ORR TO PRESIDE OVER FURNITURE DEALER MEETING

Bert Orr of the Weeks and Orr Furniture store, is leaving by airplane Thursday for Portland, to preside at the meeting of the Retail Furniture Dealers of Oregon, on Saturday.

Upon arrival in Portland, Mr. Orr plans to purchase a new shipment of furniture Thursday, to make up another carload for his store here. Friday he will attend a meeting of the directors of the association.

The session on Saturday will be the fifth annual convention, and one of the important matters to come before the body will be the adoption of a code for furniture dealers, as requested by the federal government. Speakers for the day will include Mayor Joseph Carson, Walter May, manager of the Portland chamber of commerce, Professor Arnold Perstein of the University of California, and A. Cameron Ball, secretary of the Western Furniture conference.

Additional features planned in connection with the convention are a hi-jinx at the Columbia country club, and a golf tourney on the Columbia course.

Mr. Orr will be accompanied north by Mrs. Orr and Mrs. Miss Weeks. They plan to return to Medford Sunday by plane.

JAMES E. LADD, NOTED DRY SPEAKER, SLATED GRANTS PASS, JULY 18

James Earl Ladd, well known public lecturer of the west, will speak in Grants Pass July 18 at eight o'clock. Mr. Ladd will present evidence which he says will amaze both the so-called wets and dries. He believes "religious fanaticism, political or personal appetite, have no place in true temperance thinking" and says "these problems should be taken out of the hands of blue nosed reformers, red nosed politicians and profit-loving editors." In fact, his idea is to take this question out of the realm of personal opinion and "place it in the clean light of unbiased facts."

He also believes that the person who sets the wrong example before the young people and then laments because they follow his example, is either mentally deficient or a hypocrite.

He suggests that "thinking people inquire for facts and figures of unbiased organizations who are in a position to study conditions first hand in America, Germany, Canada and other countries of various methods of liquor control and that the Salvation Army is just such an organization."

In 1899 they came to Oregon and have resided continuously at Brownboro until moving to Ross lane two months ago.

Besides his wife, Mr. Tucker leaves one son, L. D. Tucker and two daughters, Mae Tucker of Medford and Mrs. S. C. Jacobsen, Orland, Calif. Also two brothers, E. H. Tucker, Brownboro and W. C. of Hampton, Iowa.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Conger Funeral Parlors and will be announced in due time. Interment will be at Brownboro.

PRIVATE BONDS PROFFERED FOR SCHERMERHORN

The county court yesterday took no action upon the approval of the private citizen bonds, proffered by Gordon L. Schermerhorn, convicted of ballot theft Sunday by a jury after 18 hours deliberation. The bonds named as sureties Prof. C. Englehardt of the Long Tom mountain district, a bondsman for J. Arthur Ladieu, former business aide of L. A. Banks, convicted also of ballot theft; R. M. Conley, a Sams Valley stockman, and a witness in the Ladieu defense; John Glenn, Ashland, former county jailer, acquitted July 4th of ballot theft, and Mrs. Anna Glenn.

The private bonds were presented for approval, in the event that Schermerhorn became qualified to resume his office.

The county court by a majority vote, yesterday declared the office of sheriff vacant, by reason of the conviction of Schermerhorn and in the same order re-appointed Walter J. Omscheid, to the post.

Omscheid has $30,000 bonds, provided by a surety bond company, operative for nine months. His appointment runs until his successor is elected and qualified, at the general election next year.

Attorney Von Schmalz said this morning that the motion for a new trial for Schermerhorn, would be filed tomorrow and would be supported by affidavits.

UPPER ROGUE CCC BOYS ARE ACTIVE IN FIRE FIGHTING

According to word received from J. B. Duval, Jr., Lieut., U. S. N., stationed at the Upper Rogue River CCC camp, the boys at the camp have been taking an active part in affairs at Prospect, playing baseball with the town team, and also attending dances given for the team's benefit. A ball field is being constructed near the camp.

In appreciation of the fine conduct of the CCC boys, the citizens of Prospect donated a carload of old magazines to the camp, which the recruits greatly appreciated.

Twice already the camp has been called upon to furnish men for fighting forest fires. With 200 men available at all times for this purpose, a feeling of security is given those living in the surrounding forest. Lieutenants Duval reports.

Before an ice box and cooler could be constructed at the camp, large cans were placed in the Rogue river, anchored by ropes to the bank. Fresh meats, and other articles were placed in the cans and kept at a low temperature by the cold water.

The forest service has announced plans to utilize the present camp site after completion of the CCC work as a permanent tourist camp and the clearing of brush and rocks has been carried out with this in mind.

Ethyl or grain alcohol can be used as a substitute for gasoline in automobile engines. But such engines cannot be started "cold" with alcohol alone in freezing weather, say federal experts.

SALEM WOULD BUY CITY WATER PLANT

SALEM, July 18.—(AP)—Immediate negotiation looking to the city's purchase of the Oregon-Washington Water Service company plant and system here was ordered by the city council last night.

The city's application for a loan from the federal public works department for construction of the proposed mountain water system has been sent to Washington, D. C., since the state supreme court ruled the Salem water bond issue valid.
