Rushing It a Bit

THERE is no question that President Roosevelt has done exceedingly well in the first few weeks of his administration and enjoys the confidence and gratitude of the American people, regardless of partisan considerations.

Nevertheless, the declaring of a President's Day on April 30th strikes us as somewhat premature. After all, the quality of a four year administration can hardly be determined by accomplishments of the first two months.

We have an idea that if President Roosevelt had been consulted regarding the matter, he would have asked his enthusiastic followers to postpone the celebration to a later date. It is not improbable, that he personally would prefer no national observance at all, as a personal tribute to himself.

With the idea coming from William Randolph Hearst, however, the president can scarcely oppose it, or show any lack of appreciation of the spirit that prompts it.

The date has been set and undoubtedly the people will respond to it, in a whole-hearted and enthusiastic fashion. They do approve of him and his policies, and are anxious to do everything in their power to uphold his hands, and make his administration as complete a success as circumstances permit.

But before the four years are over, we fear the President's Day on April 30th, 1933, will be looked back upon as one of those things that might better have been avoided,—no serious error but rather foolish.

Celebrating victories BEFORE they have been won, either detract from the spontaneity of the celebration at the proper time, which is AFTER; or serve only to rub salt in the wounds of disillusion and disappointment.

Not a Private Affair

THE munitions lobby is fighting hard against giving President Roosevelt power to decide whether a foreign country should, or should not, be sold guns and ammunition.

Such action is natural. Manufacturers of munitions want to make money, and selling in an open and unrestricted market, means making more money than selling in a closed or restricted market.

But should private profits be the determining factor in such a matter? We think not.

In his negotiations with foreign countries the power to sanction or refuse the sale of munitions would be a powerful weapon in the president's hands,—a power to which, in our opinion, he is entitled.

With the world in its present ferment, with war in the Orient, rebellion in Cuba, and Europe seething on the top of a powder magazine, control over manufacture of deadly weapons, should be in the hands of the government, not in the hands of irresponsible munitions manufacturers.

The president wants this control. It should be given him.

PATRONAGE TREE
 READY TO BLOOM
 FOR GOOD DEMS.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP)—The administration was said authoritatively today to have decided upon sending to Kansas for commission of internal revenue.

At the same time it was said that Vincent Dallman of Springfield, Ill., was slated for assistant secretary of the treasury, to succeed Seymour Lowman, of New York.

Edward McGrady, legislative representative of the American Federation of Labor in Washington, is to be given an important post in the department of labor, possibly an assistant secretary.

Harry Mitchell of Great Falls, Mont., was described as likely to become an assistant secretary of interior.

The name of A. C. Miller, a member of the federal reserve board, was mentioned in speculation for governor of the board. He is a close friend of President Roosevelt.

It also was indicated the administration's policy of permitting efficient Republican postmasters to finish out their terms would not apply in general to other federal offices such as district attorneys, marshals and collectors. No official statement has been made, however.

Within a week or ten days the appointment of postmasters, district attorneys, marshals and other officials is likely to be started in a steady stream.

Several thousand Republican postmasters are still in office. There are, however, about 2500 vacancies in the total of 15,032 postmastercies which will be filled within a few days. The term is four years.

LAND SCRIP FOR SOLDIERS BONUS IS SOLONS PLAN

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP)—Issuance of land scrip to veterans, with a dual purpose of immediate payment of their bonus and to expand development of the western states was asked today in a bill by Senator Carey (R., Wyo.).

Under the measure—modeled after the law enacted to give a bonus in acres to Civil War soldiers—the secretary of interior would be authorized to issue land warrants to former soldiers to the face value of bonus certificates.

The warrants would be based on 40 acres of the public domain for each $50 of the certificate's value.

Veterans would be allowed to sell their warrants or the land, which would enable them to obtain cash for their certificates without the federal government having to spend any more money from the treasury.

