Methodist Ladies' Aid Hears Very Fine Program

A special guest and a very entertaining one at the home-coming yesterday of the Methodist Episcopal Ladies' Aid was Miss Mayla Foster, whose father is a cousin of Stephen Foster, song writer and composer of many southern songs, familiar to all people.

Miss Foster, a former Medford girl, is guest here of Miss May Phipps. She directs auditorium work in Richmond Platoon schools in Portland and plans to spend a time here during summer vacation.

Miss Foster's father is well remembered by older residents as former pastor of the Presbyterian church here for seven years following 1893.

Called upon to entertain yesterday at the Ladies' Aid meeting by members of the circle in charge, Miss Foster discussed the southern songs, written by Stephen Foster.

The program opened with a sketch of the man himself and the following old favorites were sung by the ladies' trio, Mrs. Mortenson, Mrs. Hill and Miss Foster: "Old Black Joe," "Massa in the Cold," "Cold Ground" and "My Old Kentucky Home."

Miss Foster, a contralto, sang "Gentle Annie" and "Beautiful Dreamer." Mrs. Hill played an instrumental number, "Way Down South."

Mrs. Mortenson then sang "Swanee River" and Mrs. Hill played on the piano as accompaniment, "Humoresque" by Dvorak.

"The Elder Makes Patricia Short a Call," a short skit, directed by Mrs. Ruth Bigler, was then presented by the following cast: Gale Berry, Ethel Grace Bigler, Ethel Moore, Naomi Jenkins and Ellis M. Bugbee.

H. Butler of Medford at their summer home there.

Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Pickett, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gray, all of Riverside Colony; Mr. and Mrs. George West and Mr. and Mrs. George B. Alden of Medford.

Following a turkey dinner, games were enjoyed of which baseball was the main diversion. In addition to a number of women star-players, those who witnessed the game stated Judge Matthews excelled at the bat and J. H. Butler as umpire.—Grants Pass Courier.

REFEREE IN BANKS BANKRUPTCY STILL TO BE APPOINTED

Appointment of a bankruptcy referee for the handling of the L. A. Banks and Suncrest Orchards, Inc., bankruptcy proceedings, has not been announced by the federal court of Portland as yet, according to Frank DeSousa, attorney who filed the bankruptcy proceedings against Banks and the Suncrest Orchards.

Possibility that Attorney Hamilton of Roseburg will be appointed was voiced by DeSousa, although it may be assigned to the bankruptcy referee of Klamath Falls, he said.

After a referee has been appointed, notice will be given to all Banks' creditors, who will then file their claims against the Banks property. Banks and his wife, Edith R. Banks, were declared bankrupt June 15, and the Suncrest Orchards June 1, according to DeSousa.

Attorney Harry Skyrman, Medford referee in bankruptcy, received the papers last week but sent them back to federal court, as Attorney Skyrman is an attorney in litigation against the Suncrest Orchards. It is possible, however, that the federal court will assign the job to Skyrman anyway.

MEDFORD VOTERS ARE GIVEN FACTS FRIDAY ELECTION

In connection with the amendment to the city charter upon which the electors will vote on Friday, June 30, the following statement was issued this morning from the Chamber of Commerce for the benefit of those who may not be completely familiar with the purpose of the election:

"In 1918 the city of Medford as a part of its refunding plan covering the refunding of obligations for paving incurred during the boom period, adopted a so-called Hansen plan and pursuant thereto issued and sold bonds in the sum of $700,000. These bonds mature in 1934. As the attention now stands $389,000 of the bonds have been paid and there remains outstanding $311,000.

"Under ordinary circumstances and conditions the city would refund these bonds for an additional period by the issuance of refunding bonds. These bonds would be sold on the market and the proceeds used to pay the matured and unpaid bonds outstanding.

"Due to the present economic conditions, it is impossible to sell municipal bonds at par or near par, and as a consequence, any refunding bonds sold by the city would probably not bring more than 80 per cent to 85 per cent which would mean a loss of not less than $50,000 to the city of Medford.

"The city council has, under the city charter, authority to issue and sell refunding bonds for the purpose of payment of outstanding and matured bonded obligations. The charter provision only authorizes the city to sell such bonds.

"At the last session of the State Legislature a bill was enacted giving city councils of the various cities in the state of Oregon authority to issue refunding bonds and to exchange them for matured bonds. The present election is for the purpose of amending the city charter of the city of Medford to conform to this statute.

"It is the present plan of the city council to exchange refunding bonds for the present bonds as they mature and thus avoid selling the refunding bonds on the open market at a substantial loss to the city."

The board of directors of the Medford Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the amendment to the city charter and urges citizens to vote on Friday and support the city council in its plan to maintain the good credit of the city.
