1933 KELVINATOR HIGHEST QUALITY IN REFRIGERATION

Southern Oregon housewives who have been seeking the very highest quality in refrigeration will see a Standard 1933 Kelvinator used tomorrow by Hester Heath at the Mall Tribune's cooking school. Craterian theater. John Cupp Furniture store is Hester's dealer for this well known refrigerator.

In the building of this refrigerator there has been no compromise on the Kelvinator standards of the past 19 years. It possesses the same high quality and dependable performance found in every Kelvinator model, whether priced at $97 or $1000. It could not be otherwise, for this is a standard Kelvinator.

This beautiful model is a Standard 1933 Kelvinator. It is a new model built to meet a cheap price. The power plant is a standard Kelvinator unit, the same as used in the larger, more expensive models. It is not an under-rated unit that must run all the time to hold low temperatures. Instead, it runs only about one third of the time, which means less wear, longer life, greater economy, according to John Cupp.

MOODY READY TO SPEED TRIAL OF BALLOT BURNERS

statements relative to their part in the brazen and bungled crime, committed on February 20, last, during and after a courthouse meeting of the so-called "Good Government Congress." It was at this meeting that Banks, in his second speech of the evening, held up a fountain pen with a match in the clip and made an apparently meaningless speech on the significance of the impromptu symbol. It was greeted with vociferous applause from henchmen, and authorities held it meant the sealing and burning of the ballots had started.

The state will neither confirm or deny the persistent report that more pleas of guilty will be filed. Many Plead Guilty. Indicted men entering pleas of guilty, include R. O. Cummings of Rogue River, C. Jean Connors of the Green Springs mountain district, parliamentarian of the "Good Government Congress"; Charles W. (Chuck) Davis, reputed "Congressman"; the Sexton brothers, Earl Bryant and J. V. Gaddy of Jacksonville, and Wesley McKittrick of Rogue River.

McKittrick testified at the murder trial, that he was a "Banks guard," and a daily visitor at the Banks home. Documentary evidence was introduced at the same trial that Davis told authorities after his arrest: "Banks and his wild writings are making all these I. W. W.'s."

Most of those who entered guilty pleas are represented by Attorneys Frank De Souza and E. E. Kelly, named by the court. Fehi Has Many Aides. County Judge Fehi is represented by Attorney A. C. Hough of Grants Pass, H. Van Schmalz of Burns and Tom J. Enright of this city. Fehi testified in the Banks trial that during the two days following the Prescott slaying, he was sequestered in Van Schmalz' room in the Hotel Holland.

Suspended Sheriff Gordon L. Schermerhorn is represented by Attorney Frank J. Newman. Attorney Enright is associated also in the defense of Walter Jones, indicted mayor of Rogue River; John Glenn of Ashland, former county jailer; T. L. Brecheen of Ashland, ward politician; Arthur La Dieu, former Banks' business aide; Oliver Martin and Jay Croft, reputed "Congressmen."

Brecheen is still in the county jail, the others being at liberty on $7500 bonds. Fleming to Plead. E. A. Fleming, Jacksonville orchardist, and one of the state witnesses at the Banks murder trial, is also indicted for ballot theft, and is yet to enter a plea. Fleming testified at the Eugene trial that he was fleeing from the Banks home when Banks fired the fatal shot from the game rifle, and was arrested at the back door. Fleming testified that he went to the Banks home shortly before the murder to confer on raising funds to finance the defense of ballot cases.

The state will call a score or more of witnesses, besides alleged participants, including local citizens, who stood outside the courthouse on the night of February 20, and watched the maneuvering in the rear of the edifice, and nearby residents, who watched the proceedings from their homes.

Garden Lovers Asked To Watch for Rules

Plans for the annual Medford Garden club flower show are holding the attention of many more people this week, as dates for the event draw nearer. The show will open just one week from today at the high school auditorium and the list of classifications for entries will be printed in The Mail Tribune tomorrow, and again Monday. All gardeners are urged by the committee to check them carefully, so they will be able to determine, in advance, what group blossoms will be suitable for their own blossoms.

As the Medford show grows, the necessity for adhering to the rules and classifications becomes more important and the committees are anxious to make this year's Medford's largest and best flower show. The warm weather is being welcomed by all growers and it is hoped that the postponement of the show, made to coincide with the tardy manner, adopted by the weather man this year, will bring the dates up to the choice blooming season of roses and other early summer flowers.
