

Society and Clubs

Edited by Eva Nealon Hamilton

Program Announced For Moore Recital

Another recital of the spring season will be given this evening at the Baldwin Piano Shoppe by pupils of Mrs. Harvey Amos Moore, assisted by Allen Guy, pupil of Miss Elvora Mae Wilson. The recital will be at 8:15 o'clock, and friends and interested persons are cordially invited.

The program follows:

Spanish Dance, Op. 12, No. 1..... Moszkowski

Dorothy Olsen, Constance Moore

The Picnic..... Bilbro

Ekimo Lullaby..... Blake

The Clock..... Erb

Negro Melody..... Wachs

Natalie Tengwall and Dorthea Olsen

Under Swaying Boughs..... Paldi

Dance of the Dwarfs..... Aaron

On the River..... Blake

Polka..... F. J. Liska

Spinning Song..... Naxos

Dorthea Olsen

Symphony in B minor - Allegro moderato (without repeats)..... Schubert

Constance Moore, Marian Moore

Bercesolle..... X. Scharwenka

Polk Song..... Tokatowski

Sappho Ode..... Brahms

Happy Song..... Teresa del Riego

Allen Guy

Idyll..... McDowell

Scherzo in F major..... Moszkowski

Constance Moore

Invitations Received

Lawrence-Pasley Wedding

Invitations have been received by friends of the Lawrence family here to the wedding of Miss Mildred Lawrence, youngest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Lawrence, now of Caldwell, Idaho, to Robert Emerson Pasley, which will be solemnized June 19 at 8:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian church of Caldwell.

Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence and family lived in Medford, where Rev. Lawrence was pastor of the First Presbyterian church before going to Caldwell.

Cutlers of Olympia Are Guests Here

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cutler of Olympia, Wash., accompanied by their son, Cameron, are here to spend several days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bancroft. Mr. Cutler is Mrs. Bancroft's brother.

Lemmons Are Guests in San Francisco

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lemmon and daughter, Barbara, are spending several days this week in San Francisco, where they are guests at the Sir Francis Drake hotel.

Miss Ogden Interesting Guest Here Last Week

Miss Esther Ogden, secretary of the foreign relations committee in New York, was an interesting guest in Medford last week of the Misses Carlton at their home on the Old Stage Road, having stopped here en route south with her friend, Mrs. Patterson of Santa Barbara. The two spent a day at the Carltons and motored to Crater Lake before continuing south. Both were enthusiastic in their praise of the lake and other southern Oregon scenery.

Miss Ogden and the Misses Carlton were friends for many years, when all lived in New Jersey. The New Yorker is a prominent member of the Democratic party and for a number of years has been allied with important political and social developments in the east, being one of the first workers in the drive for woman suffrage in New York.

Gores to Attend Commencement "Oregon"

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gores and daughters, Rose and Dorothy, will be leaving by motor tomorrow for Eugene, where they will attend commencement at the University of Oregon. Miss Beulah Gore is a member of the graduating class.

The Gores will be accompanied north by Dorothy and "Sonny" Burgess, who plan to spend a portion of the summer vacation with the Art Burgess family in the university city.

Altar Society Entertains At Card Party Next Week

The St. Ann's Altar society will entertain again next week with an evening card party and Wednesday has been announced as date for the affair.

The following committee will complete arrangements and act as hostesses: Meadmore, W. H. Fisher, L. M. Fisher, Rankin Estes, C. Flury, Edwards, Ender, H. C. Predette, Fitzgibbons, Gagnon and Miss Ella Evans.

Knights of Pythias and Sisters Plan Picnic

Knights of Pythias, Pythian Sisters and their families and guests will meet Sunday at the Pythian hall at 12 o'clock noon for a picnic party. If the weather is favorable they will motor to the H. W. Hamlin summer home at Edgewood Park on Rogue River. If it is stormy, luncheon will be served at the hall. Each member is asked to bring lunch and service.

Ranney-Gilhouse Wedding Announced

Announcement was made here today by Mrs. Corabelle Ranney of the marriage of her daughter, Montana, to Al Gilhouse in Tijuana, Mexico, June 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilhouse will make their home in San Diego, Cal., where he is located with the United Air Lines. Both are formerly of Medford and have many friends in the valley.

Mr. Godlove Takes Granddaughters Trip

S. C. Godlove and granddaughters, Nancy Bell and Neysa Ann Wall, motored to Lebanon Thursday, where they will be guests of relatives over the week-end.

Invitations Received

Lawrence-Pasley Wedding

Invitations have been received by friends of the Lawrence family here to the wedding of Miss Mildred Lawrence, youngest daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Lawrence, now of Caldwell, Idaho, to Robert Emerson Pasley, which will be solemnized June 19 at 8:30 o'clock at the Presbyterian church of Caldwell.

Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence and family lived in Medford, where Rev. Lawrence was pastor of the First Presbyterian church before going to Caldwell.

Cutlers of Olympia Are Guests Here

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cutler of Olympia, Wash., accompanied by their son, Cameron, are here to spend several days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bancroft. Mr. Cutler is Mrs. Bancroft's brother.

Lemmons Are Guests in San Francisco

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lemmon and daughter, Barbara, are spending several days this week in San Francisco, where they are guests at the Sir Francis Drake hotel.

BOAT CLUB TO STAGE ALL-DAY PICNIC FOR PUBLIC ON SUNDAY

Picnic time is here, rain or shine, and the Southern Oregon Boat Club, Inc., is among the first to celebrate its arrival in a big way. Invitations are out this week for a large picnic at Savage Rapids dam. There they will launch their boats and go by boat to the picnic grounds, which are any one interested in boating is cordially invited to attend the all-day affair, at which there will be entertainment for all.

All that can assemble at the champagne of commerce are asked to do so Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock and then proceed in caravan style to Savage Rapids dam. There they will launch their boats and go by boat to the picnic grounds, which are any one interested in boating is cordially invited to attend the all-day affair, at which there will be entertainment for all.

Members of the boat club are especially urged to attend the picnic and to bring their families and friends.

Ice cream, coffee, cream and sugar will be furnished free and guests are asked to bring their own cups and spoons.

The entertainment for the day will include water polo, surf board riding, boat relay race, water baseball game, and a three-mile excursion up the river to Evans Creek.

Miss Turner Wins Master Of Arts Degree At U. S. C.

Margaret B. Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Turner of Medford, was a member of the graduating class at the University of Southern California, at the commencement exercises held Saturday in the Los Angeles coliseum, according to word received from Los Angeles. Miss Turner received her master of arts degree.

Miss Turner was graduated from the University of Oregon three years ago, and for the two ensuing years was instructor at Merrill, Ore. She plans to spend a portion of the summer in Medford with her parents, but will remain in the south for some time, Mrs. Turner said today.

SULLIVAN'S DAUGHTER STAGES ELOPEMENT

WASHINGTON, June 9.—(AP)—Miss Sydney B. Sullivan, daughter of Mark Sullivan, Washington correspondent and writer, eloped last night and was married at Rockville, Md., to James Parker, former Harvard law student.

Miss Sullivan, 23, is a graduate of Bryn Mawr and for a year has been on the staff of the Washington Post. She is a member of the Junior League.

Parker, 24, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Parker of Green Springs, Md., well known Baltimore family.

Pierce's Hot House tomatoes at your grocer's. The quality is fine and the price is right.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—(AP)—

Miss Sydney B. Sullivan, daughter of Mark Sullivan, Washington correspondent and writer, eloped last night and was married at Rockville, Md., to James Parker, former Harvard law student.

Miss Sullivan, 23, is a graduate of Bryn Mawr and for a year has been on the staff of the Washington Post. She is a member of the Junior League.

Parker, 24, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Parker of Green Springs, Md., well known Baltimore family.

Pierce's Hot House tomatoes at your grocer's. The quality is fine and the price is right.

LOCAL GUARDS WILL PREPARE CLATSOP CAMP

An advance detail of local national guardsmen left Medford today for Camp Clatsop, located between Seaside and Astoria, to make preparation for the annual encampments June 13 to 28, which is to be attended by Company A, and headquarters company, 18th Infantry. It was announced today by Captain Carl Y. Tengwald, commander of Company A.

Medford's contingents will leave here Monday evening at five o'clock on one of the eight special trains in the state, and will reach camp about noon the following day. Captain Tengwald said. The men in the company will assemble at 9 a. m. Monday morning and will spend the day in preparation for the trip.

Those leaving today included Sgt. Reuben H. Pitt, Corporal Virgil A. Swanson, and Privates William B. Henry, Ralph E. Smith, Ockam, and Herme O. Caton.

Major W. H. Eilenburg, commanding the Second Battalion, and Major Walter Abbey, 24th Coast Artillery, will also make the trip on the special train out of Medford.

Officers of Company A and headquarters company follow:

Company A:

Captain Carl Y. Tengwald, commanding company; First Lieutenant Weldon H. McEee, Second Lieutenant Bruce W. Moffatt, First Sergeant Donald P. Herriott.

Sergeants, Roy F. Hewitt, Charles F. Lindley, Reuben H. Pitt, George O. Reed, Oscar E. Sabbin, Andrus H. Smith, Charles D. Wiley.

Corporals, Harland H. Clark, Robert R. Eison, Clyde Fichtner, Robert A. Foster, Seyly L. Johnson, Alton B. Lindley, Jack L. Paxton, Virgil A. Swanson.

