FRANCES TUCKER IS VALEDICTORIAN FOR GRADUATION

Miss Frances J. Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tucker, will be valedictorian of the graduating class of Medford high school this spring. Miss Tucker won the highest scholastic honors in her class by virtue of two years of superlative work in all subjects. Each year two members of the graduating class are chosen to appear on the commencement program on the basis of scholarship. This honor is entirely aside from any achievements in the field of extracurricular activities and is determined entirely on the basis of grade averaging. Highest honor in this field of scholarship was won by Miss Tucker in the face of keenest competition, and is a tribute to her brilliance as a scholar. Miss Tucker is the daughter of Principal J. C. Tucker of the Washington elementary school, and prior to coming to Medford attended school in Riverton. Since entering Medford high school, Miss Tucker has been an active member of the Torch Honor society and has taken part in other school activities. Principal C. Glenn Smith of the high school announced the winners of the valedictorian and salutatorian honors last week after compiling the grade averages of all the leading scholars in the class who were in line for this distinction. It was found that Miss Tucker had attained one of the highest grade averages ever earned in the history of Medford high school. Second scholastic honors were won by Miss Frances and Miss Elizabeth Perry, who were tied for the honor of salutatorian. By virtue of winning this signal honor, Miss Tucker will occupy the position of first importance in the commencement exercises and will deliver the valedictory address.
