

JACKSON GIVEN TECHNICAL KAYO OVER CHINA BOY

Ah Wing Outclassed by Powerful Punching Negro — Barney Senn Technicals Hal Moe in Final Frame

PORTLAND, Ore., July 26.—(AP)—The powerful punches of Young Peter Jackson, Los Angeles negro, were too much for Ah Wing Lee, Portland Chinese, and Jackson was awarded a technical knockout over the Portlander in the fourth of 10 scheduled rounds in the main event of last night's fight card here. Each weighed 134.

From the opening gong Jackson showed his superiority, and the Chinese fighter apparently never had a chance. Jackson knocked Lee down in the second round, then sent him to the canvas three times in the third, twice for the count of nine. When a steaming blow sent Lee to the canvas again in the fourth round, Referee Tom Tottitt, without waiting to count, stepped in and stopped the one-sided battle.

Draws Big Crowd.

The largest crowd, officially counted at 15,000, since the one that saw the Jack Dempsey exhibition here three years ago, witnessed the struggle, held in the open air at the Civic Stadium. The gate was more than $11,000. The fans, expecting Lee would fight Jackson at least on fairly even terms, apparently were so surprised by the swift finish that they sat silently until Lee had recovered, then cheered the flashing fighter from the stands.

Monroe, Snell, Draw.

Doc Snell, 136, Tacoma, and Frankie Monroe, 135, Klamath Falls, went six rounds to a draw.

Hal Moe, 169, former Oregon State halfback, was knocked out technically in the fourth and final round by Barney Senn, 166, Medford, Oregon Normal football player. It was Senn's first professional appearance and Moe's second.

Whitey Neal, 139, Portland, and Louie Nelson, 132, Portland, drew four rounds. Young Harry Willis, 135, Longview, Wash., and Roy Ockley, 139, Portland, drew in the 4-round preliminary.

TENNIS TEAM ON RETURN JOURNEY

PARIS, July 26.—(AP)—Limping slightly, but apparently in the best of spirits, Ellsworth Vines, Jr., today left with other members of the United States Davis cup team for Cherbourg to board the Olympic, homeward bound.

Vines turned an ankle during his losing match with Fred Perry of England in the Interzone final, but said he believed it would mend and predicted he would be in good shape for defense of his United States singles title in September.

The angular American star issued a statement before his departure, denying the authenticity of a purported interview quoting him as saying he was over-tired and over-trained for his match with England, and giving full credit to Perry and Austin for their great playing.

EXTRA INNING SAVES DE MAGGIO'S STRING

By the Associated Press. An 8-run San Francisco rally in the eighth inning gave Joe De Maggio an unlooked for time at bat and a single, which ran his consecutive game hitting record to 81. When the Seals went to bat in the eighth, there seemed little likelihood Joe would get up again before the end of the game. His nates responded, however, to blast Mik Salminen of Oakland from the mound and give the youngster another chance at the plate. His stirring single over second drove in two Seal runs as San Francisco won 14-5.

FUSON ANSWERS JIBES FROM GALLERY WITH ANGLING EXHIBITION

Tom Fuson has a real fish story to tell this week—and Tom is telling it. George Roberts isn't. For the fish that Tom caught came as a surprise to George. It was caught right in front of his Rogue River cabin.

Mr. Roberts and a party of friends, according to the story about town, were enjoying the day at the cabin, when along came Tom and his fishing pole, and no fish. The famous Medford fisherman immediately became the subject of many jibes, voiced by the 24 onlookers. It was tough to meet such a gang of people with an empty fish basket, and Fuson felt badly enough on the start, he told sympathetic onlookers. But when the chorus of voices sang out "What, no fish in the river?" and other jibes, discounting his ability as an angler, he decided to show them a thing or two and he did. He landed a five-pound steelhead right in front of the 24 of them and then caught a mess of trout. And to make them feel cheaper, he gave them the fish.

For the benefit of fellow fishermen, Fuson announced today he got the steelhead on a No. 10 Royal Coachman.

AMATEUR BOXERS ENROLL THURSDAY FOR TOURNAMENT

With a number of heavies heading the list, an army of game and aspiring amateur boxers—and those who are not but who want to be—of hereabouts are marking time as they await 7:30 tomorrow night to enroll for free training and for a chance to compete in the American Legion's big relief fund benefit golden gloves ring meet in the Medford armory arena nights of Aug. 14, 15 and 16.

The enrollment session tomorrow night is set for the open-air arena erected today at the playground near the Main street bridge. In addition to free training, elegant trophies and trips to other tourist points to the national championships, also go to the winners. There are to be classes in all weight divisions.

Al Piche, local sportsman, today announced he would put up a handsome special award for the winner of the heavyweight championship of the tourney here. This award is in addition to the many other trophies at stake for the buxies to compete for.

