TROJANS FAVORED IN FINAL TONIGHT

CORVALLIS, Ore., March 13.—(AP)—The basketball teams of University of Southern California and Oregon State College today awaited the opening whistle of the third and final game of the Pacific coast conference championship series here tonight.

El Trojan was a slight favorite to carry off the honor for 1933 as a result of an impressive 29 to 26 victory scored Saturday night after they had dropped the first tilt, 35 to 33, to the Orangemen Friday. Defeated by the Statlers' zone defense, Sam Barry, U. S. C. mentor, sent his charges into the second fray with orders to concentrate on mid-floor shots. Jerry Nemer, dashing forward, and Guttero, lanky center, carried out the assignments perfectly, scoring 23 points between them. Guttero, however, wrangled an ankle on the final play and may be handicapped tonight, though able to play.

GOLF TOURNAMENT DRAWS THROUG TO ROGUE VALLEY COURSE, WOMANS TOURNEY TUESDAY

YAQUI JOE WORKS "EDUCATED" LEGS

Followers of the grip and grunt game will see one of the best in the business at war here Wednesday evening at the armory, when Yaqui Joe, Indian youth, meets Hex Mobley in half of the double main event card prepared by Promoter Mack Lillard. In the other half, Medford's pride, Ray Frisbie, will tangle with one of the ring's speed artists, Pete Delcastro of Sacramento.

Yaqui Joe's highly educated legs stand him in good stead when the going gets rough. One of the Indian's favorite offensive tactics is the flying leg scissors, shown above. Launching his slender body through the air, the red-skin clamps his legs about his opponent's mid-section and rarely fails to bring him down.

YOUTH, SPEED AND AMBITION WELDED TO FORM NEW A'S

By ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Editor

With all the enthusiasm of an elderly man who has just completed a difficult jigsaw puzzle, 70-year-old Connie Mack has combined factors labeled youth, speed and ambition, in rebuilding the baseball machine that cracked last year after three successive pennants, developed some unexpected friction and finally was taken somewhat apart. It would be little short of miraculous for the Philadelphia Athletics in one season to replace adequately the skill, experience and power of such stars as Jimmie Dykes, Al Simmons and Mule Haas, who combined in 1932 to score 306 runs and drive 44 exactly as many more. If the youngsters Mack has selected furnish as much as a two-thirds replacement for the veterans sold to the White Sox, the A's will be lucky and probably strong enough otherwise to give the Yankees a better battle for first place than they did in 1932.

For one thing, most of Mack's 1933 replacements are handpicked and pretty well seasoned. Two Portland, Ore., recruits, Lou Finney and Bob Higgins are slated to fill the big shoes of Simmons and Dykes, respectively, in left field and on third base. Roger Cramer, in center, and big Ed Coleman, in right, will round out a complete replacement for the one-time championship outer defense of Simmons, Haas and Bing Miller, the new team captain.

Benson Grapplers Take State Meet

SALEM, Ore., March 13.—(AP)—Another state high school wrestling championship went to Benson high of Portland when Coach Gibson's sagacious grapplers won five of the nine weight championships here Saturday. Chemawa Indian school took second place with two weight championships and Corvallis and Salem each took one.

Wounds Prove Fatal. LA GRANDE, Ore., March 13.—(AP) Funeral services for Edward Earl Arrivey Letter, 23, adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Letter, were to be held here this afternoon. The elder Letter was in the newspaper business here many years ago. Letter died Friday of gunshot wounds which Coroner George Walker said were accidental.

Tabulating the vote at Toledo, O., required 2,958,928 figures, election officials estimated. Michigan's 1932 reforestation program brought the state's total reforested acreage to 210,000. Of the 25,061 persons graduated from the University of Iowa, 22,899 are still living.