Privates, First Class, Jerome T. Boshers Jr., Herme O. Caton, Willard L. Dudley, Dallas Grove, Jr., George I. Hall, William B. Henry, Albert L. James, Roy M. Love, James H. Smith, Ralph D. Smith, Glenn W. Thomas, Jack R. Wood, Edward C. Welch, Frank F. Wright.

Privates, Walter B. Atkins, Franklin M. Brown, Philip F. Bryant, Joe D. Cave, William A. Coke, Earl L. Corlies, Ralph B. Cowgill, Wilbert L. Dale, Clarence H. Dunn, John H. Eddy, Loren H. Frederick, John W. Gordon, Ben J. Hostmark, Olo Hutchinson, Fred R. James, Joe E. Johnson, Perry M. Johnson, John R. Lathrop, Melvin H. Lewis, Charles W. Lovell, Donald W. Nelson, Dean J. Pieper, Robert J. Prentice, Joseph W. Rawhauser, Jack L. Roberson, Albert R. Santo, Paul W. Schafer, Willis C. Vincent, Glen O. Watson, Hugh J. Wright.

Headquarters Company:

Major Ralph P. Cowgill, commanding 3rd Battalion 18th Infantry.

1st Lt. Burrell M. Baucum, commanding company; 2nd Lt. James W. Grigsby, First Sergeant Warren H. Conrad, section chief; Sergeant Philip H. Lounsbury, Sergeant Wesson M. Lemmon, Sergeant Thorburn Glenn, Sergeant Mark N. Smith, Corporal Kenneth E. Nichols, Corporal Albert V. Porman, Corporal Donald Griever, Corporal Robert Hurd, Charles Ritter, private 1st class; Fred Schrecongott, private 1st class; Pvt. Earl Harrison, Pvt. Warren G. Liggett, Pvt. John Heron, Pvt. Conway Latham, Pvt. Bennett Lewis, Pvt. Burt Lowry, and Pvt. Peter Winne.

AMAZING PLOT IN BALLOT STEALING BARED TO JURORS

(Continued from Page One.)

That ballots had been left by Ladiou in the borrowed Phil Lownd sedan and were found the next morning by Lownd, the state attorney said.

Virgil Enington of Gold Hill and Wesley McKirrick, both reputed "Banks guards," made the trip to the Jones home in Rogue River with Ladiou, Attorney Moody said.

Moody declared the evidence would show that "Walter Jones—the mayor of Rogue River—was named by Fehl as the big boss. He was the generalissimo—to have charge of everything, and give the orders—and he did."

Jones Plotted Details

Further outlining the activities of Jones, the assistant attorney general declared that besides the visit to his home, Jones arranged all the crime details.

Attorney Moody declared that Jones and Chuck Davis, one of the defendants who have entered a plea of guilty, "picked out the axe in the tool room, with which one of the Sextons was to break the window, after Davis had demonstrated to him that the window could not be opened with a crowbar; that he instructed R. C. Cummings to start his Ford auto, and "make as much noise as possible, and provided for cheering in the "Good Government Congress" meeting, to drown the noise of the falling glass."

"Don't Bungle It"

That Jones instructed the Sexton youth "to make a good job of it, and don't bungle it, hit it as hard as you can, and make only one lick—and Sexton did."

That Jones afterwards praised Sexton for the thoroughness of the blow.

That the first load of stolen ballots was taken away in the R. C. Cummings auto under Jones direction.

Assistant Attorney General Moody declared that before the window was smashed, and after Fehl left for the "Congress" speech, John Glenn of Ashland, former county jailer, took the Sexton brothers to the county jail floor in the elevator, and left the gate open so the elevator could not go down, and then told them:

Must Destroy Ballots

"The judge has ordered a recount, and we have got to get rid of them, or we will all be out of jobs..."

That Glenn further told the Sextons: "Sheriff Schermerhorn has asked me if you boys can be trusted, and I told him you could. You have got to get us out of this hole."

And further, Glenn was quoted: "You boys needn't be afraid. If your fingerprints are on the ballot pouches, that will be all right. You packed the ballot pouches into court, and that lets you out of this. The county judge and the sheriff are back of this. The sheriff's office will undoubtedly investigate, but there won't be anything to it."

That Glenn warned the Sexton brothers to "keep your mouths shut" and promised "I'll give you $10 a piece."

Attorney Moody described Tom L. Brecheen of Ashland, active in the last primary and general elections, "as rather a large figure in this crime."

He charged that Brecheen, one of the conspirators in the crime, had conferred with Fehl, Jones, Glenn, Davis and the Sexton brothers, on the ground floor near the vault, on its commission, and was "outside the court house" when it was committed.

