

OREGON COLLEGES FACE HUGE SLASH OPERATING COSTS

More Than Half Million Must Be Trimmed From Budget Effective July 1 — State Board Ponders Problem

PORTLAND, May 1.—(AP)—The necessity of slashing more than a half million dollars from the operating expenses of Oregon's institutions of higher learning, effective the fiscal year opening July 1, and of operating the six institutions for the year at an expenditure of about $2,280,000, confronted the state board of higher education today.

How this may be done will be the question which the members of the board will ponder for six days. Next Monday the board will meet in Portland to promulgate its conclusion.

Budget Report Received
With its two new members present, the board met here on Saturday to receive the budget report prepared by Chancellor W. J. Kerr. Earlier the senate interim committee had approved the nominations of George B. McLeod of Portland and C. A. Brand of Roseburg as members of the board. "This will take real study," said E. C. Sammons, chairman of the finance committee, as he studied the report prepared by Chancellor Kerr. "Because of the exorbitantly high cost made by the legislature, this budget is the most important matter of business that we will be considering this year."

A reduction in expenses amounting to 20.1 per cent, as compared with the current year, will be undertaken for the next fiscal year if the report is adhered to.

Deep Cuts Already Made
The institutions of higher learning already are operating under a budget heretofore cut about 30 per cent. Thus for the next fiscal year expenses will be trimmed more than 50 per cent from the high peak of 1929-30.

The savings, where possible, will be made in administration, general expense and extension, with less reduction for resident instruction. Administrative expense already has been trimmed more than 32 per cent, the report said; extension has been cut nearly 50 per cent, and resident instruction, about 29 per cent.

Establishment at University of Oregon of a professorship of philosophy, to be known as the Prince Lucien Campbell professorship, was approved by the board. Dr. Campbell was a former president of the university.

MERCHANTS LOSE TO TALENT, 5-3

Medford's Merchants baseball team dropped their game with Talent yesterday on the local high school field to the tune of five to three in a game featured by close pitching and many errors.

Grants Pass invaded the new field at Eagle Point to defeat the Eagle Pointers eight to three, and avenge the defeat Eagle Point handed Grants Pass a week ago.

Hughes pitched for Grants Pass, with Konaester and Cook doing the heavy lifting for Eagle Point. Bad weather kept many fans from the game, and took a lot of snap out of the usually fast teams.

Loomis pitched for the Medford Merchants and McFadden pitched for Talent.

Larger Motors in Coast Race Cars

Larger motors with revised types of carburetion and ignition and with different compression ratios, representing the newest developments in commercial motors, have recently entered racing activities on the Pacific coast, maintaining the value of automobile racing for the severe testing of gasolines and oils, in the opinion of D. H. P. MacPherson, Pacific northwest division manager for the Gilmore Oil company. "We are trying to keep ahead of the parade continually participating in racing competition in order to keep our gasolines always refined to the latest need," MacPherson said when a visitor here Saturday calling on Chuck Ellis, local Gilmore manager.

OUTBOARD RACES EMIGRANT LAKE SUNDAY, MAY 1ST

The annual outboard regatta will be held at Emigrant Lake Sunday, May 21. It has been planned by the committee in charge to deviate from former plans and concentrate all efforts on one big regatta rather than hold two events as in past years. Elaborate plans have been worked out by the committee to make this event an outstanding one. Advance notice and entry blanks have been mailed out to contestants throughout the entire Pacific coast and already many contestants have signified their intentions of being present as evidenced by the large number of returned entries received by the secretary, Joe Marshall.

Emigrant Lake, a natural amphitheatre, is completely filled and already has attracted many boating and picnicking parties this spring. Such an event furnishes a day filled with enjoyment and excitement for the entire family as it has been customary in the past for many family picnicking parties to "make a day of it" in attending the event.

The entire forenoon will be filled with excitement as early comers will have an opportunity to view the contestants as they warm up their outfits and make last minute adjustments to bring that last burst of speed to the surface for the afternoon program.