The bill would have the dual object of paying off the bonus and permitting development in the western states of a large block of remaining 100,000,000 acres of public domain, which would be subject to state taxation if title passed from the government.

A patent in fee would be issued to the former soldiers in exchange for the warrants, for any land now open to entry under homestead laws.

Ye Smudge Pot

The Eastern Oregon Building and Loan association of La Grande has served notice that widespread deceptions by children in their empty houses must cease, and warn that "the city manager, chief of police, the sheriff's office, and the state police are cooperating with us and other property-owners in putting an end to this destruction." Only the National Guard and parents have not been asked to aid in the restoration of juvenile law and order.

The onerousness of the weather, which caused sleds to be more appropriate than lilies on Easter, is due to F. Bybee, the 37-year-old, shearing his sheep, on the theory that the wind would be tempered to the storm lamb. Winter calls whenever he barbers his flock, just the same as nothing brings rain like Mr. Bybee cutting his hay.

HOW ABOUT YOURSELF, MADAME?

I dated the man and when my husband discovered it he was deeply hurt. I promised him I would give up the ally idea of having an affair on the side but I broke my promise and have steadily gone on seeing this man. What do you think of the man?

The fishing season opened Sunday, with the piscatorial enthusiasts enthusiastically endeavoring to catch a fish and pneumonia in the snow-fed streams and creeks. As usual, a trout that reached from where you are to the Bear creek bridge, got away.

Lincoln Steffens, famed journalist, on a visit to the U.C.O. campus, expressed the opinion that the Jackson county "revolution, and defiance of constituted authority might be interesting and unusual." It was both. Every time the boss revolutionists got real mean they ran to the grand jury, wrote a letter to the governor, or sent a telegram to the president. It was also claimed that the revolution came over on the Mayflower, and then proceeded West, in a laudably mann, afoot and in 4ds.

PIONEER BAWL-OUT
 (Pendleton East Oregonian)

For the first time in several months our fire department turned out the other evening and then turned in again. The engine squeaked, squealed and screeched and two medium sized hoodlums with a squirt gun apiece would have been more effective at a fire. It would not throw water at all and no one seemed to know where the trouble lay. If it is not kept in working order it is a useless luxury and had better be sold for scrap iron. It is a good machine and deserves better care.

The radio reports a girl student—a junior at the University of Southern California, who in a passion for education, and cramped by the despondent, slept nights beneath the bushes and attended classes by day. She had no money for room rent. One night last week the glorious California climate turned chilly and she was caught stealing a blanket, to keep warm beneath the bushes. Questioning revealed her strange tale, and being of Norwegian parentage, it was declared "the spirit of the Vikings still lived." A college education is wonderful, but in this instance not sufficiently so to enable the seeker and possessor thereof unto the junior class, to get a place to sleep.

TIME TO GET NEW DRIVER'S LICENSE

SALEM, April 18.—(AP)—Approximately 400,000 motorists in Oregon will be affected by the new drivers license law which goes into effect June 9. The act requires all licensees issued prior to July 1, 1931, must be renewed before September 1, and thereafter every two years.

Secretary of State Hal E. Ross, in urging license be taken out immediately, stated that motorists will save half the price of the original license if they take examinations before the law becomes effective. License now may be secured for 50 cents. After June 9 they will cost $1.

"Persons desiring to take advantage of the saving as well as to avoid the rush later should secure an examination schedule and an Oregon motorist's manual," Ross advised. "These may be obtained from state police, county sheriffs, chiefs of police, newspapers or by applying to the secretary of state."

THREE JAILED FOR SATURDAY SPREE

Three persons, Otto King, Raleigh Matthews and James Donovan were lodged in the city jail Saturday night on charges of drunkenness, and all paid cash for their pre-Easter celebration.

King and Matthews were released Sunday morning on $25 bail each, and Monday they were each fined $15 in City Judge A. D. Curry's court. Donovan, who put up $10, failed to appear in court as scheduled and forfeited his bond.