That Brecheen went to the broken vault window and asked how many pouches had been thrown out. Told the number was four, Brecheen said:

MAY CONDUCT CIVILIAN CAMP HURLBURT, JULY

Captain Carl Y. Tengwald today received a letter from First Lieut. Thomas J. Cross of Camp Hurlburt, Vancouver, Wash., in which he stated that although announcement had been made that no Civilian Military Training camps would be maintained at the usual dates this summer, "we are prepared to hold the camp on short order."

Lieutenant Cross said he had not been advised if the camp would be held after July 1st.

Pierce's Hot House tomatoes at your grocer's. The quality is fine and the price is right.

'HAD CONSTIPATION SINCE BIRTH OF MY FIRST CHILD'

Then Mrs. King Discovered ALL-BRAN

We quote from her voluntary letter:

"I have suffered from terrible constipation since the birth of my first child—9 years ago! I have tried everything and nothing had any lasting results. Very reluctantly I tried your 'ALL-BRAN' with no faith in it at all. Much to my surprise, I have not had to take any medicine since starting to use ALL-BRAN, 4 months ago."—Mrs. Doris Eyre King, 16 Abbey Road Oxford, England.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Certainly this is more natural than taking patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoonsful daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood. At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

AMAZING PLOT IN BALLOT STEALING BARED TO JURORS

(Continued from Page One.)

That ballots had been left by Ladiou in the borrowed Phil Lownd sedan and were found the next morning by Lownd, the state attorney said.

Virgil Enington of Gold Hill and Wesley McKirrick, both reputed "Banks guards," made the trip to the Jones home in Rogue River with Ladiou, Attorney Moody said.

Moody declared the evidence would show that "Walter Jones—the mayor of Rogue River—was named by Fehl as the big boss. He was the generalissimo—to have charge of everything, and give the orders—and he did."

Jones Plotted Details

Further outlining the activities of Jones, the assistant attorney general declared that besides the visit to his home, Jones arranged all the crime details.

Attorney Moody declared that Jones and Chuck Davis, one of the defendants who have entered a plea of guilty, "picked out the axe in the tool room, with which one of the Sextons was to break the window, after Davis had demonstrated to him that the window could not be opened with a crowbar; that he instructed R. C. Cummings to start his Ford auto, and "make as much noise as possible, and provided for cheering in the "Good Government Congress" meeting, to drown the noise of the falling glass."

"Don't Bungle It"

That Jones instructed the Sexton youth "to make a good job of it, and don't bungle it, hit it as hard as you can, and make only one lick—and Sexton did."

That Jones afterwards praised Sexton for the thoroughness of the blow.

That the first load of stolen ballots was taken away in the R. C. Cummings auto under Jones direction.

Assistant Attorney General Moody declared that before the window was smashed, and after Fehl left for the "Congress" speech, John Glenn of Ashland, former county jailer, took the Sexton brothers to the county jail floor in the elevator, and left the gate open so the elevator could not go down, and then told them:

Must Destroy Ballots

"The judge has ordered a recount, and we have got to get rid of them, or we will all be out of jobs..."

That Glenn further told the Sextons: "Sheriff Schermerhorn has asked me if you boys can be trusted, and I told him you could. You have got to get us out of this hole."

And further, Glenn was quoted: "You boys needn't be afraid. If your fingerprints are on the ballot pouches, that will be all right. You packed the ballot pouches into court, and that lets you out of this. The county judge and the sheriff are back of this. The sheriff's office will undoubtedly investigate, but there won't be anything to it."

That Glenn warned the Sexton brothers to "keep your mouths shut" and promised "I'll give you $10 a piece."

Attorney Moody described Tom L. Brecheen of Ashland, active in the last primary and general elections, "as rather a large figure in this crime."

He charged that Brecheen, one of the conspirators in the crime, had conferred with Fehl, Jones, Glenn, Davis and the Sexton brothers, on the ground floor near the vault, on its commission, and was "outside the court house" when it was committed.

That Brecheen went to the broken vault window and asked how many pouches had been thrown out. Told the number was four, Brecheen said:

AMAZING PLOT IN BALLOT STEALING BARED TO JURORS

(Continued from Page One.)

That ballots had been left by Ladiou in the borrowed Phil Lownd sedan and were found the next morning by Lownd, the state attorney said.

Virgil Enington of Gold Hill and Wesley McKirrick, both reputed "Banks guards," made the trip to the Jones home in Rogue River with Ladiou, Attorney Moody said.

Moody declared the evidence would show that "Walter Jones—the mayor of Rogue River—was named by Fehl as the big boss. He was the generalissimo—to have charge of everything, and give the orders—and he did."

Jones Plotted Details

Further outlining the activities of Jones, the assistant attorney general declared that besides the visit to his home, Jones arranged all the crime details.

