HULL DETERMINED TO REVIVE WORLD

New Secretary of State Works Hard to Prepare Creed for Forthcoming World Economic Confab

By P. G. VOSBURGH
Associated Press Saiff Writer
WASHINGTON, March 31.—(AP)— To Cordell Hull as secretary of state has been granted the opportunity, which comes to few men, of applying his favorite ideas on a world-wide scale.

That may explain the single-mindedness with which in his first four weeks as secfour weeks as sec-retary of einte the tall, slonder Ten-nesseean has de-voted himself to preparation for the world economic conference at which the na-

conference corpell Hull at which the nations will seek to put in effect the comparative free trade principles for which Hull has been fighting on Capitol Hill these many years.
Sums Up Creed
The Hull creed is well summed up in the formal program for that conference and a well-thumbed copy is always within his reach. Its six great headings are monetary and credit always within his reach. Its six great headings are monetary and credit policy, prices, resumption of the movement of capital, restrictions on international trade, tariff and trade policy, organization of production and trade.

Dull reading to most persons, its pages to this lifelong student of world commerce and opponent of tariff harriers are as full of interest as a detective story.

TO LEARN PLANS

To Huil this is his big job and on the success of the statesmen of this country and world in putting it across, he believes, depends the economic future of all nations and every one of their citizens.

Fought Tariff Boosts
On Capitol Hill, the somewhat strident voice of Senator Huil was often the only one raised in protest against any and all increases in the tariff. Now he hopes that the world is reaching a point where sexual starvation and want in many lands will compel parliaments and politicians to acknowledge that each nation cannot live for itself alone and to sweep away the unprecedented entanglement of trade obstructions.

So intent is Huil upon his task that often he is the last person left in the big, grim state and war department building after the working.

partment building after the working partment building after the working day has ended. Lesser employes quit at 4:30. Hull stays on until 6:50 and sometimes later. At his hotel quarters a few blocks away he often takes up anew the studies which have made him one of the country's best posted men on his favorite sub-ject.

War Debts Eclined

War Debts Eclipsed In line with his determination to help make the economic conference a great success. Hull has entered upon detailed negotiations with the ambassador of Great Britain which will play host to the conclave and with which the United States has tremendous trade relations.
The very emphasis which Hull places on questions of money exquage and tariffs has turned these conversations from the controversial conversations from the controversial question of war debts, although they necessarily enter into the considera-
