LOS ANGELES BOYS CONFESS SHOOTING STATE POLICEMAN

Pass, and Mrs. Klumpf were motoring along the Pacific highway. They heard a shot and turned to see Baucom slumping to the ground and a youth standing over him with a pistol in his hand. As the officer attempted to grab one of the two men, Klumpf said, the gunman shot twice more at the officer's head. Then the gunman spied the Klumpf car, and turned as if to shoot in that direction, but Klumpf speeded up his machine and raced to the nearest telephone at a nearby auto camp.

Poses Soon Organized
He notified the sheriff's office here and state police that the two had fled northward in their car. Poses throughout this vicinity were hurriedly organized, and points along the highway north and south of here were warned to be on the alert for the car carrying the two fugitives.

Rialto Comedian

Jack Buchanan, famous musical comedy star, teams up with Elsie Randolph, London favorite, in "Yes, Mr. Brown," at the Rialto theater today and tomorrow.

Walter Huston at Craterian

Headed by Walter Huston as the president who overnight is transformed from an insouciant, backslapping politician to a man of iron, the cast of "Gabriel Over the White House," which opens a three day run at the Craterian theater today, also has Karen Morley as the leading female player; Franchot Tone, the Broadway stage star, Arthur Byron, C. Henry Gordon and Dickie Moore. This picture was adapted from the most daring expose of Washington ever written. Its anonymous author knew his politics and at the same time weaved into his story of a United States president who steps out something about current problems an unusually gripping human theme. In view of the fact that a great many of the dramatic happenings of the picture have already been carried out by President Roosevelt, it strikes with even greater force than it might otherwise.
