HENRIETTA MARTIN AND FEHL LINKED WITH BALLOT PLOT

and by Wednesday the trial is expected to be in the hands of the jury, completed this morning with the selection of two alternates—S. D. Linger, orchard worker of Phoenix, and Elliott P. Brooks, laborer, this city, not later than next Wednesday.

The state indicated in its opening statement by Assistant Attorney General Ralph E. Moody, that much of the evidence would be the same as presented in the LaDieu trial. Attorney Moody in his talk to the jury gave no hint of new evidence, if any, in the state's possession.

Attorney Moody reviewed what the state intends to show, in a conversational tone, and traced, briefly, the history of the ballot thefts, from its inception last November, following the counting of the votes. Only passing mention was made of Jones' accomplices.

Claim Jones Was Boss

Attorney Moody declared that the state would show that Jones was a party to the conspiracy to destroy the ballots to prevent a recount in the sheriff's race, and attended meetings to discuss plans; that he was the "boss" of the crime, instructing the actors, and giving the signal for the mob to break the vault window glass; that he told Burley Sexton, youth, who broke the vault window, to "do a good job of it" and "make it in one lick"; that he was conspicuous around the rear of the court house, before and during the actual commission of the crime, and that when LaDieu and two other participants came to his home in the early morning hours of February 21 and asked for advice on what to do with his ballot pouches and ballots, he advised their burning, and provided pitch for the purpose.

Conspiracy Claimed

The state contends that County Judge Fehl, suspended Sheriff Schermerhorn, John Glenn, former county jailer, Tom Brechen, Ashland politician, and Jones engaged in a conspiracy to destroy the ballots. The jury was cautioned that Jones was the only one on trial now, and that their verdict should not be confused with the alleged co-conspirators, who would receive trials later.

The state maintained it would prove "conclusively and completely, and beyond a shadow of a doubt, Jones' participation in the ballot thefts."

Jones is represented by Attorney Glenn R. Jacks of Oregon City, and T. J. Enright of this city.

Following the completion of the jury, and inspection of the scene of the crime, Attorney Moody filed a motion, asking that the indictment against E. A. Fleming, Jacksonville orchardist, be dismissed so he could appear as a witness for the state. Fleming was at Banks' house, when the slaying of Constable Prescott occurred. Earl Bryant and James D. Gaddy of Jacksonville, companions of Fleming when they attended the "congress" on the night of the ballot stealing, have pleaded guilty, and testified all three destroyed five pouches and their contents. They received them when they were going home from the "congress" in Bryant's auto. The court granted the motion.

Residents To Be Called

New witnesses for the state to be called, it is expected, will be a number of local residents who stood outside the courthouse auditorium and listened and watched and wondered, on the night of the vote stealing.

The court issued an order excluding all witnesses for both sides, including John Brock, said to be a material witness for the state.

The courtroom was only comfortably filled this morning, and most of the spectators were women and young boys and girls. John Glenn, one of the defendants, and Arthur LaDieu sat within the court sanctuary. Suspended Sheriff Gordon I. Schermerhorn was not present. Neither was Henrietta B. Martin, president of the so-called "Good Government congress." Her father, C. H. Brown, secretary of the "congress," and wife, occupied seats in the back part of the courtroom. Most of those in attendance were from this city. J. G. Ferrell and J. Frank Wortman, members of the LaDieu jury, were present in court for a short time as bystanders.

Examination of the alternate jurors required until 10:30 this morning. Charley A. Sanders, housewife, was excused by the defense. She expressed a prejudice against the defendant, that could not be changed by the evidence.

H. H. Connor, an electrical engineer, was also excused by the defense. He had heard some discus-

Loretta Young is starred in "Zoo in Budapest," at the Rio theater today and tomorrow.

It tells of the romance between a shy schoolboy and a beautiful boy whose whole life has been spent in the zoo amongst the animals. There are many of the thrills always found in animal pictures, but with the "boy and girl" angle as the predominant note throughout.

Following the picture program a demonstration of Kearney line specialties was conducted by James R. Kearney of St. Louis, Missouri, president of the Kearney corporation and his assistants. The various types of line specialties were effectively displayed and explained by the members of the Kearney group and proved most interesting to all present.

The entire program which was one of a series of educational programs sponsored by the Copco Forum proved of great educational value to the many employees and guests present. Dr. J. D. Phillips, superintendent of the local power company, acted as chairman of the meeting.

Guests included James R. Kearney, F. W. Kearney and Tom Clark of St. Louis, Mo., H. F. Hartzell of San Francisco, Calif., S. P. Larsen and E. J. DesCamp of Seattle, Wash., S. G. Ward of Portland, and O. O. Alexander, Clayton Isaac and Lee Bishop of Medford.

