case, is still held in the county jail. Fleming was arrested by state police, as he attempted to flee from the Banks home, immediately following the killing.

Of the eight men who entered plea of guilty, three, C. Jean Connors, Earl V. Bryant, and James D. Gaddy, are at liberty on bonds C. W. Davis, Wesley McKirtick, R. C. Cummings, and the Sexton brothers are still held.

Virgil Edlington, the Gold Hill youth, who entered a plea of not guilty, is at liberty on $1500 bonds.

Suspended Sheriff Gordon L. Schermerhorn, Walter Jones, mayor of Rogue River, John Glenn of Ashland, former county jailer, Arthur LeDieu, former business manager for Banks, in his newspaper, are at liberty on $7500 bonds. Claude Ward, a brother-in-law of Banks, indicted for ballot theft, has not been arrested, as he is convalescing from influenza.

Van Wegen and Fitch held. In cases allied to the murder and ballot-stealing episodes, two, O. L. Van Wegen, charged with riotous and disorderly conduct, and E. L. Fitch, similarly charged, are still in durance view. The two are said to have been assistants of Henrietta B. Martin, president of the "Good Government Congress," in her attempt to buggy-whip Leonard N. Hall, Jacksonville Mine, editor. Van Wegen, an old time resident of the valley, also has a run-ting charge awaiting decision.

Fitch on the morning of the Prescott murder, engaged in an altercation with an aged man, and was hit on the head with a pistol butt, so fiercely that he was in the hospital for three days. He was a daily loiterer in the courthouse, up to the climax, and was reputed to specialize in veiled threats to people entering and leaving the courthouse corridors.

Mrs. Martin is at liberty on bonds, on the above, and a criminal syndicalism charge. Her father, C. H. Brown, secretary of the "Good Government Congress," is free on bonds, for assault and kidnapping of a bank, and disorderly conduct.

APPLEGATE GETS FIRST FORESTRY CAMP IN REGION

proved and beautified by clearing of timber.

Good Camps Planned Camps will be erected in keeping with a high standard of sanitation, making the reforestation project a promoter of health as well as employment. Mr. Janouch said today.

The army men will be supplied with regular O. D. flannels and work clothes. Army officers will handle the camps, and the only thing the forest service is wondering about is how the boys, used to pencil and typewriter, are going to fit into a forest scene with shovel and pick in hand, according to Mr. Janouch.

Men enlisted from this section will go to the nearest mobilization camp, which is hoped will be located at Medford. No more information regarding this city's request for the camp had been received today, but every effort is being made to bring the army post here. The nearest mobilization camps are now located at Vancouver, Wash., and the Presidio at San Francisco. From camp training they will be returned to the forests.

MRS. HOULIHAN IS CALLED TO REST
