee for comparison with other plans.

Milk Law Tightened
The milk ordinance, which provides for further enforcement of the ordinance demanding payment of gallonage fees, passed the final reading last night. The most ordinance was laid on the table for further consideration.

Petition expressing the desire of 28 city employes to enter a contract with the National Hospital association was read.

Report of the work accomplished during February was submitted by City Superintendent Fred Scheffel and showed that since organization of crews from the unemployed February 24, the following was undertaken:

Excavating Summit avenue from West Second street to Haven, material from this street being distributed on low lots in various sections of the city.

Excavated Boyd street from Central avenue to Southern Pacific railroad tracks.

Opened buckshot pit on Sumriss avenue, this material being used to buckshot North Court street from the end of the pavement to McAndrews road; this material, between Second and Haven and replaced with 156 ft. 24-inch reinforced concrete culvert.

We are cooperating with the county engineer in laying out and assisting in the construction of widening all streets in the vicinity of the new county court house.

Commissary notes redeemed to date by this work for the county are as follows:

Payroll (Feb. 24 to 27) $ 330.97
Feb. 28 to March 2 287.61
March 3 and 4 290.55

SLASH IN TAXES ENCOURAGEMENT TO BUSINESSMEN

a tremendous increase of this type of business in the last two months.

The National Economy league has taken a new lease on life with the appointment of Lewis Douglas as budget director. Douglas is in warm sympathy with the league's objectives.

Ralph Pulitzer—ex-publisher of the New York World—is taking a leading part in a membership drive.

The Nazi publicity chief in the United States, Kurt Luedcke, has a tough job on his hands. After he had told the German radio audience—speaking from Washington—that America welcomed Hitler's ascent to power, he was asked to send in clippings from American papers backing his statement.

Instead, German headquarters received several hundred press comments which were not at all complimentary to the Nazis. Germans in the United States mailed them anonymously.

Now Hitler contemplates sending his strongest publicity man over here. He is a Mr. Hanfstaengl, who was born in the United States and is a graduate of Harvard. His chief specialty will be that the Americans as a "Germanic race of masters," should support Hitler's ideals. He thinks that the south will appreciate more or less open expulsion as a warning to others.

FIND MISS CARTER WORKING IN WEED

Reports of the death of Catherine Carter, 20, at Weed, Cal., proved erroneous, following an investigation by California authorities, upon the request of the girl's mother, who resides in this city. The investigation showed Miss Carter very much alive and in good health.

The mother asked the local sheriff's office to investigate the report, who contacted the Shastya county sheriff.

After a search of official and hospital records, Miss Carter was located in a home, where she had been employed for a month.

Neither the mother nor the daughter could throw any light on how the report started. It seems to have been just another of the deluge of vicious and disturbing rumors that have been in circulation daily the past several weeks.

George Samuel Hogue funeral services for George S. Hogue will be held at the Per Funeral Home, Thursday at 10 a. m. Rev. A. G. Bennett officiating. Interment at Selma, Oregon.

(Medford and Jackson County History from the Files of The Mail Tribune of 20 and 10 Years Ago.)

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Grand Dragon of the Oregon Klan returns to Portland, and reports "great disgust with Jackson county politics."

Monarch Seed and Feed Co. has a window full of newborn chicks, which attract wide attention.

Two Portland drummers fined $5 each for turning around in the middle of a Main street block. The court inquires, "Did you think you were home?"

Defense opens in the nightriding trials at Jacksonville.

Little crime in valley during February, according to reports of sheriff and police.

Auto sales brisk. Many local residents plan trips to old homes in mid-west when school closes.

Twenty years ago today

March 8, 1913.

(It was Saturday.)
Spraying and other orchard work well underway.

Rose Kline and Harry Hicks start a theater war, and state "if there are better pictures, we don't know where to get them."

Farmers to enjoy new state law to make them out their weeds.

Medford to have baseball team, with Court Hall as honorary manager and Tom Fuson as active manager.

Call for bids for new county bridge; rush of taxpayers causes increase in force in sheriff's office.

Police round up a group of young hoodlums, who have "been playing hooky from school and raising hell nights on West Jackson street."

'MINE HOST' DENSON IN HOTEL REPORTER

The latest edition of the Western Hotel Reporter, a hotel publication issued on the coast, carries on the front cover a photograph of P. G. (Pete) Denson, now manager of the Medford hotel.

Beneath the picture is publication of the fact that Mr. Denson has taken over the management of the local hotel, having leased it from the Emil Mohr estate. Mr. Denson is well known on the Pacific coast in hotel circles, having previously operated the Traveler's hotel at Dunsmuir, Calif., which he owns.

FEHL MAKES SPEECH ON COURTHOUSE USE TO BIBLE CLASSMEN

W. R. Baird, teacher of Everyman's Bible class, which meets in the courthouse auditorium every Sunday, states that last week he appeared before the county court and asked that the class be allowed to continue to use the auditorium for their meetings.

Commissioners Billings and Nealon signed a written permit granting the request and Mr. Fehl agreed orally.

Sunday morning, Mr. Fehl attended the class and asked one of the officers of the class—not Mr. Baird—if he could make a statement explaining his position regarding the use of the auditorium, which was granted.

No comments whatever followed his remarks.

The class is non-political, undenominational, and every man and young man is invited to attend.

ACTIVE PRESIDENT COMING TUESDAY

Due to a change in dates, the international president and district governor were not able to attend the meeting of the Active club at the Holland hotel last night. Secretary Kenneth Denman announced that they will be in Medford next Tuesday.

At the meeting last night the Active club decided to enter a team in the city kitten ball league this spring. Prospects look good for a winning team this year, according to President William MacAllister. Several good ball players have joined the Active club since last season.

Miss Margaret Luman, accompanied by Mrs. Virgil Holly, entertained the Active club with several songs. C. L. Hopkins was the only visitor.

426 DOGS BOAST LICENSE RIGHTS

The county clerk's office to date has issued 426 dog licenses, there being a brisk demand since March 1. The number however is far below that of last year, when 1126 dog licenses were issued. In normal times there is a dog population of more than 2000 in this county. In 1928 there were 2128 dog licenses issued. Dogs like everything else are decreasing due to the depression.

The county court fixed the dog license fee at 25c for male dogs, and 50c for female dogs. Under the law the license fee can be doubled March 1. As yet this has not been done.

The dog license fees are used to pay claims for sheep and other stock killed by dogs.