LINE EQUIPMENT TALK GIVEN FOR STAFF OF COPCO

Members of the Copco Forum, well known employees' organization of the California Oregon Power company enjoyed an interesting and instructive program at their regular weekly meeting yesterday noon. The program featured an illustrated lecture on line equipment by S. P. Larsen of Seattle. Northwest district sales manager for the Kearney corporation, manufacturers of electrical materials.

Mr. Larsen handled his subject in a comprehensive manner and presented several reels of moving pictures which showed the process of fabricating steel in the Emeryville, California plant of his company. The pictures covered the manufacture of line equipment in a thorough manner from the making of various dies up to the completion of the finished product. The care taken in producing even the smallest bolts and nuts was presented in a graphic manner by the pictures which were explained in detail by Mr. Larsen.

RELIEF MONEY IN SIGHT FOR STATE AVERS CHAIRMAN

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(AP)—Oregon will be able to obtain federal money to sustain reasonable relief throughout July, according to Raymond B. Wilcox, chairman of Oregon's delegation to the relief conference, who declared "the people of Oregon need not fear that the relief problem will not be taken care of after that."

Wilcox is here discussing with federal officials plans for his state to share in the $500,000,000 for emergency relief and the $3,300,000,000 appropriation for public works. He pointed out that the entire program is still in a state of formation and that definite figures and estimates are not yet possible, but he was certain that "nobody is going to starve in Oregon."

Wilcox made it plain, however, that Oregon "must get down and dig to enable taking advantage of the new gigantic relief program," and will

RETURN OF NEGRO FORCED BY COURT

BOSTON, June 16.—(AP)—The United States circuit court of appeals today reversed the decision of Federal Judge James A. Lowell in granting a writ of habeas corpus to George Crawford, a negro, which would have prevented Crawford's return to Virginia to face a murder charge.

Crawford was wanted in Virginia for the murder of Mrs. Agnes Beoley Halsey, wealthy sportswoman, and her maid, Nina Buckner, slain at Middleburg in January, 1932. The state of Massachusetts honored the extradition request of the governor of Virginia, but counsel for Crawford appealed to Judge Lowell for a writ of habeas corpus, to bring about his release.

SCHOOL DIRECTOR CAMPAIGN PUSHED AS BALLOT NEARS

Next Monday will be school election day in Medford and two directors will be chosen by the people to serve on the board for three year periods. There are three candidates this year for the positions: N. H. Franklin and Eugene Thorndike, now on the board; Dr. J. D. Phillips, entered through petitions circulated by George Iversen and others and filed by J. C. Collins.

The group represented by the two and A. W. Pipes were waging an energetic campaign today for their candidates through radio addresses and communications to the press.

Much interest was being shown in both camps, among people favoring re-election of the two board members and among those backing introduction of the new member.

Messrs. Franklin and Thorndike were nominated for re-election thru petitions signed and filed by patrons of the school and are for continuation of the existing administration.

The election will be held at the high school on South Oakdale and the polls will be open from 9 o'clock to 7 o'clock. Any legal voter, who has been in the state of Oregon for six months and in this school district for 30 days will be eligible for voting in the school election.

In Medford today—Dewey C. Rohloff, automobile engineer of the Richfield Oil company, with headquarters in Seattle, was a business visitor in Medford today.

KELSO RESIDENTS FORCED TO FLEE AS DIKE CRACKS

The relief work was under the direction of H. O. Wilson, chairman of the Cowitz county Red Cross committee, and John Zydan of Seattle, a representative of the Red Cross. Relief stations were established in school houses and at the Chinook hotel.

The break in the dike occurred shortly after noon yesterday.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 16.—(AP)—About 1800 acres of alfalfa and wheat land on Sauvie Island near Portland were flooded deeply last night when the east dike of the island was broken by the swift flood waters of the Columbia river.

Ten families in the inundated areas were able to remove their livestock and household goods to the Oregon shore. The farm animals were transported by barge.

Damage caused by the 60-foot break was estimated at $200,000. It was feared the entire dike area would be flooded within a day or two if further breaks occurred in the levee. Further breaks occurred in the levee dikes in under water.

THE DALLES, Ore., June 16.—(AP)—The Columbia river here advanced to the highest stage of the season during the night, rising from 38.1 feet to 38.8 feet.

A further rise would cause considerable damage. Several hundred acres of early gardens are now inundated and the water is lapping the foundations of several houses in the lowlands.

The weather observer predicted today that the river will reach the 40-foot stage by Saturday and that it will continue to rise for several days after that. The crest is expected within a week.

Hammond in City—Ward Hammond Copco district manager of Granite Pass was a business visitor at the company's home office in this city yesterday.
