MATTERN HOPING CONTINUE FLIGHT IN NEW AIRPLANE

Airman Forced Down by Motor Trouble On Day Left Khaborovsk—Plane Damaged Beyond Repair

MOSCOW, July 10.—(AP)—A crack Russian pilot was ordered by soviet officials to take off today in a trimotored, 12-passenger plane to give all possible assistance to Jimmie Mattern, American world flier forced down at Anadyr, Siberia.

Authorities instructed Pilot Levanovsky to get Mattern anything he may need to take him to American territory.

MOSCOW, July 10.—(AP)—Dispatches from Khabarovsk, Siberia, published in today's Moscow newspapers say that Jimmie Mattern, the American aviator, was forced down 80 miles from Anadyr on the same day he left Khabarovsk (June 14), by motor trouble and that the fuselage and wing of his plane were damaged in landing because of the rough terrain.

The American came down on a spot three miles and a half from the bank of the River Anadyr, which on that date was still frozen over. How long he remained there without assistance is not yet known, but today's advices said that he was found beside the damaged "Century of Progress" by a frontier guard boat, which began patrolling the river as soon as the ice broke up.

Rifle Secured Food.

Pravda's Khabarovsk correspondent expressed the opinion that the rifle and ammunition given Mattern by soviet authorities just before he left Khabarovsk enabled him to kill small game and thereby keep himself alive with food.

The Texan carried virtually no food with him from Khabarovsk.

The frontier guard found the stranded American in good health and uninjured and took him to Anadyr.

Asks New Plane.

Further advices received here today said Mattern telegraphed his New York representatives July 8 from Anadyr asking that a seaplane be sent from Alaska to take him to American territory. This would indicate that the flier felt that it was impossible to repair the "Century of Progress."

But the American emphasized that he had not given up his attempt to encircle the globe by air.

And in the headlines, the Oregonian announces McBride's former residence in Medford. His comic strip made its first appearance in the Oregonian yesterday. He is remembered here by many friends, including the L. E. Williams, recent recipients of a book of his drawings.

doing some powerful missionary work in the south for months.

He's been dodging below Mason-Dixon line with great regularity. Always exerting that personality and uncanny memory for names and faces.

Another interesting political story comes up from down Texas way.

They say Jim Ferguson is getting the itch to run against Tom Connally for the senate next year.

Jim is the husband of "Ma," present governor of Texas. Jim was governor once himself but got impeached. He's not eligible for state office but a little thing like that wouldn't stop his shooting for the senate.

Ferguson hasn't said anything yet. But those who know the signs whisper that he's talking now just the way he used to when girding himself for the political fray.

It looks as if we're going to need a coordinator to coordinate our coordinators.

Friction in the industrial control organization has made page one several time of late.

Now it's the federal lending agencies that seem to be in a squirrel cage.

Some Michigan bankers hit town. They need dough pronto. They had stated their case to the Chicago Federal Reserve bank before leaving home.

In Washington they went to the R. F. C. Jesse Jones' hired men said matters would have to be looked up first. The Chicago statement was of no interest.

The bankers went to the Federal Reserve Board. It seemed the board didn't care what the R. F. C. thought about it. However an inquiry would have to be made—and that didn't mean taking the Chicago report.

In desperation the Michigan men went to the comptroller of currency. He cared not for what either the reserve board of R. F. C., thought. But he'd investigate! All very confusing.

Looks as if Barney Baruch were going to do a comet act in Washington. That is shine brightly, whiz by and disappear with F. D. back to take over the government.

Give him credit though. Baruch has grabbed off plenty of news space while the president was a-cruising. Sort of king for a day.

FOREIGN WAR VETS CONVENTION TUESDAY

Delegates to the state convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will leave for Roseburg Tuesday.

The convention lasts four days beginning July 12th and ending Saturday, July 15th. From all reports it will be one of the liveliest conventions ever held, for this is a critical time for the veterans and a number of problems concerning the oversea veteran will be discussed.

Medford is out for the convention for 1934 and Commander I. D. Canfield says he is going to bring back the bacon.

MURDER GUN IS RECOVERED FOR USE AS EVIDENCE

National Guardsmen of Medford and Grants Pass, led by Major W. H. Ellenburg, and other state police officers, were successful Sunday in finding the gun which Harry A. Bowles admitted using July 1 in killing State Police Officer Burrell Milo Baucom, on Sexton mountain, north of Grants Pass.

The gun, according to officers, was found about two hundred yards above the road, and had one shell left in it. The gun holds five shells, officers said. A package of cigarettes, which had not been opened, and a sweater were also found in the same locality. The gun was found in the vicinity where Bowles and his companion, John Alvin Barrier pushed their automobile over the bank.

According to police, Baucom was shot five times, once in the stomach, once in the neck, and three times in the head.

State police are in the area again today to search for the other gun, according to Captain Lee M. Bown.

Progress Toward Recovery

The improvement of business still depends upon the elimination of uneconomic practices such as price-cutting and profitless selling. The National Recovery Bill is intended to eliminate these evils. Under its provisions progress is being made. It is the fixed policy of the Standard Oil Company of California not to sell to price-cutters and not to seek to capture outlets of its competitors.

Here is the AAA Report. Read it: "This is to certify that we, the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association, have conducted a series of tests on Standard Gasoline, manufactured by Standard Oil Company of California, and six other gasolines considered to be leading brands, for comparative detonation (anti-knock), under actual road conditions, using what is technically known as the Cooperative Fuel Research Road Test method.

Under the procedure and conditions that obtained at the time of the test in this car, we find Standard Gasoline is unsurpassed.

All tests were conducted by us under carefully controlled conditions of operation, in a 1933 stock model sedan, and in accordance with the rules and policies of the AAA Contest Board. This statement is based on data developed by and on file with the AAA Contest Board."
