MYSTERY MAN OF WALKER CASE IN RETURN TO DENY

NEW YORK, June 1.—(AP)—The New York American says in a copyrighted article that Russell T. Sherwood, long-hunted "mystery man" of the James J. Walker case, has returned to deny that a now-famous safe deposit box which he rented ever held wealth belonging to Walker. Sherwood, thin and nerve-wracked since he vanished 21 months ago, Sherwood was found living with his wife in a fashionable suburb of New York. His exact whereabouts were not disclosed but there were reports that he has been living in New Jersey, near Summit.

Sherwood, displaying emotion, denied he ever was Walker's fiscal agent. He disappeared, he said, because he feared Investigator Samuel Seabury, then digging away at the inquiry which culminated in Walker's resignation as mayor, would pry into "my friend Jim's" private affairs.

The long-missing witness, described by Seabury as rising from an obscure accountant's post to handle $1,000,000 in various brokerage accounts, said that he is now "broke and jobless." Newspapers said he is living in a $200-a-month apartment.

Although Sherwood is living under an assumed name, to maintain privacy, he said he was ready to come forth and answer questions of authorities at the "proper time." The federal government has a $40,000 income tax claim against him. The state courts have seized his home at Suffern, N. Y., in part payment of a $50,000 fine for contempt.

He disclosed through the American that he met Walker secretly just before the former mayor sailed on his present visit abroad. On the same ship went Miss Betty Compton, former musical show actress, who became Walker's bride in France after a divorce dissolved his first marriage.

All that Walker ever had in the safe deposit box which was held jointly by the former mayor and Sherwood was a piece of jewelry. Sherwood declared. He said it was entrusted to the mayor by a friend who wished him to sell it.

PILLSBURY FLOUR HOUSEHOLD WORD

V. G. Leach, sales manager for the Pillsbury-Astoria Flour Mills company, with headquarters in Portland, is in Medford today inspecting the cooking school being conducted by The Mail Tribune at the Craterian theater. Walter H. Simmons, representative of the Pillsbury company, has been in Medford for the past 10 days preparing for his company's participation in the school and co-operating with southern Oregon dealers for Pillsbury products. Pillsbury "Best" Flour is one of the few Oregon products to be given advertising of national scope. Mr. Leach pointed out today, "Pillsbury" has become a household word throughout the United States and the mill of the Pillsbury-Astoria Flour Mills company at Astoria is one of Oregon's large industries and pay-rolls. Walter Simmons, long experienced in cooking school activities, has given valuable assistance to The Mail Tribune advertising staff in the conducting of the school in this city.

One of the largest submarine craft ever built is seen in sensational maneuvers under water. Trawlers are loped, depth bombs laid, and battles staged between submarines and airplanes in the most complete exhibition of action on submarine craft ever attempted in "Hell below" now at Hunt's Craterian.

Through cooperation of the United States Navy, actual submarines were used. Inside and on deck of the underwater fighting ships, one sees the crew at work, guiding the ship in amazing maneuvers, fighting destroyers and aircraft and participating in a variegated series of thrilling incidents below the surface, on the surface and in the air.

Robert Montgomery, Walter Houston, Madge Evans, Jimmy Durante, Eugene Palette and Robert Young are featured in the picture which is based on Commander Edward Ellsberg's novel, "Whiplugs."

BURNHAM HERE TO ENJOY RIVER

Fred Burnham, well known sportsman of the Pacific coast, arrived in Medford yesterday from the south, following completion of a holiday at Tahiti, and made arrangements for several Oregon fishing trips.

He called at the Jackson County Humane shelter to get his two dogs, who spent the winter here. He took "Buster" up the river with him and "Red" will be shipped south tonight by the Humane Society to remain in San Francisco with Mrs. Burnham until she comes to the Rogue River valley in July to spend a portion of the summer at the Burnham river lodge.

Mr. Burnham was loud in his praise of the Humane Shelter here and the service extending by the Humane society, describing it as equal to any found on the coast.

LUMBER FOR 16 CAMPS REQUIRED

Lumber bids for 16 C. C. G. camps in the Medford district, were mailed out today from the local offices, it was announced, and the sealed bids will be received there on June 5. Expenditures for each camp will approximate $2000.

It was also announced today that Camp Coquille, P-4-2, located near Powers, has been transferred to the Eugene district, as has camp Coquille, P-20-7, eight miles east of Coquille. The Diamond lake camp, P-35, has been transferred into the Medford district from the Eugene district.

Famous Comedians In Rialto Picture

Buster Keaton and Jimmy Durante burn the laugh on the beer question in their new comedy, "What! No Beer?" which opens at the Hunt's Rialto theater Friday.

Between them these comics turn 4 per cent beer into 100 per cent laughs in their newest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle. First they take over the operation of a brewery, then find themselves caught between the fire of warring beer-running gangs battling for control of their output. And when the gangsters are not hunting them down, the police are.

The picture is brimful of both com-