ARDYCE LINDLEY HAS IMPORTANT ROLE IN SENIOR CLASS PLAY

Much concentrated effort has been displayed by the members of the senior play cast who are presenting one of Fred Jackson's most worthy efforts, "A Pull House." The play is progressing rapidly, the third act now nearing completion.

The third act revolves about Mrs. Pembroke, a wealthy Bostonian widow. The part is ably played by Miss Ardyce Lindley, who is replacing Elizabeth Perry. Miss Perry was unable to continue in the part because of time that was necessary for the preparation for the state title debate contest next week.

Miss Lindley has presided over the G. A. A. this year, making her fourth year as a member. She has been a member of the H. C. A. commercial club for the past two years. She was a member of the Latin club for three years, and a member of the 1933 H. Times staff.

APPELLATE, May 1.—(Special)—Plans are being made for a new boy scout camp on Applegate. Two of the committee, Mr. Phaley and Mr. Jones of Medford were out last week looking over locations and plans are made for the camp to be built on Elliott's creek if approval is met by the remainder of the committee. The boy scout camp is now located at Lake of the Woods and a place is wanted that can be easily reached during the winter months.

M'DONALD LACKED HOME BACKING IN AMERICAN CONFAB

The fault seems to be the same as was made on the censorship bill. Mr. Roosevelt sought broad executive power to meet a specific situation. The bills were written by notices in the executive branch. They went much too far.

The error this time was committed in the budget bureau.

Senator Glass flew off the handle in the senate cloakroom when the Roosevelt inflation program was first submitted. He threatened to make a speech tearing it apart.

That would have meant a serious blow to the prestige of the plan. Quiet opposition is one thing but a speech from Glass is anything but quiet.

A few days later Mr. Roosevelt summoned Glass to the White House. Returning to the senate Glass announced that his banking bill was going to go through all right. It seems Mr. Roosevelt considered a modified guarantee for bank deposits might not be so bad after all.

Glass did not make the threatened speech against the inflation plan. He purposely absented himself from the chamber during most of the inflation debate.

O. S. C. RELAY TEAMS TAKE DUAL MEET
CORVALLIS, May 1.—(AP)—The Oregon State Beavers, by a score of 5 to 3, defeated University of Oregon here Saturday in the first dual relay meet of the season. The weather was dismal and the athletes were drenched by rain and chilled by a cold wind.

Improperly prepared legislation nearly got Mr. Roosevelt into difficulties with congress again.

He sent to the house a recommendation that he be given the right to cancel all government contracts. It spread alarm backstage on the hill. The boys wanted to know what was coming off. Under that idea Mr. Roosevelt could conceivably have defaulted on all government bonds or wiped out all veterans' allowances.

Investigation disclosed the president had no such ambitions in mind. He wanted the power to reduce some of these ocean air mail contracts. Many have not been cut.

He knew congress would never do it and wanted to take the responsibility himself.

The same thing happened concerning retirement of federal employes. He recommended authority to retire all government workers with thirty years of service.

When he came to the office next morning he found some of the experienced White House employes worried. Such an axe would have fallen on Ike Hoover, the White House major domo; Pat McKenna, the guardian of the president's own office, and Rudolph Foster, an executive clerk who knows more about the White House than any president ever did.

Assurances were forthcoming immediately.

Something to Say

not just saying something

A friend of CHESTERFIELD writes us of a salesman who had "something to say":

"I dropped into a little tobacco shop, and when I asked for a pack of Chesterfields the man smiled and told me I was the seventh customer without a break to ask for Chesterfields. 'Smoker after smoker,' he said, 'tells me that Chesterfields click... I sell five times as many Chesterfields as I did a while back.'"

Yes, there's something to say about Chesterfields and it takes just six words to say it—"They're mild and yet they satisfy."

they Satisfy

Wherever you buy Chesterfields, you get them just as fresh as if you came by our factory door.