Attorney Moody declared that Jones and Chuck Davis, one of the defendants who have entered a plea of guilty, "picked out the axe in the tool room, with which one of the Sextons was to break the window, after Davis had demonstrated to him that the window could not be opened with a crowbar; that he instructed R. C. Cummings to start his Ford auto, and "make as much noise as possible, and provided for cheering in the "Good Government Congress" meeting, to drown the noise of the falling glass."

"Don't Bungle It"

That Jones instructed the Sexton youth "to make a good job of it, and don't bungle it, hit it as hard as you can, and make only one lick—and Sexton did."

That Jones afterwards praised Sexton for the thoroughness of the blow.

That the first load of stolen ballots was taken away in the R. C. Cummings auto under Jones direction.

Assistant Attorney General Moody declared that before the window was smashed, and after Fehl left for the "Congress" speech, John Glenn of Ashland, former county jailer, took the Sexton brothers to the county jail floor in the elevator, and left the gate open so the elevator could not go down, and then told them:

Must Destroy Ballots

"The judge has ordered a recount, and we have got to get rid of them, or we will all be out of jobs..."

That Glenn further told the Sextons: "Sheriff Schermerhorn has asked me if you boys can be trusted, and I told him you could. You have got to get us out of this hole."

And further, Glenn was quoted: "You boys needn't be afraid. If your fingerprints are on the ballot pouches, that will be all right. You packed the ballot pouches into court, and that lets you out of this. The county judge and the sheriff are back of this. The sheriff's office will undoubtedly investigate, but there won't be anything to it."

That Glenn warned the Sexton brothers to "keep your mouths shut" and promised "I'll give you $10 a piece."

Attorney Moody described Tom L. Brecheen of Ashland, active in the last primary and general elections, "as rather a large figure in this crime."

He charged that Brecheen, one of the conspirators in the crime, had conferred with Fehl, Jones, Glenn, Davis and the Sexton brothers, on the ground floor near the vault, on its commission, and was "outside the court house" when it was committed.

That Brecheen went to the broken vault window and asked how many pouches had been thrown out. Told the number was four, Brecheen said:

AMAZING PLOT IN BALLOT STEALING BARED TO JURORS

(Continued from Page One.)

That ballots had been left by Ladiou in the borrowed Phil Lownd sedan and were found the next morning by Lownd, the state attorney said.

Virgil Enington of Gold Hill and Wesley McKirrick, both reputed "Banks guards," made the trip to the Jones home in Rogue River with Ladiou, Attorney Moody said.

Moody declared the evidence would show that "Walter Jones—the mayor of Rogue River—was named by Fehl as the big boss. He was the generalissimo—to have charge of everything, and give the orders—and he did."

Jones Plotted Details

Further outlining the activities of Jones, the assistant attorney general declared that besides the visit to his home, Jones arranged all the crime details.

Attorney Moody declared that Jones and Chuck Davis, one of the defendants who have entered a plea of guilty, "picked out the axe in the tool room, with which one of the Sextons was to break the window, after Davis had demonstrated to him that the window could not be opened with a crowbar; that he instructed R. C. Cummings to start his Ford auto, and "make as much noise as possible, and provided for cheering in the "Good Government Congress" meeting, to drown the noise of the falling glass."

"Don't Bungle It"

That Jones instructed the Sexton youth "to make a good job of it, and don't bungle it, hit it as hard as you can, and make only one lick—and Sexton did."

That Jones afterwards praised Sexton for the thoroughness of the blow.

That the first load of stolen ballots was taken away in the R. C. Cummings auto under Jones direction.

Assistant Attorney General Moody declared that before the window was smashed, and after Fehl left for the "Congress" speech, John Glenn of Ashland, former county jailer, took the Sexton brothers to the county jail floor in the elevator, and left the gate open so the elevator could not go down, and then told them:

Must Destroy Ballots

"The judge has ordered a recount, and we have got to get rid of them, or we will all be out of jobs..."

That Glenn further told the Sextons: "Sheriff Schermerhorn has asked me if you boys can be trusted, and I told him you could. You have got to get us out of this hole."

And further, Glenn was quoted: "You boys needn't be afraid. If your fingerprints are on the ballot pouches, that will be all right. You packed the ballot pouches into court, and that lets you out of this. The county judge and the sheriff are back of this. The sheriff's office will undoubtedly investigate, but there won't be anything to it."

That Glenn warned the Sexton brothers to "keep your mouths shut" and promised "I'll give you $10 a piece."

Attorney Moody described Tom L. Brecheen of Ashland, active in the last primary and general elections, "as rather a large figure in this crime."

He charged that Brecheen, one of the conspirators in the crime, had conferred with Fehl, Jones, Glenn, Davis and the Sexton brothers, on the ground floor near the vault, on its commission, and was "outside the court house" when it was committed.

