

KEMAL ENLISTS FOREIGNERS TO REBUILD TURKEY

Economic Rebirth of Country Promised Young Republic Zones to Be Established for Administration Ideas

By Priscilla King

ANGORA—(AP) Economic rebirth for Turkey; this is what Mustafa Kemal, maker of mighty reforms, is now promising his young republic.

His recent tour of inspection, by sea and by land, has already brought forth the major decision to divide Turkey into economic zones, each of which will constitute a separate administrative unit. The present administrative divisions, called vilayets, each of which has its government and separate budget, will be scrapped to give way to the new reorganization.

In making the new economic-administrative map of Turkey, such factors as agricultural and mineral resources, industries, commerce, and means of transportation will guide the map-maker's hand.

To Exploit Mineral Wealth

Along with this reform the Kemal government is launching a big drive to discover and exploit Anatolia's largely untouched mineral riches. A new law reducing government taxes and transport charges will lower the price of Turkish minerals 30 percent a ton. Heretofore the exorbitance of these charges made foreign minerals cheaper in Turkey than the local product.

An English expert, engaged by the government to study Anatolia's mineral resources, reports a wealth of chrome, manganese, and copper, lead, and antimony, and advises government exploitation.

To make possible the exploitation and transportation of copper from the rich Argina mines, the government is emitting a six million dollar internal loan to build a railroad connecting Argina with the Fevzi Pasha Diarbekir line.

"The Policy of Steel" refuses to bow to the world crisis. The government, far from abandoning railroad construction, is now negotiating with foreign groups for the construction of an important new line 279 miles long, to connect Sivas and Erzerum.

Another "rebirth" measure is Kemal's engagement of foreign experts to reform and build up Turkish economy and finance. An American, Robert Vorteld, is already work-

ELKS SECRETARY'S BODY IS SOUGHT

EUGENE, March 24. — (AP) — A search for the body of George E. Wood, secretary of the Eugene Elks lodge, was carried on today following the discovery of his abandoned automobile on the Perry street bridge Thursday afternoon. In the car was found the man's hat, his eyeglasses and an overcoat containing his bankbook.

The car was found at 1:15 p. m., at 12:30 p. m. Wood had left the Elks temple after saying he would be back in 15 minutes.

Mrs. Clarence Wheeler has assumed active management of the Wheeler Apartments, 249 So Riverside.

CAR OF SCHLITZ COMING TO CITY

W. C. Rowe, sales manager for the Schlitz Distributing company of Portland, was in Medford Friday conferring with Bob Ellis, local representative, and arranging for warehouse facilities to handle the distribution of Schlitz beer in this city. A carload of Schlitz beer has been allotted to Medford, according to Mr. Rowe, and Schlitz will be available for consumption in Medford after March 27, when beer is legalized.

"But Schlitz is definitely on the upturn," Mr. Rowe said. "The Schlitz Distributing company serves every part of the state and our business is a dependable barometer of business in Oregon. It is gratifying to us to note a substantial increase in our volume of business in the sale of foods and beverages. This month's sales will show an increase over

Goodrich Tire Prices Slashed; Effective Now

Today the Lewis Super Service station announced a 20% to 27 1/2% reduction in the price of Goodrich tires, now effective. The associate dealer, the P. O. Super Service station, will also give this reduction.

"This new low price will include tires with Goodrich's new 'Life-Saver' golden ply," heat resisting construction and the new non-skid tread.

"This ply prevents fabric and rubber from separating, eliminating the possibility of heat blisters forming, the frequent cause of blowouts. Actual road and speedway tests show conclusively that this new Goodrich 'golden ply' ends heat blisters which often form in tires when the speedometer registers 40, 50 and 60."
