Medfordites in Portland—Some time ago the writer of this column stated that the thriving city of Medford, Jackson county, Oregon, was named in honor of Medford, Mass. Joke on Peri. Medford witnesses at the Banks murder trial played a joke on Coroner Frank A. Peri when that youthful official appeared in their midst Thursday morning—three days after their own arrival here. The witnesses—defense and state—spend most of their time in the old court room. It contains an old-fashioned high-backed judge's chair, which is the favorite roosting place of B. E. Harwood, Medford photographer, who will appear as a witness for the defense.

When Coroner Peri arrived, he immediately made inquiry, where he was to report, and fell into the hands of Sergeant Al Lumsden of the state police.

"I'll say you want to see the judge," frowned Sergeant Lumsden. "You're three days late."

Whereupon, with great solemnity, Lumsden escorted Coroner Peri before the judge's chair and bench, where sat Photographer Harwood, just idly gazing about a room full of witnesses. Harwood immediately grasped the situation.

"Your honor!" said Lumsden, "here is that missing witness."

"Where have you been?" sternly inquired "Judge" Harwood. "What do you mean by delaying the court?"

"Your honor, I have no subpoena," nervously replied Coroner Peri. "That is no excuse, under Oregon law," said Harwood. "I have a notion to make an example of you. However, sign the great register, and you won't need any subpoena."

Whereupon, "Judge" Harwood removed a tiny memorandum book, found a page with no writing, and handed it to Coroner Peri. Coroner Peri signed his name.

At this juncture, the audience commenced to laugh, and Coroner Peri recognized Harwood, who he has known for years, and the cat was out of the bag. Everybody, including Coroner Peri, had a good laugh, and the loudest guffaws came from Henry W. Conger, former coroner.

"Judge" Harwood is retaining the Peri signature, as evidence that the "joke" was perpetrated.

MERCHANTS TRIM EAGLE PT. 6 TO 4 Rainy weather caused postponement of two of the three baseball games scheduled for yesterday, with Eagle Point and the Medford Merchants playing the only game. The Merchants beat Eagle Point 6-4 in a fast and well played game, despite occasional showers and a cold, biting wind that kept many fans, as well as part of the players, at home.

Central Point and Jacksonville played scheduled games at Central Point, and Grants Pass was scheduled to play Ashland. Neither game was played. Eagle Point will play Ashland next Sunday.

The Merchants were represented by G. Harrington, Hughes, Swanson, Williams, B. Hughes, Kanston, Green and Anderson.

Eagle Point lineup consisted of Laing, Butler, Hoffard, Haight, Harrington, Christian, Loomis and Kent.

DOLLAR DAMAGES AWARD IN CRASH S. O. Wilson was awarded one dollar damages from Mary W. Conner by a justice court jury Saturday in a three-cornered damage suit growing out of a car wreck on the Table Rock road, when three cars were smashed.

W. T. Wright sued S. O. Wilson for $150 damages. Mrs. Conner, whose car was also in the wreck, assigned her claim to Wright, which was included in the $150 suit. Wilson countersued Mrs. Conner, claiming damages to his car were caused by Mrs. Conner.

The jury found against Wright, but awarded one dollar to Wilson. Mrs. Conner must pay Wilson's costs, and Wright must pay his own.

Never has Beauty had such an amazing champion as the Bond which fights for Fay Wray in RKO-Radio Pictures' "King Kong," now playing at Hunt's Craterian.

In this sensational film is an ape fifty feet tall—taller than the jungle trees in which he places her while he protects her. In ferocious combat, from weird and huge dinosaurs and a pterodactyl, a winged horror that tries to steal her.

But the terrors that beset the girl and Robert Armstrong and Bruce Cabot, in the jungle, are magnified when they take the great ape to New York.

Thinking the girl in danger, "King Kong" breaks his iron bonds and runs wild through the city. Traffic, elevated railways, buildings suffer from the strength of this prehistoric animal with the strength of a locomotive.

WOLF BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY IN BIRDSEYE SLAYING

Fred Wolf, charged with first degree murder of William Sheldon, on Birdseye creek, during a fight over the affections of Wolf's wife, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the grand jury when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace William Coleman this morning.

Attorney Frank DeSouza was appointed by the state to represent Wolf, as he said he had no funds with which to engage an attorney. Wolf killed Sheldon, a neighbor, when he found Sheldon and Mrs. Wolf walking side by side up a trail from the Wolf house, four miles up Birdseye creek, to the pasture where Mrs. Wolf had been going each evening to milk the cow.

A short fight preceded the shooting, after which Wolf called the state police, told them what he had done, and sat down to await the arrival of the officers.

Mrs. Wolf was not taken into custody. She was left on the ranch with the two young children. Pictures of the scene of the tragedy were taken by state police and the coroner's office Saturday, following an autopsy of the body.

The bullet was found imbedded in Sheldon's back, close to his backbone and officers reported that Sheldon had died of a hemorrhage, caused by the bullet wound.

AILMENTS OF HUMAN MOSTLY CAUSED BY DIET, KIWANIS LEARN

Tracing 95 per cent of the human ailments to faulty diet, Paul O. Sampson, dietitian of Philadelphia, Pa., addressed members of the Kiwanis club at luncheon at the Hotel Medford today.

"We have learned to feed, correctly, stock and poultry," he declared, "to lubricate properly our autos, but the human body, the most remarkable piece of mechanism, is still neglected."

The need for earth salts was emphasized by Mr. Sampson, who stated that they are lacking in the average meal and that cancer, diabetes and other diseases can be traced to their absence from the diet.

Mr. Sampson, who has been lecturing for 30 years, was formerly chef at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in Philadelphia. He maintains that "you should eat your strawberries first, if at all, and drink your juices last." Plans for attending the meeting of the Ashland and Medford Kiwanis clubs with the Phoenix Grange at the hall at Phoenix Wednesday evening were made today and all members of the local club were urged to attend and to take their wives with them.

Attorney Gus Newbury, who returned last week end from attending the trial of L. A. Banks and wife for murder, gave a short resume of events, paying many compliments to Ralph Moody, special prosecutor for the state.

LONG RAINY SPELL DELAYING APPLES

The low pressure condition which has resulted in cloudy weather and a precipitation of .91 of an inch for the Rogue River valley since the first of May, has not damaged the fruit crop, and according to County Horticulturist Lyle P. Wilcox, growing has not been retarded.

Forecast for 35 hours is for unsettled weather, with showers.

Mr. Wilcox stated, however, that the rainy weather has greatly delayed the calyx spray for apples.

Local records of the United States weather bureau, do not show such an extended period of cloudy weather during the month of May, for any time since the station was established. W. J. Hutchinson, meteorologist stated this afternoon. Last year in May there was considerable moisture, which, extended over three different periods.

Mr. Hutchinson said Medford's last clear day was recorded April 27, Saturday, May 6, freezing weather was reported south of Medford and northwest of the local airport where the weather bureau is located, necessitating smudging by orchardists.
