OREGON'S SHARE RECOVERY FUND IS 18 MILLIONS

Terms for Cash Advance Ex- pected to Be Liberal.— Sewage Disposal Plants for Willamette Favored

PORTLAND, June 30.—(AP)—Oregon may share to the extent of $18,000,000 in the national program for industrial recovery and unemployment relief.

This was the word brought from Washington, D. C., by Raymond B. Wilcox, chairman of the state reconstruction advisory board, who for several weeks has been representing Oregon's interest in the national capitol.

Liberal Terms Expected

"I believe," Wilcox said today, "that terms on which cash advances will be made will prove very liberal. The sewage disposal plants for the Willamette valley met with universal approval. It appears that ten projects for $100,000 each would be in higher favor in Washington than one for $1,000,000."

The complete program will be released in Washington, D. C., about July 5 when the president returns from his vacation, Wilcox said. Oregon, as other states, will have a state administrator, a committee of three, a technician and legal and engineering advisers.

C. Hockley, a paper mill engineer, is considered certain to be appointed administrator for Oregon, Wilcox said. He has the endorsement of Governor Meier, Wilcox, and members of the advisory board.

Money Available Soon

Money will be available just as fast as projects are approved, it was said, and the advisory committee was meeting here today with Wilcox to hear his recommendations. The chairman stressed that communities planning to submit projects should obtain temporary approval before going to the expense of preparing detailed plans. Only worthy projects will be considered, he said, inasmuch as "the government has no intention of wasting money but will distribute these funds as widely as possible and where they will do the most good."

Wilcox said that pending the actual start of the public works program, relief for the destitute unemployed will be forthcoming from the federal government, administered by federal officials working through state organizations.

Bridges Near Approval

He said that J. M. Devera, attorney for the state highway commission, report a most timely time prior to the creation of the Washington program, but had unanimous support for the construction of five bridges on the Oregon coast highway, but pending completion of the program, could not get official confirmation, Wilcox said "the opinion in Washington is that the bridges will be among the first approved projects."

Speaking of the $18,000,000 which may be anticipated, Wilcox said "I believe the terms on which advances and grants will be made will be very liberal and that many projects can be undertaken with cheap money that could not otherwise be considered for a long time to come."

APPELATE 3-C CAMP PLANNING BIG JULY 4 CELEBRATION PROGRAM

APPELATE, June 30.—(Special)—Applegate people are looking forward to spending the Fourth with the C. C. C. boys at Camp Applegate, where the boys have an all-day picnic planned. The day will start with a valley reunion in the forenoon, to which the people of the upper valley and the families and friends of the men in camp are cordially invited.

Everybody is asked to bring a basket dinner. The tables will be furnished by the camp and will be located in the wooded area of the camp formerly occupied by the mess hall. The program committee is busy on new things for entertainment. Plans are made for races of all kinds, archery exhibitions by experts, boxing card with several bouts, and there may be a timber falling contest. The evening will be filled with dancing in the mess hall, which will continue not later than 2 a. m. Many Applegate musicians have already offered their services.

It is understood there will be a special tent prepared for the younger children. Practically all of the 73 Portland boys are expected to spend the Fourth in the northern city. Eight of the men from Camp Applegate are engaged in transporting the men who arrived in Medford several days ago from Jefferson Barracks, Mo., to the different camps assigned to them. Lieutenant Wallace S. Douglas of the medical corps and a native of Hillsboro, Ill., has reported at Camp Applegate for duty as medical officer.

LOCAL APRICOTS OF FINE QUALITY READY TEN DAYS

The Rogue River valley is going to have a good apricot crop this year and it's going to be ready for harvesting in about 10 days.

L. P. Wilcox, county horticulturist, announced today. In view of the fine quality of fruit to be produced, housewives are urged to postpone their apricot canning until the local crop appears on the market.

