

Lightweight Title of Region at Stake in Tonights Battle at Armory

REMATCH WHITE AND MONROE IN CRUCIAL SET-TO

Winner Will Be Given Bout With Outstanding Boy From City—Good Support Card Promised Ring Fans

The lightweight championship of southern Oregon and northern California will be at stake when Herb White, the Medford and Butte Falls fighter, meets Frankie Monroe of Kaimath Falls in Mack Lillard's fight card at the armory tonight.

Monroe has been cleaning the boys right and left for almost two years, and no fighter, except White, has been able to stand up against him. White and Monroe went to a draw at the Elks' smoker here several weeks ago, and fans have been clamoring for a return bout since.

The winner of tonight's fight will be matched here with some outstanding lightweight out of either Portland or Prisco, Lillard said this morning. Negotiations have already been started to bring the Portland Chinaman, Ah Wing Lee, here to meet the winner. Lee has been a headliner in Portland for two years, and is rated as one of the best lightweights west of the Rocky mountains.

Two years ago, Monroe fought to a draw with Wing Lee in Marshfield, and although Lee has improved since that fight, Monroe has also improved, and Monroe has been unable to get a return fight with Lee. Lee's refusal to meet Monroe again is evidence, Lillard said, that Lee has a high regard for Monroe's ability.

Although opinion about the sport centers today and yesterday was that Monroe would take White, still it must be remembered that White held Monroe to a draw in their first fight after White had been in hibernation for almost a year. White's last fight showed marked improvement, and tonight's go is expected to be even better. White has been training in Butte Falls with the Butte Falls athletes, and has had all the sparring he wants.

Preliminary bouts will be well taken care of by Roy Harris, of Phoenix, who meets George Butts of Chiloquin, Tony Ortiz, who meets D. Darling of Chiloquin and Flash McCann, of Prospect, who will meet Neil Dunnotti of Pelican City.

RED SOX PURCHASE HIGH-CLASS TALENT

BOSTON, May 10. — (AP) — The quarter-million bankroll that Tom Yawkey brought into baseball about two months ago was probably $50,000 short today, but the Boston Red Sox had two new players, who promise to boost the perennial tail-enders a few notches in the American league standing.

Going to Cleveland yesterday, Yawkey and Eddie Collins, his general manager, made a surprise trade with Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, for Lloyd Brown, a high-grade left-handed pitcher, and Rick Ferrell, ace of the Browns' catching department.

Title or Trimming Tonight

Herb White, who meets Frankie Monroe tonight in the main event at the Armory, will be champion of southern Oregon and northern California lightweights or counted out, is the prediction of followers of his meteoric rise in flatie circles.

LUCKY BREAK FOR SENATOR RECRUIT MAKES HIM HERO

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer. A bit of tough luck for Buddy Myer, regular Washington second baseman, has turned out to be rare good fortune for youthful Bob Boken and the Senators have profited thereby to the extent of being the only eastern club in the American league to get better than an even break in the current western invasion.

Considered just a promising player whose major league career was somewhat in the future, Boken got his big chance last Saturday when Myer was hit on the head by one of Whitlow Wyatt's pitches and was forced out of action.

Since then the rookie has played four full games, made nine hits, driving in nine runs, and provided the winning wallop in two games. With the Kansas City Blues of the American Association last year, he was only a .200 hitter, but he drove in 113 runs with 180 hits. In addition, his second major league hit drove in the winning run in the Senators' 12-inning duel with the Athletics April 30.

Monday Bob crashed a home run in the 12th inning to give Washington a 10-8 victory over St. Louis and yesterday he walloped a single that climaxed a ninth-inning rally against the same club and won again for the Senators, 7 to 5.

Only one other game was played yesterday and that saw the 7-0 downfall of the Pittsburgh Pirates, National league leaders, before the curving of Fred Frankhouse and the slugging of his Boston teammates.

LEONARD'S OILERS TRIM LAMPORIT'S

Chet Leonard's Oilers continued their winning streak last night in the Medford Kittenball league by defeating Lampport's to the tune of 11-3. Hard hitting on the part of the Oilers, and ragged fielding by Lampport's accounted for the lop-sided score.

Chet Leonard's Oilers consists mainly of the players who comprised the championship Associated Oilers for the first half.