That Brecheen went to the broken vault window and asked how many pouches had been thrown out. Told the number was four, Brecheen said:

AMAZING PLOT IN BALLOT STEALING BARED TO JURORS

(Continued from Page One.)

That ballots had been left by Ladiou in the borrowed Phil Lownd sedan and were found the next morning by Lownd, the state attorney said.

Virgil Enington of Gold Hill and Wesley McKirrick, both reputed "Banks guards," made the trip to the Jones home in Rogue River with Ladiou, Attorney Moody said.

Moody declared the evidence would show that "Walter Jones—the mayor of Rogue River—was named by Fehl as the big boss. He was the generalissimo—to have charge of everything, and give the orders—and he did."

Jones Plotted Details

Further outlining the activities of Jones, the assistant attorney general declared that besides the visit to his home, Jones arranged all the crime details.

Attorney Moody declared that Jones and Chuck Davis, one of the defendants who have entered a plea of guilty, "picked out the axe in the tool room, with which one of the Sextons was to break the window, after Davis had demonstrated to him that the window could not be opened with a crowbar; that he instructed R. C. Cummings to start his Ford auto, and "make as much noise as possible, and provided for cheering in the "Good Government Congress" meeting, to drown the noise of the falling glass."

"Don't Bungle It"

That Jones instructed the Sexton youth "to make a good job of it, and don't bungle it, hit it as hard as you can, and make only one lick—and Sexton did."

That Jones afterwards praised Sexton for the thoroughness of the blow.

That the first load of stolen ballots was taken away in the R. C. Cummings auto under Jones direction.

Assistant Attorney General Moody declared that before the window was smashed, and after Fehl left for the "Congress" speech, John Glenn of Ashland, former county jailer, took the Sexton brothers to the county jail floor in the elevator, and left the gate open so the elevator could not go down, and then told them:

Must Destroy Ballots

"The judge has ordered a recount, and we have got to get rid of them, or we will all be out of jobs..."

That Glenn further told the Sextons: "Sheriff Schermerhorn has asked me if you boys can be trusted, and I told him you could. You have got to get us out of this hole."

And further, Glenn was quoted: "You boys needn't be afraid. If your fingerprints are on the ballot pouches, that will be all right. You packed the ballot pouches into court, and that lets you out of this. The county judge and the sheriff are back of this. The sheriff's office will undoubtedly investigate, but there won't be anything to it."

That Glenn warned the Sexton brothers to "keep your mouths shut" and promised "I'll give you $10 a piece."

Attorney Moody described Tom L. Brecheen of Ashland, active in the last primary and general elections, "as rather a large figure in this crime."

He charged that Brecheen, one of the conspirators in the crime, had conferred with Fehl, Jones, Glenn, Davis and the Sexton brothers, on the ground floor near the vault, on its commission, and was "outside the court house" when it was committed.

That Brecheen went to the broken vault window and asked how many pouches had been thrown out. Told the number was four, Brecheen said:

AMAZING PLOT IN BALLOT STEALING BARED TO JURORS

(Continued from Page One.)

That ballots had been left by Ladiou in the borrowed Phil Lownd sedan and were found the next morning by Lownd, the state attorney said.

Virgil Enington of Gold Hill and Wesley McKirrick, both reputed "Banks guards," made the trip to the Jones home in Rogue River with Ladiou, Attorney Moody said.

Moody declared the evidence would show that "Walter Jones—the mayor of Rogue River—was named by Fehl as the big boss. He was the generalissimo—to have charge of everything, and give the orders—and he did."

Jones Plotted Details

Further outlining the activities of Jones, the assistant attorney general declared that besides the visit to his home, Jones arranged all the crime details.

Attorney Moody declared that Jones and Chuck Davis, one of the defendants who have entered a plea of guilty, "picked out the axe in the tool room, with which one of the Sextons was to break the window, after Davis had demonstrated to him that the window could not be opened with a crowbar; that he instructed R. C. Cummings to start his Ford auto, and "make as much noise as possible, and provided for cheering in the "Good Government Congress" meeting, to drown the noise of the falling glass."

"Don't Bungle It"

That Jones instructed the Sexton youth "to make a good job of it, and don't bungle it, hit it as hard as you can, and make only one lick—and Sexton did."

That Jones afterwards praised Sexton for the thoroughness of the blow.

That the first load of stolen ballots was taken away in the R. C. Cummings auto under Jones direction.

Assistant Attorney General Moody declared that before the window was smashed, and after Fehl left for the "Congress" speech, John Glenn of Ashland, former county jailer, took the Sexton brothers to the county jail floor in the elevator, and left the gate open so the elevator could not go down, and then told them:

Must Destroy Ballots

"The judge has ordered a recount, and we have got to get rid of them, or we will all be out of jobs..."

