Roosevelt Worry Cut by Sidestep as Leaders Fuss

thing his physician chose to call a cold. The White House attaches whisper that it was NOT sufficient to keep him from his office, but it did.

It was probably the same cold he caught when he went off the gold standard. At that time it gave him two days for private thinking.

But that is only a little variation of his basic decentralization setup.

The root of it lies in obscure jobs in the various governmental bureaus.

He has installed in these places men in whom he has as much confidence as more than in his cabinet members.

To their shoulders he has shifted responsibilities which have made his predecessors gray before their time.

Some of the outstanding examples are known to the public. There is Prof. Moley in the state department.

Regardless of what you hear to the contrary he still sits on the right presidential knee. Also there is Budget Director Douglas, Morganthau and Tugwell.

All outrank the average run of cabinet members in the inside setup.

Some others who do not get their names in the newspapers often are: Leo Frank in agriculture, Dickinson in commerce, Slattery and Markison in interior, Acheson and Cochran in treasury, Warburg, Taussig and Bullitt in state.

The group is far more important than the crowd holding front office jobs.

Bernard Baruch is probably more maligned by gossipers out in the country than any other man, except Hoover.

Every time he shows his head in Washington, some citizens write in to the administration protesting. Apparently they figure Baruch is Wall street.

The truth is Baruch's unselfishness is generally accepted by those on the inside here. They know he has done as much for the Democratic cause as any other man. He paid General Johnson $25,000 a year to do nothing but keep track of Republican activities during the Hoover administration.

SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—Despite the fact that Oregon produces large quantities of fruits and vegetables, the state department of agriculture reports that fresh produce brought into the state in 1932 would have filled 121,445 box cars.

SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—Does education breed criminals? Probably not, say officials of the state penitentiary, but nevertheless more prisoners with college degrees than wholly illiterate were received at the prison during the last two years. Nearly a third of the 987 prisoners had a high school education or better.

Figures show 44 college graduates received at the penitentiary, 263 high school graduates, 613 with common school education, and 23 illiterate.

Only 263 of the new prisoners professed no religious affiliations. Catholics number 159, Protestants denominations 886, Hebrew 1 and Hindu 1.

Four hundred and nineteen prisoners were classified by prison officials as intemperate. Moderate drinkers numbered 201, abstainers 367.

Forty-four prisoners received during the last two years were women.

SALEM, July 21.—(AP)—Leslie M. Scott, chairman of the state highway commission, will be the principal speaker at the dedication of Silver Creek Falls east of here Sunday.

Sardine Creek

SARDINE CREEK, July 21.—(Sp.)—Ed Shipley who has been picking cherries at the Westerlund orchard near Medford for two weeks, returned home Monday.

C. L. Dusenberry who has been mining on the creek here last Thursday with his mining machine for Sacramento to do some prospecting for Skeels and Garham who mined last winter on the Pierce place at the mouth of Sardine creek.

Mr. Lulu Dusenberry spent several days last week visiting Mrs. Lucile Reams at the Green Creek Auto camp, 4 miles south of Grants Pass. Mrs. Reams was formerly a resident here.

Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Wait of the Laurelwood poultry farm are marketing a fine lot of R. I. Red fryers now.

S. A. Dusenberry lost one of his fine horses last week. Although Dr. Gitzen came out from Medford, he could do nothing for the animal, and it lived only a few hours.

Produce Brought In.

SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—Despite the fact that Oregon produces large quantities of fruits and vegetables, the state department of agriculture reports that fresh produce brought into the state in 1932 would have filled 121,445 box cars.

SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—For the statistically minded: Drivers figuring in most automobile accidents last month were between 25 and 39 years old.

1652 male drivers were in accidents compared to 372 females.

Operators with six years and more experience figure in majority of accidents.

Most drivers reported: "I did not have the right of way."

Some 858 vehicles in accidents were apparently in good condition. Eighty-five reported defective brakes.

612 accidents took place on street intersections.

Business section accidents numbered 615 compared to 572 in residential parts.

Of the 14 fatalities reported, 11 were male; 3 female. Four persons were killed in the 15 to 24 age group, and four between 45 and 50.

The first day of the processing tax was not very profitable. The treasury books showed receipts of 45 cents and expenditures of about $11,000. The money will start rolling in later.

Friends of Wall Street Prosecutor Pecora are trying to get him into the race for the attorney generalship of New York state. They really have their eye on the governorship.

Business men who think this industrial recovery set-up is temporary thing should not plan on that. The duration of the act is fixed at two years, but no one inside here believes the scheme will be dropped then. The indications are clear that the control is intended to be permanent if it works. Congress can continue it by a simple resolution.

SELMA CAMP OF CCC IDEAL SPOT

Although Selma camp has only been organized for about three weeks, reports from there state that the camp spirit is excellent, and the cooperation of the enlisted men in their work, makes it almost impossible to tell an Oregonian from an Missourian. The CCC men include 30 from Missouri, 30 from Selma, 40 from Medford and Grants Pass, and 12 from Eugene.

The Selma camp, 27 miles southwest from Grants Pass on the Redwood highway is on the edge of a stream bordered flat in a grove of fir and oak. Fresh mountain water is pumped from a 20 foot depth on the camp property to insure adequate supply during the summer period. Two dozen hot and cold showers and two dozen more hand faucets make healthful cleanliness simple.

Rev. and Mrs. R. S. Peterson left the first of the week for a three or four weeks' vacation, most of which they will spend visiting relatives in Idaho.

REV. BRAY IN PHOENIX PULPIT NEXT SUNDAY

PHOENIX, July 21.—(Sp.)—The pulpit next Sunday morning will be occupied by Dr. J. P. Bray of Medford.

In the evening young people who attended the Presbyterian conference at Rogue River will have charge of the service and give reports.

Rev. and Mrs. R. S. Peterson left the first of the week for a three or four weeks' vacation, most of which they will spend visiting relatives in Idaho.