HIGH SCHOOL NET TEAM SURPRISES IRISH BY 4-3 WIN

After garnering experience and strength through three successive losses, a smartly improved green Medford high school tennis team yesterday bounced back to hand in a surprising, clean cut 4-3 win over St. Mary's. The win was the first indication of promise the sophomore studied preppers had given, other than a marked improvement from match to match. Swamped in their first start, 12-2, they looked only slightly improved, dropping their second start 5-1, a bit better in losing their third till 5-3, and finally culminating a season-long effort to gain the win side of the ledger with yesterday's win.

It was a win in the face of the strongest sort of competition. As the newly organized St. Mary's team was bolstered with some strong names. Uniformity and team play were the factors that gained the win over a lineup that held an edge in the singles department, but the high aggression won two singles and two doubles events for victory.

The win came only after a slow start as left-handed Joe Patton, who boasts the best win and lost record ever established in Oregon high school net circles; John Reddy, Gonzaga university number two man, and Dick Lewis, St. Mary's fine all-round athlete, rolled up single wins in short order. Surprising young Cleo Hicks, and Brown, a pair of sophomores, scored wins to keep within hailing distance, and then worked into doubles combinations with Campbell and Ottoman to win again and sew up the contest.

It was a gratifying showing for E. M. Kirtley, tennis director, who now sees for his charges possibility of a stronger showing against Ashland, Grants Pass and Klamath Falls, all remaining on the locals' schedule. Parallel to this announcement, Kirtley released the schedule for the interclass matches billed for today with the sophomore visiting with the juniors in the opening tussle.

Summary: Medford High School—St. Mary's: Singles: Patton, S. M. (4) Cope, M. H. S. (6-3, 6-1). Reddy, S. M. (4) Kroschel, M. H. S. (6-1, 6-1). Hicks, M. H. S. (4) Dallaire, S. M. (3-6, 6-4, 6-4). Lewis, S. M. (4) Campbell, M. H. S. (2-6, 6-4, 7-5). Brown, M. H. S. (4) Holzgang, S. M. (6-4, 6-2). Doubles: Campbell, Brown, M. H. S. (4) Dallaire, Lewis, S. M. (4-6, 6-4). Hicks, Ottoman, M. H. S. (4) Naumes, Colvig, S. M. (6-1, 6-2).

Sarazen Lays Down Six Essentials To Start the Golfing Year Right

By GENE SARAZEN, World Golf Champion. (As Told to Alan Gould)

Most golfers start out all wrong in the springtime. Generally, they fail to look their clubs and equipment over properly, take their stance and swing too much for granted, over-do at the outset and then begin to wonder what's wrong with their game.

They wouldn't go into their business that way, but because golf is play, they fail to apply the simplest and most obvious fundamentals required to give them the most enjoyment out of it.

I would list the essential things for the average player during the first few weeks as follows:

1. Before starting out at all, have the pro look over your swing, detect faults you don't suspect and give you the proper advice.
2. Protect your hands against blistering by taking things easily, unless you have been fore-warned enough to have practiced swinging something heavy or using hand exercises.
3. Inspect your clubs closely, for repairing or conditioning. It may save you money later.
4. After you have played a few weeks, if you are still slicing or hooking when you don't want to, flubbing these important pitch shots or putting poorly, have the pro take another good look at your game.
5. Pay special attention to your grip and stance; these are the most important factors in any golfer's performance. The left hand must be over far enough so that you can see all four knuckles. Remember that one.
6. Be sure your shoes are all right, comfortable and in good condition. A golfer travels on his feet and nothing will do him more harm than being poorly shod.

Hook Deliberately at Start.

I put in hours of practice myself before attempting my first round of spring golf. Of course, it is business with me and the ordinary player doesn't want to do that. In fact he can't. But, in proportion, if he follows my suggestions, he will get better results and more quickly tune up his game. It's a good tip to hook deliberately at the start. It develops power and soon the exaggeration can be eliminated or controlled.

This is the time of year when a few million divot diggers are wondering what happened to their games during the long winter months. With that in mind, Gene Sarazen, British and American open champion of last year, has volunteered to tell some of the secrets of his brilliant play in a series of twelve illustrated articles.
