A covered dish supper will be served at the spring park. Group six will be in charge, and those wishing to join the group later in the evening are requested to do so.

County Expense Warning Voiced—BY R. E. NEALON

A picture of the present financial situation in Jackson county was drawn today for members of the Kiwanis club by R. E. Nealon, Table Rock farmer and county commissioner, in talk at the luncheon at the Hotel Medford.

Devoting his talk to the county budget, he emphasized the need for many economies to enable the county to carry on throughout the year, and stated that Commissioner Ralph Billings and he are doing everything possible to keep a careful check on expenditures, and paying only funds deemed absolutely necessary in an effort to protect the taxpayers.

In spite of this attempt to save money, he county has already spent $116,531.00 of the $165,954.70 total allowed in the budget for the complete year.

Melvin Tresham, guest of Everett Faber of Central Point at the luncheon, entertained with a number of solos, which were enthusiastically received.

Among out-of-town guests at the luncheon were Robt. F. Maguire, referee in bankruptcy in Portland, who is here in the interests of the L. A. Bank's bankruptcy case. Mr. Maguire formerly lived in Medford, having practiced law here in 1910.

COMPLIANCE WITH WAGE, HOUR CODE WILL BE CHECKED

To Name Officers
The committee to be organized along military lines for the coming drive will elect a general, who will be in command and a lieutenant general, to be a woman.

The general will select three colonels, each of whom will have charge of a specific phase of the campaign. Colonel No. 1, will have charge of the "man power" or organization department, and he is to appoint seven or more captains, each of whom will organize a company of eight or more members.

The duties of this organization, or man-power department, are two-fold: First, to make a block to block canvass during the closing week of the drive, date to be announced later, checking up on the compliance with the president's emergency re-employment agreement; second, to make a survey of the unemployed, codifying the unemployed as to the adaptability by experience to trades and industries and act as liaison in expanding industries. This man power group will also check up on the proper use of insignia by dealers and consumers.

To Organize Boosters
Colonel No. 2 (and of equal rank with the colonel in charge of the man power) shall organize and conduct the publicity and educational campaign mobilizing the talent of local writers, advertising groups, outdoor advertising, street car cards, motion picture theaters. This committee will be supplied with campaign book, advertising mats, motion picture trailers from Washington headquarters.

Colonel No. 3 will have charge of the speakers' bureau and will organize a speakers' department, information bureau and an appointment bureau, schooling the speakers for explanation and exhortation in all public meetings and clubs. A speakers' manual will be provided from Washington. The information bureau, under the colonel in charge of speakers' bureau, will undertake to disseminate information along interpretative lines for use in the local district. The appointment bureau will be charged with the duty of arranging the organizations for appearances before local groups for speakers supplied by the speakers' bureau.

Civic Groups Present
Groups represented at this afternoon's meeting are: the city council, clearing house, Rotary, Kiwanis, Activists, Lions, Retail Merchants, Women's Greater Oregon association, Women's Greater Medford club, Business and Professional Women's club, Ministerial association, Medford post, American Legion, Veterans and Foreign Wars, Fruitgrowers League, Traffic association, Southern Oregon Mining association, Realty Board, Advertising and Publicity committee, Lumbermen, Pomona Grange, Parent teacher association, and representatives of the scout councils and the schools.

Medford's enforcement of the re-employment program is scheduled to go into effect tomorrow. The chamber of commerce has been working night and day upon phases of the program and several meetings are scheduled for this week.

The board of directors will meet tonight at the river lodge of Wm. F. Isaacs; Tuesday, organization of the farmers' picnic will be completed. Wednesday, the farmers' picnic will be held here, but Thursday's chamber will again return energies to the NRA program. Retail fuel dealers will meet at 10 o'clock in the morning. Restaurant and hotel representatives will meet at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Friday evening the automotive groups will meet and Saturday evening the shoe repair groups.

ASTORIA NATIONAL NOW BRANCH BANK
PORTLAND, Ore., July 31.—(AP)—E. B. MacNaughton, president of the Astoria National bank of Portland, announced today that effective tomorrow, the institution will take over the First National of Astoria and operate it as a branch.

SILVER SCREEN REVIEW

By Mary Greiner Kelly.

It beats "42nd Street" several city blocks, no matter which direction you turn. In fact "Gold Diggers of 1933," which opened to a packed house at Hunt's Craterian yesterday, is one big entertainment feast; each course crammed with musical, dramatic and pulchritudinous delectability.

Of course the cast is practically the same as in the aforementioned production, with the exception of Aline McMahon, Jean Blondell and Warren Williams. As though that trio wouldn't make even a bad show good without any further support. However, the 42 Streeters were obviously out for a bigger and better show this time. And how they give it!

The comedy team-work of Guy Kibbee and Aline McMahon is something to carry home with you and cherish for weeks. As a desperate gold digger making the most of her fast fading possibilities, Miss McMahon establishes herself as a comedienne of the rare rib-tickling variety.

Aside from the general sequence, which is exceptionally well handled, there are special numbers which make this show memorable. Classed in group A are the "Dance of the Shadows," distinguished for its sheer beauty and artistry; and "The March of Forgotten Men" for its timeliness and effective pathos.

With "Gold Diggers of 1933" pasted on the fly-leaf of your memory book, it is likely that your hunger for musical shows will be satisfied temporarily at least until another super-spectacle comes along.