That Glenn further told the Sextons: "Sheriff Schermerhorn has asked me if you boys can be trusted, and I told him you could. You have got to get us out of this hole."

And further, Glenn was quoted: "You boys needn't be afraid. If your fingerprints are on the ballot pouches, that will be all right. You packed the ballot pouches into court, and that lets you out of this. The county judge and the sheriff are back of this. The sheriff's office will undoubtedly investigate, but there won't be anything to it."

That Glenn warned the Sexton brothers to "keep your mouths shut" and promised "I'll give you $10 a piece."

Attorney Moody described Tom L. Brecheen of Ashland, active in the last primary and general elections, "as rather a large figure in this crime."

He charged that Brecheen, one of the conspirators in the crime, had conferred with Fehl, Jones, Glenn, Davis and the Sexton brothers, on the ground floor near the vault, on its commission, and was "outside the court house" when it was committed.

That Brecheen went to the broken vault window and asked how many pouches had been thrown out. Told the number was four, Brecheen said:

AMAZING PLOT IN BALLOT STEALING BARED TO JURORS

(Continued from Page One.)

That ballots had been left by Ladiou in the borrowed Phil Lownd sedan and were found the next morning by Lownd, the state attorney said.

Virgil Enington of Gold Hill and Wesley McKirrick, both reputed "Banks guards," made the trip to the Jones home in Rogue River with Ladiou, Attorney Moody said.

Moody declared the evidence would show that "Walter Jones—the mayor of Rogue River—was named by Fehl as the big boss. He was the generalissimo—to have charge of everything, and give the orders—and he did."

Jones Plotted Details

Further outlining the activities of Jones, the assistant attorney general declared that besides the visit to his home, Jones arranged all the crime details.

Attorney Moody declared that Jones and Chuck Davis, one of the defendants who have entered a plea of guilty, "picked out the axe in the tool room, with which one of the Sextons was to break the window, after Davis had demonstrated to him that the window could not be opened with a crowbar; that he instructed R. C. Cummings to start his Ford auto, and "make as much noise as possible, and provided for cheering in the "Good Government Congress" meeting, to drown the noise of the falling glass."

"Don't Bungle It"

That Jones instructed the Sexton youth "to make a good job of it, and don't bungle it, hit it as hard as you can, and make only one lick—and Sexton did."

That Jones afterwards praised Sexton for the thoroughness of the blow.

That the first load of stolen ballots was taken away in the R. C. Cummings auto under Jones direction.

Assistant Attorney General Moody declared that before the window was smashed, and after Fehl left for the "Congress" speech, John Glenn of Ashland, former county jailer, took the Sexton brothers to the county jail floor in the elevator, and left the gate open so the elevator could not go down, and then told them:

Must Destroy Ballots

"The judge has ordered a recount, and we have got to get rid of them, or we will all be out of jobs..."

That Glenn further told the Sextons: "Sheriff Schermerhorn has asked me if you boys can be trusted, and I told him you could. You have got to get us out of this hole."

And further, Glenn was quoted: "You boys needn't be afraid. If your fingerprints are on the ballot pouches, that will be all right. You packed the ballot pouches into court, and that lets you out of this. The county judge and the sheriff are back of this. The sheriff's office will undoubtedly investigate, but there won't be anything to it."

That Glenn warned the Sexton brothers to "keep your mouths shut" and promised "I'll give you $10 a piece."

Attorney Moody described Tom L. Brecheen of Ashland, active in the last primary and general elections, "as rather a large figure in this crime."

He charged that Brecheen, one of the conspirators in the crime, had conferred with Fehl, Jones, Glenn, Davis and the Sexton brothers, on the ground floor near the vault, on its commission, and was "outside the court house" when it was committed.

That Brecheen went to the broken vault window and asked how many pouches had been thrown out. Told the number was four, Brecheen said:

AMAZING PLOT IN BALLOT STEALING BARED TO JURORS

(Continued from Page One.)

That ballots had been left by Ladiou in the borrowed Phil Lownd sedan and were found the next morning by Lownd, the state attorney said.

Virgil Enington of Gold Hill and Wesley McKirrick, both reputed "Banks guards," made the trip to the Jones home in Rogue River with Ladiou, Attorney Moody said.

Moody declared the evidence would show that "Walter Jones—the mayor of Rogue River—was named by Fehl as the big boss. He was the generalissimo—to have charge of everything, and give the orders—and he did."

Jones Plotted Details

Further outlining the activities of Jones, the assistant attorney general declared that besides the visit to his home, Jones arranged all the crime details.

Attorney Moody declared that Jones and Chuck Davis, one of the defendants who have entered a plea of guilty, "picked out the axe in the tool room, with which one of the Sextons was to break the window, after Davis had demonstrated to him that the window could not be opened with a crowbar; that he instructed R. C. Cummings to start his Ford auto, and "make as much noise as possible, and provided for cheering in the "Good Government Congress" meeting, to drown the noise of the falling glass."

