JURY MEDDLING HEARING SET FOR AUG. 1 BY JUDGE

sworn upon oath, depose and say: that I am the wife of George C. McClain, who was selected as a juror in the case of the state of Oregon vs. Gordon L. Schermerhorn; that my husband and myself reside at West Fourth street, in the city of Medford, Oregon.

"That at about ten o'clock a. m. on the morning of July 9th, 1933, I had been down to get my mail and was returning home when I saw an automobile in front of the home of Roy L. Clark, who lives across the street from our residence. That I went into my home and I was sitting on the front porch when I saw this automobile above referred to, drive across the street in front of my house and stop, that a man, whom I have now identified as Amos Walker, probation officer appointed by County Judge Earl H. Fehl, came up to the porch of my home and said to me 'I see you have your place for sale' and I said 'Yes sir, Walker, said 'What do you ask for this place?' and I replied 'Sixteen hundred dollars,' and Walker said 'Sixteen hundred dollars?' and I said 'Yes, we had put it down to where we thought we could sell it at that price' and I further said 'We were hard up and we have another place down here we would sell that but would rather not,' and Walker said 'What do you want for that place?' and I said 'Eighteen hundred dollars,' and I described the place referred to. Walker then said 'That would suit me better. I am looking for a place for my brother,' that Amos Walker said to me 'He claimed his brother was coming from. Walker then said 'Mr. McClain is on the jury, well we can talk then. He is locked up now, how does Mr. McClain stand?' I replied 'Mr. McClain is a man who would be guided by the evidence, I would a whole lot rather he was not on the jury because if the man was acquitted, Mr. McClain would be cussed by the people and if he is convicted he will be cussed by some people.' When I said Mr. McClain would be guided by the evidence, Walker said 'Thank you for that.' Walker then said 'Did you know Mr. Banks?' and I said 'No, it is too bad about Mr. Prescott,' and Walker said 'There was no need of Prescott being killed, I talked to George that morning and told him not to go to the house and George Prescott said 'I have only one time to die and Walker said to me 'they should have phoned Mr. Banks to come down and the officers should not have went to his castle.' That I made no further comment on this, as I concluded Walker was trying to quiz me on it.

"That Amos Walker never told me his name or his business and from his conversation with me I was sure he wanted to buy one of our places. That on Tuesday, July 11th, 1933, I went into the office of the county judge of Jackson county, Oregon, and I went up to a desk in that office and looked in a man over who was sitting at the desk and looked this man over and found that he was the same man who had been out to my home and had the conversation with me as above set forth. That my daughter, Mrs. Dorothea Watkins was with me and when I had looked Walker over, I said to my daughter in Walker's presence 'that is the man,' and Walker gave us a hard look and we walked out the door and reported the matter to the sheriff's office.

"That at Medford, Oregon, this 13th day of July, 1933, I subscribed and sworn to before me, this 13th day of July, 1933. (Signed) 'MARIE MCCLAIN. (Signed) 'G. W. NEILSON. Notary Public for Oregon."

Walker, a long time resident of the valley, was named a deputy sheriff when Gordon L. Schermerhorn assumed office last January, and evidence in the ballot theft trials showed the appointment was made at Fehl's home, at the early morning meeting when Schermerhorn returned from California. Fehl was credited with naming Walker. The appointment caused considerable protest.

Later, Walker was named as probation officer, operating out of the county judge's office. Commissioners Neeson and Billings refused to approve his salary, and Walker withdrew. On June 29th, County Judge Fehl again appointed Walker probation officer, and on July 5, the commissioners served notice that no funds were available for the salary. Walker since then has been at the courthouse almost daily however.

MASTER BARBERS SUBCOMMITTEE IN C. OF C. PROPOSED

At a meeting of master barbers held at the chamber of commerce last night it was decided to form a subcommittee of barbers in connection with the retail merchants committee of the chamber of commerce.

The meeting was presided over by John Moffatt, chairman of the Retail Merchants' committee and matters relating to the barbering business were thoroughly discussed.

The barbers have already agreed upon a uniform price schedule and last night the question of regular hours was also unanimously adopted.

It is known that under the industrial recovery act certain regulations will be adopted by all lines of industry and business and the chamber of commerce is organizing the various business groups in the city, when requested, so as to be prepared to better make the necessary changes under the provisions of the act, by having these groups organized beforehand.

In affiliating with the retail merchants committee of the chamber of commerce it was unanimously voted that W. W. Bates act as chairman of the barbers group assisted by merchants, not barbers, to be appointed by John Moffatt.

In connection with the hours to be maintained it was decided that all shops open at 8:00 a. m. and close at 6:00 p. m. on days preceding national holidays the hours will be the same as Saturday.

W. S. Bolger, president, addressed the group and expressed pleasure at the opportunity afforded the chamber to be of service to the barbers and urged them to continue to work harmoniously in order that better results may be obtained in the future.

Next Monday evening chamber officials will meet with the beauty shop operators and endeavor to organize them along similar lines.

John Brownlee Passes, Aged 70
John Brownlee passed away at 245 South Ivy street, this city at 11:45 p. m. Tuesday, after a serious illness since last January. He had been failing for the past two years. Mr. Brownlee was born at Delbine, Indiana, August 18 1862. He went to Wyoming in 1892 and managed a large cattle ranch, and in 1909 came to Medford, where he was in the grocery business at 327 East Main street for nine years, retiring in 1920.

He was a man of sterling qualities, and will be missed by a host of friends.

He leaves one daughter, Mrs. Florence Aderbright of Montana, one son, Jesse E. Brownlee of Medford, Oregon and 14 grandchildren, two great grandchildren. One son and one daughter passed away a few years ago.

He was a member of the Medford Lodge of Knights of Pythias. Funeral services will be conducted