Lionel Barrymore Coming to Rialto

The newspapers of America from time to time carried stories about the decadence, notoriety and scandal that often follow in the wake of great American fortunes.

A famous American novelist, Lester Cohen, studied these tales for many years. In the end he wrote an epic novel, titled "Sweepings," which was a composite fictionalized history of the fortunes and their frivolous offspring.

This great story, with its elaborate settings and dramatic elements, has been made into an epic film by RKO Radio Pictures. Known by the same title, the film is to be seen Tuesday at the Rialto theatre with Lionel Barrymore as the star, and directed by John Cromwell.

He gives one of his greatest characterizations. It is said, as the founder of a fortune, whose tottering old age is blasted and made miserable by the scapegrace escapades of his children.

$300,000 Fire Sweeps Nth. Bend Industries

NORTH BEND, Ore., July 31.—(AP) Fire which is believed to have been caused by a short circuit in power wiring last night destroyed the B-K-V Veneer plant, burned three giant shipways of the Kruse and Banka shipyards and swept through part of the Mountain States Power company plant, causing loss estimated by owners at approximately $300,000.

Several float houses were destroyed, and scores of homes on the Marshfield-North Bend waterfront were endangered. The blaze was one of the most spectacular in the history of Coos Bay.

LEGION SPONSORING CARNIVAL COMPANY

West Coast Amusement company's carnival, to be stationed in back of the Western Union office between the Southern Pacific tracks and South Fir streets for a week, was scheduled to arrive here today, and be ready for the opening tomorrow evening. The carnival is being sponsored here by the local American Legion post.

NORTHWEST FRUIT INDUSTRY SEEKS ACTION BY N. R. A.

Two, is fair. . . . Responsible canners assure us their agreement to this scale but certain members of Northwest Cannery association now in control striving to break this level and though ostensibly subscribing to N. R. A. program seek to buy at demoralized prices and capitalize on increasing value of canned products. The additional cost to the consumer of our proposal is only one cent per can of pears.

The message was signed by Paul A. Scherer of Medford, Ore., president of the organization.

He said he "greatly regretted necessity of laying this problem before you and would not do so were it not that the bread and butter economic survival of thousands of growers is at stake."

President Scherer added that "with the most expeditious handling of the association's application by the agricultural adjustment association the necessary public hearings and thorough investigation required will unavoidably delay final recognition by the secretary of agriculture until the bulk of the Bartlett pear crop is actually harvested.

"Fresh prunes from Idaho and Yakima will be shipped in the near future and desperately require the protection of orderly marketing and fair practices provided under the act."

J. Walter Hebert of Yakima, a vice-president of the group, said he had personal assurance the leading canners of the Pacific northwest and California will support the moves for the stabilized price.

CONVENTION GOERS HOME FROM EAST

Completing their trips east as delegates to national conventions, Joe Fiegl, ruler of the Medford Elks lodge, E. C. "Jerry" Jerome, representing Elks Temple, and Paul Rynning, accompanied by Mrs. Ryning, also representing Hillah, have returned to Medford.

Mr. Fiegl returned to Medford on the Shasta this morning, accompanied from Ashland by his young son Joe, Jr. He attended the national Elks convention in Milwaukee, and was joined there by Mr. Jerome, from which city the two continued to the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago. Mr. Fiegl spent three days in San Francisco on his return trip, the guest of E. L. McKinlay, formerly associated with A. S. Rosenbaum here.

Mr. Jerome returned Saturday, and following the Shrine convention at Atlantic City, visited in Washington, D. C. He flew east from Billings, Mont., four weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Rynning visited New York before returning to Medford.

CCC MEN BUILDING TELEPHONE LINE

Construction of a telephone line from Butte Falls to Mosquito guard station started today, with the boys from the Moon Prairie CCC camp doing the work. The Rogue River national forest office said this afternoon.

Work also commenced today on the Anderson Butte lookout house, which will be situated atop a thirty-foot tower. The house is to be 14x14, according to the plans. The timber for the building will be cut at the location of the lookout. The Applegate CCC boys are to do the work.

THREE DROWNED NEAR PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., July 31.—(UP) Three persons were drowned near here Sunday. A fourth was resuscitated by rescuers.

James E. Kincaid, Portland, met death in waters of the Sandy river, east of here, when he plunged into the stream to save his son, James A. 14. His body was withdrawn from the stream and members of a first aid car, rushed from Portland, revived the youth.

Dolores Quinlin, 22-year-old stenographer, was drowned a short time earlier in the same river.

Lee Martin, 55, retired Portland police officer, lost his life in the Willamette river near Dayton when his boat capsized.

LIONS SUPPORT IS PLEDGED FOR RECOVERY PLAN

The Medford Lions club went on record today with unanimous vote promising to assist all projects of the Chamber of Commerce relative to adoption of the National Recovery act.

Action was taken by the club at luncheon at the Hotel Holland following an address by A. H. Banwell, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, in which he explained the workings of the recovery act and the President's re-employment agreement.

Lion President H. W. Conger was present today to preside for the first time since his election. Second vice-president, Lion Hoover, was also in attendance for the first time since the new officers assumed their positions.

It was announced that the Lions' relief kitchen is closing today, the Reconstruction Finance corporation committee feeling that there was no necessity for its continuance.

was a guest and gave an interesting report on conditions in northern California. He extended an invitation to all Lions to attend the Yreka Gold Rush days celebration.

Denver, Colo., received its name from an Ohioan, General James W. Denver.
