Activities of Legion Auxiliary

By Mrs. Cole Holmes.

The American Legion Auxiliary and Post No. 15 of the American Legion of Medford are to have a covered dish dinner at the Armory Monday evening March 27, at 6:30 p. m.

All are requested to bring their own services. If there are any members that have not been contacted or any that wish to come and have not been contacted or any that wish to come and have not been told what covered dishes are needed please ring Mrs. K. D. Ross—Phone 640 or 1043-Y. Every-one is urged to come and have a jolly "get-together."

Following the regular business meeting will be held. The dinner and preparation of tables are in charge of Mesdames Humphreys, Leach and Aiken. A committee from the Legion has been delegated to help the Auxiliary committee.

The semi-monthly sewing meeting could not be held last Monday evening as it was impossible to fix the time in the welfare room to watch this column for the next meeting, which will be at an early date.

There are certain groups of people in the United States that are trying to induce the "powers that are" to disarm and have world peace. The European powers seem to think that armaments are more important than paying their just debts. The British debt payment due December 15 of last year was $95,500,000. Britain's armament expenditures for the year are $465,255,000. French debt payment was $19,261,430 and France spent $468,000,000 on armaments. Italy's debt payment was $1,248,457 and she spent $248,946,500 on armaments for the year. Belgium's debt payment was $2,125,000 and Belgium spent $33,303,200 for armaments. The aggregate armament expenditures of Europe for the year are estimated to be in excess of three billion dollars. A collective 20 per cent reduction in the armament expenditures of our European debtors would enable them to pay their annual debt installments to us. We do not wish to have you believe that we are advocating disarmament for the Auxiliary and Legion believe whole heartedly in preparedness. We do not want war at any time, and believe that the way to keep out of trouble is to be prepared for anything that might happen.

The Legion and Auxiliary have always and will always strive to help the government of the United States and yet the National Economy League has been trying to make people believe that the boys who served their country and risked their lives for it are trying to raid the treasury of the United States. The Legion and Auxiliary are wholehearted in their work and will continue to work hard for their ideals.

Barre-Hill, Celebrated Baritone, Sings April 3

Barre-Hill, celebrated young baritone of the Chicago Civic Opera company, will appear here in recital on Monday evening, April 3, at 8:15 o'clock at the high school auditorium.

He is almost too youthful to have a biography, press dispatches say of him, nevertheless his years, if not many, have been packed closely with musical activity and uniformly colored by the success which inevitably comes to one of marked gifts.

The story of this young singer's brief rise to fame reads strangely like the libretto of one of numerous operas he is called upon to interpret—the swift passage of events in his career may be compared to the rapid turn of events of a Pagliacci, strangely the opera in which Barre-Hill made his debut with the Chicago Civic Opera. During his last years at the University of Michigan, came the first measure of success that foreshadowed the early recognition of his talent—the Michigan music festival, where his voice was heard in company with world-famed operatic stars. Appearances with great symphonic orchestras followed, including Chicago, Dallas and Minneapolis.

One stronghold remained—the most difficult aspiration in the world of song—opera. The Cincinnati Zoo Opera beckoned and success came to him almost with the first note he voiced. The American Opera company offered him an opportunity to still further display his operatic genius.

The following year his debut with the Chicago Civic Opera company was a great success. In Chicago critics vied with each other to praise the young baritone.

All members of the local Civic Music branch are urged to be in their seats before 8:15 for the recital as one will be seated during a number.

JACKSON COUNTY WILL SEND LARGE UNIT TO COLLEGE

The third annual conference of home interests at Oregon State college, March 30 to April 1 will draw a larger delegation from Jackson county than ever before, according to Mabel C. Mack, county home demonstration agent.

Twenty-five people have registered for the trip and several others are expected to enroll Monday. The increase in enrollment this year is due to the excellent program for the three day conference, the low cost of the trip ($6.00 maximum), the active participation of Jackson county in the recreation program.

Methods of improving community entertainment throughout rural sections particularly will be given a prominent place on the program. This phase of the program will reach its peak in the presentation Thursday evening of the winning one-act play from Jackson and Lane counties in the final contest for state honors. Phoenix grange of Jackson county will present "The Neighbors" and the Irving grange of Lane county will present "His Soul." These two plays were judged best in their respective counties, and they will produce their one-act plays at the State conference before many delegates from other counties who are going largely to study the methods and results of rural re-creation and dramatics with an idea of starting the program in their counties next year. This is but one phase, however, of the three-day conference on home interests which will take up many economic matters relevant to homes during this period of financial stress.

The Jackson county delegates will leave by cars Wednesday morning, March 29, at 10:00 a. m., from the office of home demonstration agent. Delegates registered to date are: Ray C. Ward, president Jackson county recreation club; Phoenix Grange play cast, Mrs. Mabel Quackenbush, director; Mrs. O. C. Mausel, promoter, actors—Jessie Barkley Mildred Marshall, Suzanne Benker, Florence Drake, Katherine Denzer, Agnes Colver, Bob Steadman, O. C. Mausel.

Local Creek Home Ext. unit, Mrs. H. H. Fox Mrs. Vera Peck; Evans Valley Home Ext. unit, Mrs. C. E. Ledford; Rogue River civic club, two delegates; Prospect Home Ext. unit, Mrs. Frank Holzgang, Mrs. Schroeder; Central Point, Fayee Beebe; County Home Extension as home extension committee, Miss Alice Hanley, Medford; Mrs. Leola Shepherd, Rogue River; Mrs. Lee Port, Applegate; Mrs. Hugh Ritter, Medford; Mrs. F. A. Daugherty, Independence; Mabel C. Mack, home demonstration agent.