King and Matthews were arrested together on West Main street, and Donovan, in a local rooming house.

In city court this morning, George W. Gerrick and Ben Clark, who said they came here from San Francisco, were sentenced to ten days in jail, or requested to leave town immediately. The two were held in the city jail for collecting alms. They left town.

CANCER OF THE LIP CURABLE WITHOUT OPERATION

Nine out of ten cases of cancer of the lip are curable by radium treatment alone, without hospitalization or detention of the patient.

In the routine treatment radium bulbs are used, one or more bulb containing from 400 to 750 millicuries each, filtered by 1.5 millimeters of brass and 6 millimeters of felt. One or more of these bulbs may be used for each case, depending on the extent of the cancer.

In most cases only one application of radium is necessary, this being for an hour or less.

Four or five days after the application of radium there is a marked desquamation or sloughing of the surface, then slow healing with heavy scab formation for a period of six to ten weeks.

During this period of healing the patient smokes the scab daily with water to remove it and apply some simple antiseptic ointment or solution.

In most cases the lip is entirely healed, without noticeable scar or defect, in four months.

Where the disease is deeply infiltrated, or where lymph nodes under the jaw or in the neck are secondarily involved, additional treatment by implantation of gold radon needles may be necessary. In many cases it is a good practice to give some high voltage X-ray treatment to the nodes of "glands on both sides of the neck," as a prophylactic measure.

These are some observations made by Dr. Edmund Kelly from an extensive experience in the treatment of cancer. Dr. Kelly regards radium treatment of lip cancers "pre-eminently the method of choice." It has given 93 per cent of five year cures and 81 per cent of five year cures.

Radium treatment gives better cosmetic and functional results than surgical excision.

There is a great saving in expense and time for the patient, and no hospital stay is necessary.

The patient can carry on his ordinary occupation or activities while undergoing treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 Wine, Women and Cigarettes

What is your opinion of homemade persim wine? Will it injure the heart? Do you think two cigarettes a day harmful to the health of a woman 32 years old? Mrs. L. W.

Answer—The wine is not a wholesome beverage and can only injure the health and weaken the heart. I do not believe two cigarettes a day will injure the health of any adult.

Tyro Doctor

I took our 3-months-old baby to a welfare station. The doctor that examined him told me he is a little tongue tied and I should have his tongue clipped. (Mrs. W. E.)

Ans.—Dividing the little cord under the tongue is necessary only when the baby is unable to suck the nipple. Being "tongue-tied" never accounts for impediment of speech.

Permanenate

When I was a student in Austria the institution physician always prescribed a solution of "Hypermananase Kall" as a gargle for sore throat. I learned that this is called permanenate potash in this country, but druggists here warned me not to use it as it is dangerous, they say. (W. E. O.)

Ans.—It was formerly so used, in very dilute solution, in diphtheria, scarlet fever and in certain throat conditions with ulceration, but is now considered unsafe for any internal use. The druggists gave you sound advice.

Boric Acid

Please give the recipe and directions for the use of boric acid and alcohol for running ear. (Mrs. H. S. A.)

Ans.—Dissolve 10 grains of boric acid in one ounce of pure grain alcohol. Warm by standing vial in warm water. Drop a drop or two in ear each night and each morning for several months. If druggists cannot supply the solution without alcohol prescription, that's too bad, but your government has your number, you know.

KEEN-EYED COPS GUARD SUSPECTS

TACOMA, Wash., April 18.—(AP)—Keen-eyed guards watched closely today over a gang of six men and four women who were being held here in connection with a $4,500 payroll robbery and who have been involved definitely in the holdup last January of the Philomath, Oregon, bank. Two members of the gang are suspected of complicity in a recent $7,200 robbery in Vancouver, B. C.

Four of the men and two of the women were arrested in Portland Friday for the Tacoma robbery in which a payroll was stolen from a messenger of the veteran's hospital.