A squad of workmen was busily engaged at the playground early today erecting an elevated ring, arranging for a special light over it, and otherwise getting the open air arena in shape for the training sessions to be held nightly from 7:30 to 9 beginning Friday. A record number of entries from Medford is forecast for the enrollment at the arena tomorrow night.

Here are the weight classes for the big tournament: Heavyweight, above 175 pounds; light heavyweight, 175 pounds or under; middleweight, 147 pounds or under; welterweight, 135 pounds or under; lightweight, 125 pounds or under; featherweight, 112 pounds or under; bantamweight, 112 pounds or under; flyweight, 112 pounds or under. AIMEE SUSPECTS RECONCILIATION AIM OF HUSBAND

An effort to trace a "leak" in messages to the temple.

Asked why Hutton had filed divorce proceedings, she was uncertain at first.

"Thinking back over it, there are so many things," she said. She recalled, and apparently attached great significance to it, that Hutton had sought to have her sell the million dollar Angelus Temple, sell the temple radio station and sell her home.

"He said he would like to live in Europe—that it was time for me to retire.

Impossible to Retire
"Of course you can see," she replied, "that it would be impossible for me to retire. My whole life is tied up in the temple and I would be lost without it."

She had refused, she said, to sell any of the property, thinking he would be satisfied with the $100 a week she gave him as expense money, in addition to the use of her 12-cylinder automobile and the use of the home.

"I seem to have been wrong," Andrew who was in the state-room, said he knew why Hutton had asked for a divorce.

"He thought he could take the temple and run it, but he found out differently."

The receipt of the wireless message on board the City of Havre sent her "splinting" across the room to collapse in a corner, she said.

"And I thought all the time his love was an undying and perfect love."

Hutton Just "Acting"
The evangelist said Hutton's apparent devotion to the temple and religion seemed in view of his divorce action and his desertion of the temple for the stage to have been a case of "acting."

"His heart must have been in the theater all the time," she said.

"He had seemed so devoted. I recall him singing hymns just before I left. It was beautiful."

The evangelist said her future would be given entirely to her evangelistic work.

"Now that there are no ties to hold me, I feel I should plunge into my work as soon as the doctor will let me. He says I should be all right in six months."

Although Hutton yesterday replied to questions about his attitude toward Aimee that he was suing for divorce, his attorney later announced he would advise the former temple singer to "go back to his wife if it seems at all feasible."

He will be introduced by A. P. Johnson, chairman of the forum committee for the local chamber of commerce.

SOMETHING NEW PROMISED FANS THURSDAY NIGHT

Something new for Medford wrestling fans will be on tap Thursday evening at the Armory when Ted Tave, well-known Portland heavyweight tangles with Oki Shikina, Japanese master of the Jiu Jitsu art in a mixed match, the first twenty minutes of which will be under the orthodox catch-as-catch-can rules, the second twenty minutes in Jiu Jitsu style with the canvas jacket, and the third twenty minutes at the option of the wrestler getting the quickest fall in either of the two preceding periods.

Shikina has a long record at his favorite style of grappling and press notices from other cities declare his performance the most spectacular seen on the coast. On the other hand Tave is not a novice at the Japanese system and local experts declare his ability to handle most any situation in the ring will make him a worthy opponent for the Nipponese.

An old favorite of Medford mat fans will also show on Thursday's card, Pete Belleastro, the speedy, scrappy Italian of Sacramento meeting George Koverley, the handsome Hollywoodian in the curtain raiser. Belleastro never fails to give his public a real performance and despite his tendency for roughness has won a large following here by his willingness to "mix it" with any foe. Koverley has appeared here once before and was well liked despite his easy-going methods. He will find it necessary to speed up and put his mind on the work in hand to hold his own with the dynamic Pete.

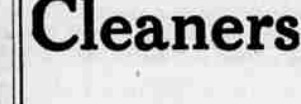

South Africa's delegate to the conference, Gen. Jan Christian Smuts (left), and Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain talk informally on the floor of the conference hall.

"I WOULDN'T DRIVE A CAR WITHOUT Hydraulic Brakes!"

AN INTERVIEW WITH CAPT. FRANK DOUGHTY, 91 VESPER ST., PORTLAND, ME.

Look at the Brakes when you "look at All Three"

FOR 17 years, Capt. Doughty has sailed out of Portland harbor. Nowadays, you'll see him sailing around Portland streets in the Plymouth sedan that's pictured at the right.

Why a Plymouth? "Out at sea, a man has room to maneuver out of trouble," says the Captain. "On land... you have to be able to stop in your tracks!"

So hydraulic brakes win another friend. Because they "stop you on a dime." They are self-equalizing.

No other low-priced car offers you hydraulic brakes. No other low-priced car offers you the combination of Floating Power engine mountings, safety-steel bodies, rigid-X frame.

In short... no other low-priced car offers you the balance of comfort, safety, style and performance, and you have only to "look at all three" to find this out. Do that... before you buy.