It will be higher in sugar content than the fruit which is shipped in. Mr. Wilcox stated today since it is allowed to mature on the trees. The several commercial plantings, which bear large crops this year, will supply the Rogue River valley demand and if not used here, an important amount of money will be lost to the valley.

The earlier varieties will be ready for canning within 10 days, and for those people who want to wait longer there will be other apricots coming on, the orchardists announce. Patronage of the local apricot crop will constitute an important boon to the fruit industry as there are now large plantings in the Fern Valley, Coker Butte and Eagle Point districts.

Leading orchards in the Fern Valley district are those owned by George Alford, R. C. Ward and Rupert Henry. The L. P. Crocker and O. L. Lindley plantings in the Coker Butte section will furnish the largest crop there and the J. L. Linn orchard in the Eagle Point district. Chris Wolff, whose orchard is located just south of Medford, will also have a large crop of apricots on the market.

CALIFORNIA PEAR SEASON IS LATE

Figures, showing that the pear season in California is at least two weeks late this year, were released today by Guy W. Conner, local fruit man. The first two cars of pears out of the southern state this season were shipped June 27. Last year on that date 33 cars had been shipped.

The Medford season will also be at least two weeks late this year, Mr. Conner stated, and the United States will realize when shipments do come in, a crop greatly in excess of last year's total.

NEW $5 LICENSE TAGS SELL LIKE HOT CAKES

SALEM, June 30.—(AP)—Oregon's new $5 half-year automobile licenses are selling almost 40 per cent faster than the higher priced full year licenses of last year, figures at the secretary of state's office revealed.

A total of 81,982 sets of plates had been sold up to and including yesterday, compared with 58,274 the same period last year.

"SO HAPPY THAT I TRIED ALL-BRAN"

Delicious Cereal Brought Relief From Constipation

If you have headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read Mrs. Schneider's letter:

"Since I have been eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I don't have to take anything else for constipation. How good it is, and how much better it is for constipation than pills or any other medicine."

"I would never go back to what I used to take, because Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is wholesome and healthful."

—Mrs. John Schneider, 950 Tenth Street, Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

Constipation is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN has both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the wastes.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of pills and drugs—so often habit-forming. Two tablespoonsful daily will overcome most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

BOURBON LEADERS SHIELD ROOSEVELT SAYS REPUBLICAN

Sanders Declares Free Institutions Rest On Power to Criticize and Challenge Policies of Administration

SELINGROVE, Pa., June 30.—(AP)—Declaring Democratic leaders seek to prevent criticism of the president, Everett Sanders, Republican national chairman, in an address for delivery today, asserted "to accede to such a proposal would be to admit that free government had passed from this nation."

Sanders was on the program at a Young Republican rally.

"The congress delegated to the chief executive more arbitrary power than has ever been conferred upon the president of these United States, not even excepting in times of war," Sanders declared.

Free Expression Needed

"Yet we are now confronted with the proposition that, as Republicans constituting a minority party and certainly as desirous of helping the entire people as the Democrats, we are asked to abstain from questioning the wisdom of such laws, any questioning as to how the nation's executive exercises the powers conferred upon him, or how he and his subordinates administer the laws."

"The stability of our institutions rests in the free expression of the popular will. To claim that any of our elective officers, from the president down, or any of their appointees or associates, are immune from criticism merely because the country is passing through an economic crisis, is to revert to the doctrine of the divine right of rulers."

He asserted the "entire future" of the rising generation "depends upon insistence of the minority to challenge the wisdom of the majority."

Power Deplored

The power vested in the president "to lay the heavy hand of federal dictation upon every activity of agriculture and industry" was deplored by Sanders to mean "putting individual enterprise, ambition, initiative, thrift, foresight, in a straight-jacket."

"That legislation, proposed and enacted under the pretense of looking after the forgotten man" and equalizing injustices and inequities of our social and economic system, has within it the power to do just the contrary, to shut the door to the hope of every young man and woman in this country to become anything more than a mere pawn, to be moved at the whim and dictation of some federal bureaucrat," he said.