The extra guards were placed around their cells today when it became known that Phil Wallace, alias Wallace Jackson, one of the group, had tried to pick his way out of the jail at Vancouver, Wash., yesterday.

Those under arrest are Wallace, Carl Brehm, 28; Frank Butler, alias Jack Spencer, 29; Perry Reynolds, 32; James DeLong, 29, and Leo Sucholas, 31. The women are Harriet Short, 31; Juanita Miller, 28; Nellie Sucholas, 18, and Veronica Spencer, 16.

GRANTS PASS TO FEAST ON MOUNT

GRANTS PASS, April 18.—(AP)—A chamber of commerce luncheon atop "Mount Baldy," a 2735-foot elevation just across the Rogue river from this city, was scheduled for next Monday noon or the first Monday thereafter by action of the chamber today as a part of its recreational program for the year.

The hill, the lowest of a number nearby affording a fine view of the valley, rises 1779 feet above the city and will be reached by a newly-opened equestrian trail-up Green creek from the Pacific highway.

Some of the chamber members will ride and some will hike, and the luncheon itself will be served on equipment to be loaned and operated by Glenn Mitchell, local supervisor of the Stikiyu National forest.

of the debtors. What they really expect is that Mr. Roosevelt will give them a suspension at the last minute to await the outcome of international commercial negotiations.

None of the administration officials will give them the slightest information on the subject, which leaves them completely at sea.

The Soviets were quite heartened by Mr. Roosevelt's action lifting the embargo against Russian asbestos. They thought it might be another step toward recognition.

On investigation they found the recommendation of the tariff commission had been lying around on Mr. Hoover's desk for months before he left office. As soon as Mr. Roosevelt got around to it he issued it.

Apparently it had no significance in the recognition situation.

A Colorado banker reported to the treasury a story about an elderly lady who came to him with a $5 gold piece. She was afraid her name would be published as a hoarder. She pleaded that the gold piece had been in the family for twenty years. She thought she should be allowed to keep it. The banker told her all gold was supposed to be turned in, so she handed it over.

After the woman departed the banker noted that the coin bore the mint date 1931.

The government's command to return gold and gold certificates by May first was based on round figures of stubborn hoarding. Best estimates say that around $400,000,000 are still out in private hands. This compares with some $600,000,000 returned since the first request.

Certain big hoarders claim to be immune from prosecution. They shipped gold to England or France before the holiday and in many cases have since either exchanged it for British or French currency or used it as collateral for loans their lawyers maintain that they do not now possess the gold and therefore cannot be penalized for not returning it.

The names of these patriots are known. They may be legally impregnable but publicity plus an informal boycott could make them extremely uncomfortable.

Wall Street gives the president credit for an astute psychological move in the gold proclamation. He was just beginning to be criticized for being rough with the little fellows and letting the big ones get away with it. Vigorous prosecution of a shining example or two is expected.

DOG TAKES S. O. S.
 FOR DISABLED MAN

HUGO, Colo., April 18.—(AP)—A faithful dog, a burnt match, a cigarette paper, and a wife who understands dogs—these are factors credited by Ed Briesel, rancher, with the saving of his life.

Briesel's team ran away and his leg was broken when he was thrown from the wagon during a snowstorm. Unable to crawl, he was in danger of freezing to death. He lit a match and with the burnt end scribbled a note on a cigarette paper.

"Go straight home, fellow, and get the mitsus," he commanded, after he had fastened the note to the dog's collar.

The dog did.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation takes the sunshine out of your days. It may bring headache, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, sallow skins, pimples. If neglected, it can seriously impair health.

Fortunately, you can avoid this condition by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than dosing yourself with patent medicines. Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Evangelist Leavitt will speak every night this week. His subject for tonight will be: "Is the Bible Inspired or God?" The services begin at 7:30. Large crowds are anticipated this week. The church building was crowded to capacity on Easter. The Bible school, including the Men's Bible class, which met in the Rialto theater, had 1016 present in time for the count.
