

CLOTHING CLASSES PRACTICAL AID TO HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS

Clothing classes at Medford high school instructed by Miss Maurine Carroll, have been meeting the economic needs of the individual girls throughout the year.

The course is of a practical nature dealing with the different phases of home clothing problems such as selection of types of clothing, constructive processes and garment making, care and repair of clothing, darning, mending and patching, removal of stains and home cleaning and renovation of materials.

In addition to this the advance course offers the girls advanced dressmaking, tailoring, costume design, study of line and figures, colors and color combinations and the study of textiles and materials.

The entire course this year has been adapted to the individual girl's needs and the class work has been centered around make-over problems. Those girls unable to buy new materials have worked on make-over projects. It has been the aim of the department for every girl to make over at least one garment, combining new and old materials if necessary.

Beginning this week, each girl is devoting some of her time to the welfare work of the community. The problems to be considered are baby garments, children's girls' and women's dresses. The material used is obtained through the local Red Cross chapter and the finished garments are to be turned in to the Red Cross for distribution.

Throughout the entire year the scraps of material have been saved from the different problems and have been turned in to the welfare bureau to be used in the making of quilts.

Upon completion of the two years' course in this department, a girl should have an earning capacity as a seamstress, and with more practical experience should be able to work in alteration departments, and also to make her own garments.

VETS FOREIGN WARS SEEK STATE CONFAB IN MEDFORD IN 1934

Crater Lake post 1833, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held a lively meeting at the Armory Monday evening. Among things discussed was the bringing of the state convention to Medford in 1934. This will be a big thing for Medford if we can get it across, at the state convention at Roseburg this year.

A veterans' employment bureau has been established at 17 South Front street. Any veteran wishing to register for work can do so by getting in touch with Service Officer Norman Walters or Rankin Estes. We are endeavoring to place all veterans on state and county work, and for the information of veterans we quote the Oregon law found in section 67-1106, Oregon code 1930.

"Discharged soldiers and sailors employment preference. In every public department and upon all public work of the state of Oregon, and of any county thereof, honorably discharged Union soldiers and sailors of the Civil, Spanish-American, Indian and World wars, shall be preferred for appointment and employment, age, loss of limb or other physical impairment which does not in fact incapacitate, shall not be deemed to disqualify any such soldier or sailor; provided, that such soldier or sailor possesses a business capacity necessary to discharge the duties of the position."

When you register, bring your discharge certificate along.

I. D. OANFIELD, Commander.

Everyman's Bible Class Welcomes All At Meetings

Everyman's Bible class extends a hearty invitation to the men and young men of Medford and the valley to meet with them in the auditorium of the court house every Sunday at 9:40 sharp, and spend an hour of benefit and pleasure, singing old familiar songs, listening to special musical numbers and a short, snappy talk by the teacher, W. R. Baird, on a live topic of interest to men. It is also an inspiration to meet and mingle with your fellow men.

One week from Sunday is Easter, the class will meet in the Rialto theater that morning and it is hoped to have 350 men and young men present on that day. Will you be one of that 300?

CLOSE MONMOUTH NORMAL IS ADVICE OF COMMISSIONER

PORTLAND, April 7.—(AP)—The belief the Monmouth Normal school should be abandoned and its work combined with the University of Oregon or Oregon State College, was expressed here by Dr. William J. Cooper, United States commissioner of education, a Portland visitor today.

Dr. Cooper, whose headquarters are in Washington, D. C., was en route to San Jose, Cal., from Spokane. He addressed several meetings here today before continuing southward. Teachers' salaries, he declared, is one of the most lively discussed subjects throughout the nation, and he said that where the cost of living has decreased, he believes corresponding cuts in teachers' salaries and other reductions are not out of line.

Dr. Cooper is quite familiar with the higher educational system of Oregon, having been a member of the survey commission, which recommended the unified system of education for schools after having made a study of them in 1929. This commission recommended closing Monmouth Normal and Dr. Cooper feels this is a needed step.

Discussing salaries, he said "the big trouble will be that when the cost of living starts up again, teachers' salaries, which have been cut very hard recently, will not go up at the same time. They will lag behind several years and there will be no rush to put them back where they were before the depression drove them down."

CHURCH TO STAGE 'THE WET PARADE'

Upton Sinclair's popular novel, "The Wet Parade," in drama form, authorized by the author, will be presented in Medford Sunday evening in the First M. E. church.

Ashland players, more than twenty in number, compose the cast. The same players appeared in the Ashland M. E. church two weeks ago and drew a S. R. O. congregation. The Rev. Sidney Hall, pastor, takes an important part in the presentation.

Directors of the drama Sunday night will be Mrs. Warren Cook, Miss Beulah Harvey and Miss Carol Clark of Ashland.

Alexander G. Bennett, pastor of the Medford M. E. church, invites the public to attend Sunday night, at 8 o'clock. Young folks specially are invited.

MILK SHORTAGE LOOMS IN REGION OF SALEM

SALEM, April 7.—(AP)—A milk shortage here next summer looms as a result of the shortage of hay and other feed.

County Dairy and Food Inspector J. E. Blinkhorn predicted the shortage and said that poor pasturage because of the winter freeze and late spring, and the shortage and high cost of feed are resulting in poorly fed cows and lower milk production.
