Early Sunday Copy Asked For Society

All club and lodge committees and chairmen of church circles are asked again this week to get copy for the Sunday society section to the Mail Tribune before Friday evening. The cooperation extended this department by many groups last week was very much appreciated and a similar response is anticipated this week.

Calls will be received by the society editor each day but Saturday, from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m., and on Saturday from 10 a. m. until noon. All events occurring prior to Friday, and club announcements should be turned in not later than Friday afternoon. All copy marked "Sunday" will be reserved for the Sunday paper, whenever received.

Wedding In South Of Interest Here

The following announcement in the Crescenta Valley Ledger of Montrose, Cal., will be read with interest here as both bride and groom formerly lived in the Rogue River valley and are remembered by many friends:

"A pretty wedding with decorations of flowering peach and calla lilies took place on Friday evening when Mrs. Marie Offill became the bride of George Wells of the U. S. S. Medusa, at the home of her relatives, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Cartney of Highway Highlands.

"The bride wore an ensemble with jacket effect in the new shade of pink and carried a bouquet of white and pink sweetpeas with fern. Mrs. Cartney, here sister, was matron of honor, and wore cream lace. Her bouquet was of pastel tinted sweetpeas. Mr. Cartney was best man.

"The ceremony was performed by Lt. Commander Peterson, chaplain of the ship on which the bridegroom is a petty officer.

"Twenty friends were present at the ceremony and reception following. A buffet supper was served.

"The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Phila Boyd of Burbank and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Wells, Sr., of Medford, Ore. The young couple will make their home at 287 South Tujunga avenue, Burbank.

"The wedding as planned several months ago was to take place on the vessel, but when the bridegroom heard of his shipmates' plans, he decided to surprise them by being married a day previous and at a distance from the harbor. It seemed for a time as if the earthquake was to interrupt these later plans.

"Mr. and Mrs. Wells were childhood sweethearts, who recently met again."

Mrs. Wells is a sister of Mrs. Paul Pierce of Jacksonville and a daughter of T. G. Boyd, former contractor here. Mr. Wells' parents have been residents of Medford for many years.

Greater Medford Club to Observe Anniversary
An invitation is extended all women of the valley to join the Greater Medford club in celebrating its thirtieth birthday Monday afternoon in the club rooms in the city hall. The party has been arranged for 2 o'clock and a special invitation is extended all former members.

A program of music for the afternoon will include solos by Mrs. Eunice Hills and Mrs. E. G. Mulholland, both well known local artists, and a piano solo by Mrs. Effie Herbert Yeoman, who also needs no introduction.

Mrs. Chas. Blythe, state president of the state federation of women's clubs, will be present.

The Greater Medford club was first organized as the Lewis and Clark club April 20, 1903. Its title became "Greater Medford club" in 1907.

A number of old minute books are still missing and are desired for the anniversary meeting. Anyone who has minute books of program for any years except 1913-14, 1914-15, 1920-21, 1927-28 or 1928-29, is asked by the committee to please call Mrs. G. R. Batchwell, club president.

Mrs. Hartley Hostess At Bridge Event
Using spring flowers as decorations and place cards and other novelties in keeping with the season, Mrs. C. A. Hartley entertained Tuesday afternoon with a bridge affair complimenting Mrs. Cross of Brookings, who is house guest here of Mrs. H. L. Nutting.

Prizes at bridge were awarded Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. J. Hutchinson at the close of the afternoon's play.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. MacLean.

Jews Appeal To Hitler In Hope Of Boycott Ban

"Jews throughout the world will find out that the times are past when Germany submitted to the boycotting of the Galician immigrants," it said. It described the protests of world Jewish societies against the German developments as "katzenjammer."

Deportation Predicted
The reference to the Galician Jews recalled the prediction in a German news agency report that eastern Jews who entered Germany since 1914 were to be deported.

The poverty-stricken population of 800,000 Jews in Galicia were in the theatre of war operations and many reached safety in Germany. Polish nationalists vigorously conducted a vendetta against them during war years and later, when Poland was still at war with Ukrainians and Bolsheviks, hundreds of Galician Jews were slain and wounded. Emigrations to Germany continued.

It was learned here last night that Prof. Albert Einstein, who has decided to remain out of Germany and who now is in Belgium, has taken steps to renounce his Prussian citizenship. Professor Einstein, who was born in Ulm, Germany, was formerly a Swiss citizen, but became a Prussian citizen in 1914 when he accepted a position in the Prussian Academy of Sciences.

Passports Invalid
Jews and all former Jews in Breslau were ordered today to return all their passports to be marked as invalid for foreign travel.

The object of the order, promulgated by the new police chief of Breslau, former Lieutenant Heines, is he said, "to prevent them from circulating 'stoddy stories' abroad."

Steel helmet headquarters were greatly perturbed over reports from the Palatinat, where various local leaders have been arrested by nazis, as in Neustadt and Speyer.

All offices of the steel helmets were occupied by nazis. In one case even the steel helmet voluntary labor camp was occupied by the brown-shirted party members.

Reduction of the reserve supply of the raw and finished material, a modest increase in orders, and a more cheerful business outlook is given as the reason for the resumption. There are also signs of increasing demands throughout the Pacific coast and Rocky Mountains show signs of awakening.

The quarry, kilns, and production departments of the plant will operate and will be increased as business demands.

The operation will furnish employment for between 60 and 75 men. All are old employees, and for the most part have homes in Gold Hill. No new employees will be hired.

The plant has been operating on a reduced basis for the past two years. Reduction of the reserve supply of the raw and finished material, a modest increase in orders, and a more cheerful business outlook is given as the reason for the resumption. MILLIONS SPENT IN PREPARING FOR RETURN OF BEER have received so many orders that facilities are being overtaxed. Reports from Chicago said barrel factories in that section have orders on hand which will keep them running at capacity until late summer.

The same situation was reported from manufacturers of boxes and cartons, with a report from Massachusetts of one firm working on an order of 125,000 cottonwood beer cases.

The department said difficulty was encountered in estimating the amount of raw materials which will be used in brewing. However, on the basis of previous consumption figures collected by the foodstuffs division, it was figured the brewing industry might be expected to consume annually 2,000,000 pounds of malt, 167,000,000 pounds of rice, $850,000,000 pounds of corn and corn products, 41,000,000 pounds of hops, 115,000,000 pounds of sugar and 204,000,000 pounds of grits, wheat, brand and barley.

Manufacturers of refrigerators were receiving orders from the beer industry and adding men to their payrolls in anticipation of increased sales, the department said. One firm was reported to have spent $1,000,000 for new equipment within the past few weeks and $2,500,000 for materials to be used in manufacturing refrigerators.
