

TOLLEFSON WAITS RETURN OF JUDGE FOR PRISON TREK

An order committing Alvin Tollefson, former cashier of the Central Point State bank, to state prison, will be sought by the district attorney's office as soon as Circuit Judge W. M. Duncan of Klamath county returns to the local bench. The mandate from the supreme court, denying the writ for a rehearing was received yesterday afternoon.

Tollefson has asked the privilege of presenting himself to the warden of the state prison, and it will probably be granted him. If so, he will be given the commitment papers, and go alone to Salem. It will save the county the expense of transporting him there. It is not an unusual procedure and has been granted to many men under conviction.

Tollefson was sentenced to serve two years and six months in state prison, for perpetration of a bank robbery hoax, May 10, 1932. The next day Tollefson admitted to then Sheriff Ralph Jennings that he had reported the false holdup to cover up defalcations. The money was all recovered. The bank lost nothing.

Tollefson entered a plea of guilty before Circuit Judge H. D. Norton, and was sentenced. Soon thereafter, he filed a writ for a rehearing with the state supreme court. In all the proceedings the high court sustained the rulings of Judge Norton.

Friends of the family have presented petitions to the governor, asking executive clemency. It has been intimated that the governor will take no action upon them. It is contrary to precedent to grant paroles or pardons until the applicant has entered the penitentiary, except in extreme cases.

Because of the prominence of Tollefson and his family, and the disturbed local situation, much publicity was given the case. It was pictured as a "miscarriage of justice" and "a breakdown of law and order." The case was compared with that of Robert Glenn, who in September, 1931, attempted to hold up the bank and Tollefson, at the point of a pistol. Tollefson fired shots at Glenn, as the latter fled in an auto, one bullet hitting the machine. Glenn offered an alibi as a defense. A jury found him guilty, after short deliberation. He was sentenced to 15 years for attempting to rob a bank while armed.

Tollefson is married and a former student of the University of Oregon, where he was a star tennis player.

PLAY IS CHOSEN BY SENIOR CLASS

The senior class of Medford high school will present "A Full House," written by Charles Kenyon, as their annual production to be held in the high school auditorium the middle of May.

Monday the directors, Miss Marie Ridings and Ralph E. Bailey, asked for seniors to sign up for tryouts. A mixed group of about 50 responded with hopes of making one of the 14 places in the cast. Tryouts were held Wednesday and Thursday evenings, with the final one to be held tonight. The characters are divided equally between the girls and boys, each with seven characters.

The story, "A Full House," is a farce which conveys the light, fast-moving type of action loved by all audiences. Advisors for the senior class are Miss Carroll and Mr. Mentzer.

PATRONAGE SHIPS COME SAILING IN FOR STATE DEMS

PORTLAND, March 31.—(AP)—New speculation as to which way the political weather-vane may blow in the patronage storm was current today as it became known that Mrs. Winifred Wisecarver has been endorsed by Walter M. Pierce, congressman and Democratic national committeeman, and by Congressman Charles H. Martin as acting postmaster at McMinnville.

This action was related in a special Washington, D. C. dispatch to the Oregonian. Postmaster General James A. Farley, the correspondent said, is expected to make the appointment. Mrs. Wisecarver is a sister-in-law of Ray Wisecarver of McMinnville.

ENTHUSIASM FEATURE LOYAL WORKER CLASS OF CHRISTIAN CHURCH

(Contributed.) Loyal Workers class of the First Christian church is justly proud of the progress made in the last year or two. In point of interest, attendance, enthusiasm and character of lessons presented, this class is one of the largest and most active in the state. Since the beginning, the class has made steady progress and now has an active membership of 100. The class is divided into ten groups, each with a leader who keeps in personal contact with the members of this group.

Much enthusiasm is being shown in the pre-Easter membership campaign already begun. The goal for Easter is 200, an increase of nearly 50 over the record made last year. The Loyal Workers are not only contenting among the groups for new members, but are running a close race with the men's class. The campaign will culminate in a covered dish luncheon the Sunday before Easter and personal calls will be made during the afternoon.

An efficient group of officers head the class this year, with Mrs. Effie Herbert Yeoman as president, Mrs. Dorothy Watkins, vice-president; Jean Woodford, secretary; Chas. Smith, treasurer, and the following group leaders: Dorothy Watkins, Rita Cox, Marjorie Pierce, Eileen Parker, Evon Fries and Mrs. Hugh Sobel.

Much credit for the splendid showing of the class is also due to the excellent teaching of Mrs. E. R. Cobb, who has been the teacher for over a year. The vital messages given by Mrs. Cobb have had a far-reaching influence among the members and have resulted in a fine attendance each Sunday.

The social feature of the class is a monthly meeting held in the recreational hall of the church. One of the most enjoyable and enthusiastic parties ever held was given last Monday evening, with Marjorie Pierce's group in charge. About 50 members were present to enjoy the many games and fine fellowship afforded.

From a distance—included among hotel guests from points distant are W. B. Bowers of Kansas City, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Cassatt of Chicago, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carr and Mrs. J. Keish of Vancouver, B. C.
