Rialto Stars

Two comedians—one who cannot laugh and the other who cannot cry! That is the contrast offered by Buster Keaton and Jimmy Durante, who combine their comedy talents on the screen again in "What! No Beer?" which heads the program at the Rialto today and Saturday.

Alternating between excitement and hilarious comedy, the picture centers around the current problem of legalized beer. Buster is a taxidermist, and "Schonzo," the town barber, but by accident they are involved in the operation of a wholesale brewery. And, as if being caught between the wet and the dry on the beer question was not enough, they are also caught between the fire of two beer-running gangs who seek to control the output of their brewery.

Barrymore Will Appear In Hunt's Craterian Drama

"Rasputin and the Empress," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer sensational drama of the fall of the Romanoffs, with John, Ethel and Lionel Barrymore together on the screen for the first time, is the attraction coming to Hunt's Craterian theater beginning Sunday.

Based on happenings within the memory of the present generation, the picture's episodes present a replica of the most colorful royal court in the world, thus including the spectacle of a "period" picture while still remaining strictly a modern story.

Ethel Barrymore plays the Empress, John is cast as Prince Chegodieff, and Lionel essays the role of the "Holy Devil" in the sensational picturization of the downfall of the empire and the rise of the Bolshevik regime.

'TEXAS BUDDIES' IS AIR WESTERN

Bob Steele, hero of many a dashing western story, becomes a flying cowboy in "Texas Buddies" at the Rialto tomorrow.
