LAST YEAR'S SAD STATE OF GIANTS REMEDIED, BELIEF

Defensive Forces of 1933 Edition in Good Shape Except in Hurling Division—Boast Sturdy Reserves

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer LOS ANGELES, March 22.—(AP)—With their defensive fences in good repair, save perhaps on the pitching hilltop, the New York Giants look to the 1933 National League pennant race with a feeling that last year's sad story will not be retold.

Manager Bill Terry has built up a sturdy reserve back for his regular infield mindful of the injuries which rather messed up things in 1931 and 1932. He has put new power into the outfield and more life back of the plate, leaving the only question mark written after his hurling corps.

Strong Infield

The Giants' infield appears especially strong. Travis (Stonewall) Jackson has been more active than ever at shortstop since his legs were overhauled during the winter. Hughie Critz' confidence in his once ailing arm has been restored and Johnny Verge has improved his work at third and at the plate.

Terry completes what he is willing to call it any time, the best infield in the league

He has been clubbing the ball at a pace which promises another year like that of last season when he hit .355. His work at first has been of the same sturdy caliber.

Not satisfied with this, Terry has added a few reserve strands to the fence

To those who sought Sam Liddle in the winter deals he turned a deaf ear. While the big Mississippian may not have much opportunity to take his manager's place, he will be an active pinch hitter again.

James Understudies Critz

Then there is Byrne James, built on Critz' lines, for a second base old veteran of eight years with the blond John Ryan, a great fielder at third, short or second, but a bit weak on hitting.

Terry figured he lost too many games behind the plate in 1932 but predicts that this won't happen again. With Gus Mancuso, a peppery little catcher with a fine throwing arm and lots of power in his hitting, and Paul Richards, purchased from Indianapolis of the American Association, to carry most of the burden, Mancuso went to the Giants in a trade with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Davis Ace Recruit

George Davis, who hit .309 as lead-off man with the Phillies last year is the most important addition to the Giants' understudy, and the big club, is still looked upon as one of the best outer gardeners of the circuit and Joe Moore probably will fill the other spot.

An effort has been made to help solve the pitching problem with lots of hard work during the spring training grind

Carl Hubbell, Fred Fitzsimmons, Leroy Pomeroy, Glenn Spencer, Ray Starr, Adolfo Luque, Bill Shores, Hal Schumacher and Herman Bell seem to be the best choices for a full season of activity.

FACES WHITE ON ELKS MITT GARD THURSDAY NIGHT'S MAIN EVENT PITS CLEVER FIGHTERS

Medford ring fans are looking forward to something out of the ordinary when Frankie Monroe, Klamath's main bid for flistic fame, meets Herb White, Butte Falls prize, in the main event at the Elks club Thursday evening.

White, a natural-born fighter, has made rapid strides since his first appearance in a local arena and in recent battles has demonstrated ability to take care of himself in the ring with just about any lad his weight outside the big time. Monroe has consistently cleaned up in the Klamath country and on his invasions of other battle grounds. He is as fast as White, packs a vicious wallop and knows where to apply the kayo clout.

Experts who have had an opportunity to judge as to the relative merits of the two boys, seem inclined to give White a slight edge on cleverness and boxing ability

On the other hand, word from Klamath Falls has it that Monroe makes up for any deficiency in cleverness by a rugged style of fighting, constantly boring in, and ability to take a punch if the opportunity offers for landing one of his own.

In addition to the White-Monroe brawl there will be four 4-round preliminaries of stellar caliber

Billy Dale and Bob Irwin mix in the 130-pound class. Johnny "Kid" Bell meets Ernie Daniels, at 145 pounds; Stanley Reed will swap socks with Carl Crapo at 148 pounds, and Tony Ortiz will fight Jimmy Compagne in the 120-pound class.

The amok is being staged for Elks and their friends and will be the first flistic entertainment in Medford for several months

The boys have been matched by Promoter Mack Lillard, most of them being imported from Klamath Falls.