"Don't Bungle It"

That Jones instructed the Sexton youth "to make a good job of it, and don't bungle it, hit it as hard as you can, and make only one lick—and Sexton did."

That Jones afterwards praised Sexton for the thoroughness of the blow.

That the first load of stolen ballots was taken away in the R. C. Cummings auto under Jones direction.

Assistant Attorney General Moody declared that before the window was smashed, and after Fehl left for the "Congress" speech, John Glenn of Ashland, former county jailer, took the Sexton brothers to the county jail floor in the elevator, and left the gate open so the elevator could not go down, and then told them:

Must Destroy Ballots

"The judge has ordered a recount, and we have got to get rid of them, or we will all be out of jobs..."

That Glenn further told the Sextons: "Sheriff Schermerhorn has asked me if you boys can be trusted, and I told him you could. You have got to get us out of this hole."

And further, Glenn was quoted: "You boys needn't be afraid. If your fingerprints are on the ballot pouches, that will be all right. You packed the ballot pouches into court, and that lets you out of this. The county judge and the sheriff are back of this. The sheriff's office will undoubtedly investigate, but there won't be anything to it."

That Glenn warned the Sexton brothers to "keep your mouths shut" and promised "I'll give you $10 a piece."

Attorney Moody described Tom L. Brecheen of Ashland, active in the last primary and general elections, "as rather a large figure in this crime."

He charged that Brecheen, one of the conspirators in the crime, had conferred with Fehl, Jones, Glenn, Davis and the Sexton brothers, on the ground floor near the vault, on its commission, and was "outside the court house" when it was committed.

That Brecheen went to the broken vault window and asked how many pouches had been thrown out. Told the number was four, Brecheen said:

AMAZING PLOT IN BALLOT STEALING BARED TO JURORS

(Continued from Page One.)

That ballots had been left by Ladiou in the borrowed Phil Lownd sedan and were found the next morning by Lownd, the state attorney said.

Virgil Enington of Gold Hill and Wesley McKirrick, both reputed "Banks guards," made the trip to the Jones home in Rogue River with Ladiou, Attorney Moody said.

Moody declared the evidence would show that "Walter Jones—the mayor of Rogue River—was named by Fehl as the big boss. He was the generalissimo—to have charge of everything, and give the orders—and he did."

Jones Plotted Details

Further outlining the activities of Jones, the assistant attorney general declared that besides the visit to his home, Jones arranged all the crime details.

Attorney Moody declared that Jones and Chuck Davis, one of the defendants who have entered a plea of guilty, "picked out the axe in the tool room, with which one of the Sextons was to break the window, after Davis had demonstrated to him that the window could not be opened with a crowbar; that he instructed R. C. Cummings to start his Ford auto, and "make as much noise as possible, and provided for cheering in the "Good Government Congress" meeting, to drown the noise of the falling glass."

"Don't Bungle It"

That Jones instructed the Sexton youth "to make a good job of it, and don't bungle it, hit it as hard as you can, and make only one lick—and Sexton did."

That Jones afterwards praised Sexton for the thoroughness of the blow.

That the first load of stolen ballots was taken away in the R. C. Cummings auto under Jones direction.

Assistant Attorney General Moody declared that before the window was smashed, and after Fehl left for the "Congress" speech, John Glenn of Ashland, former county jailer, took the Sexton brothers to the county jail floor in the elevator, and left the gate open so the elevator could not go down, and then told them:

Must Destroy Ballots

"The judge has ordered a recount, and we have got to get rid of them, or we will all be out of jobs..."

That Glenn further told the Sextons: "Sheriff Schermerhorn has asked me if you boys can be trusted, and I told him you could. You have got to get us out of this hole."

And further, Glenn was quoted: "You boys needn't be afraid. If your fingerprints are on the ballot pouches, that will be all right. You packed the ballot pouches into court, and that lets you out of this. The county judge and the sheriff are back of this. The sheriff's office will undoubtedly investigate, but there won't be anything to it."

That Glenn warned the Sexton brothers to "keep your mouths shut" and promised "I'll give you $10 a piece."

Attorney Moody described Tom L. Brecheen of Ashland, active in the last primary and general elections, "as rather a large figure in this crime."

He charged that Brecheen, one of the conspirators in the crime, had conferred with Fehl, Jones, Glenn, Davis and the Sexton brothers, on the ground floor near the vault, on its commission, and was "outside the court house" when it was committed.

That Brecheen went to the broken vault window and asked how many pouches had been thrown out. Told the number was four, Brecheen said:

AMAZING PLOT IN BALLOT STEALING BARED TO JURORS