JURY SELECTION FOR EX-SHERIFF MOVING SLOWLY

Banks, local agitator, now under conviction for second degree murder, believed in them, and would carry some of the impressions he gleaned from them to the jury room. Vincent told the court he could not be fair to the state, by reason thereof, and was extremely modest about his own ability to fairly decide the issues. W. E. Blake of Ashland was drawn to fill the vacancy.

Examination of W. H. Arnold, farmer, Jacksonville, took close to an hour and thirty minutes, and the court denied two motions for dismissal by the state.

State Upheld. The state objected to the form of a series of questions propounded by the defense to Arnold, covering the legal phases of conspiracy and accomplices' testimony, and was sustained by the court. The court held that it was proper for the jury to infer from a meeting that it was for the purpose of plotting, and that the jury should consider circumstances in arriving at the guilt or innocence of the defendant. The law on circumstantial evidence was also explained by the court.

Arnold said that he read all the newspapers, but had no opinions; that he knew the Jennings family, and that he was a member of the election board last November in his precinct.

Arnold also said that he had talked to Arthur LaDieu, convicted of ballot theft this morning, about moving some hay, but that La Dieu had not mentioned any of the ballot theft cases. Later, Arnold admitted La Dieu had "said something about the case, but could not recall it, as it had left no impression on his mind. The venireman also said that La Dieu had never asked him to mow his hay before.

Faith in Law. Arnold stated that he had faith in law and order, and had not signed any of the petitions seeking the recall or resignation of county officials during the height of the turmoil.

The witness added that he knew E. A. Fleming, Earl Bryant, and James Gaddy of Jacksonville, who have entered pleas of guilty, and that he entertained a slight aversion to the testimony of accomplices, but that it would not prevent him from being a fair and impartial juror.

At the present rate it will take three days to secure a jury in the trial.

YOUNG BOURBONS READY FOR FEAST

Arrangements have been completed for the Dutch supper to be held at the Hotel Holland by the Young Democrats club next Tuesday night, at 6:30 o'clock, where plans for a membership drive will be discussed. Entertainment for the meeting will be in charge of Mary Kelly, secretary of the club, and a short, snappy program is planned.

SHASTA MOVIE MAKERS HERE

Bruce Merriman and H. C. Gibbs, motion picture men of Hollywood, are in southern Oregon again, getting some fine shots for the Picture Book series of the Shasta Cascade Wonderland, which is expected to be ready for release around August 1, weather permitting continuous work on the film.

The two men were at Crater Lake yesterday and got some very fine views, which, with those gained earlier in the year, will show the seasonal change, which occurs at the lake.

They also got some very good pictures at Jacksonville of gold mining activities and scenes along the Rogue, out from Gold Hill. They are leaving tomorrow for Siskiyou county, where they will add several shots to the film, which will constitute a magnificent travelogue.

Reach for a Lucky

—for always Luckies Please!

My reason for liking Luckies is strictly personal

After all—since I smoke quite a number of cigarettes each day—don't you think it's just as well that I lean in the right direction? Perhaps you'd call my reason for liking "Toasting" the assurance of purity it gives me—for Luckies come in rather close personal contact with me, you know. Just knowing that each puff of Lucky smoke I draw in is pure—it makes the pleasure of fragrant toasted tobacco that much greater. Certainly, purity never hurt anyone! And besides—"Luckies Please!"
