

Chief McLean in Box Today Against Klamath Pelican Invaders

MEDFORD SIGNS MOUND PHENOM FOR LAST GAME

Rogues Will Use Valley's Pitching Ace in Repulsing Visitors — Game Called for Fairgrounds at 2:30

"Chief" Cliff McLean who now is the property of the San Francisco Seals, having signed a Pacific Coast League contract last week, will be on the mound for the Rogues today when they meet Prisco Edward's Klamath Falls Pelicans in the final game of the Southern Oregon league at the fairgrounds starting at 2:30. Fans who have not yet seen McLean in action will have their last opportunity today due to the fact that the "Chief" joins the Seals on the 21st when they come north for their series with the Portland Beavers.

McLean, who is but 21 years of age is one of the best looking prospects yet to be developed in this vicinity. He is not only an exceptionally good pitcher but can play any other position well and is a very hard hitter, having hit for an average of .823 to date in league games.

Manager Haight will have other new faces in the line up today, including Swanson who has been packing with the Eagle Point team. Swanson is one of the fastest outfielders in the valley and a good hitter.

Pelicans Seek Revenge
The Pelicans will not only be out for revenge today due to their defeat at the hands of the Rogues in a previous meeting, but they will be fighting to maintain their second place standing in the league and a possible tie for first place should they succeed in beating the Rogues and Roseburg beat the Coquille Loggers in their game at Roseburg. A three-game series will be played between the first and second place teams to determine the league championship.

Due to the cooler weather, a large turnout is anticipated which will include many fans who have been going to the mountains and river resorts to evade the heat of the past month.

ROGUES TO PLAY GOLD HILL TEAM

A game that many valley baseball fans have been looking forward to has finally been scheduled, when Manager Haight consented to pit his Rogues against the undefeated Gold Hill aggregation. The game is scheduled for next Sunday, August 13th at the fairgrounds.

The Gold Hillers have won 23 games without a defeat and have been after Haight for a game for some time. The reason for not scheduling the game before was due to the fact that the Rogues had a league schedule to complete and was not due to fear of defeat as was the belief of many Gold Hill fans, says Haight.

More interest is involved in this game than any other scheduled to date this year, a number of fans having written and contacted Haight, urging him to schedule the game.

Tourney Gossip

Larry Schade, boxing commissioner — "Anyone failing to see the first night of the Legion's amateur boxing tourney will have good reason for being regretful hereafter. The event is a fine and big affair for Medford."

Amos Ninsinger, Ashland — "Nothing will keep me from witnessing Ashland's amateur boxers fight the other hunkies on the opening night of the Legion tourney at Medford, August 14."

Lieut. Byrd, Union Creek C. C. C. camp — "Just keep an eye on our Illinois amateurs when they begin throwing leather in the Legion's amateur ring classic at Medford, Aug. 14."

Al Peasley — "I'm going to be on hand all three nights of the amateur boxing tourney. The amateurs really fight from gong to gong."

Dr. B. C. Wilson, tourney physician — "Nothing will keep me from witnessing the wild and exciting amateur fights August 14, 15 and 16. And by the way, did you see where 50,000 people turned out for a one-night amateur show in Chicago Thursday night?"

Vern Van Dyke, Lamport — "I'll be among the first in line for tickets when the seat sale opens for the Golden Gloves fight."

Jerry Jerome — "Just returned from the east and wanted to stay over in Chicago for the amateur show that drew more than 50,000 fans and ran six days Thursday night, but couldn't do it. I'd like for anyone to try to keep me away from the American Legion's big meet here August 14, 15, and 16. It is the biggest sports event without a doubt to ever come to Medford and folks should realize it by now."

Les Showers — "Of all the amateurs enrolled the name of only one has been placed on the 'yellow list' for quitting and I expect its owner to be on hand for the workout Monday night. More than 300 aspiring amateurs are wanting to take part in the Legion event."

WATER CARNIVAL AT BYBEE BRIDGE SET FOR TUESDAY

Celebrating the completion of the Red Cross swimming course, offered in the Table Rock district this year, for the first time, the classes will be presented in a colorful water carnival Tuesday night at Bybee bridge under direction of Miss Evelyn Hamilton, instructor.

The public is invited to view the exhibition of progress in swimming speed and life saving tactics, as well as the program of stunts, in which 25 or 30 swimmers will participate.

The program will open at 7 o'clock and will include races, demonstrations in floating, swimming, life saving and feative water sports.

Tests in junior and senior life saving, marking the close of the summer school, were begun yesterday and will be continued Monday morning. Awards won by those attending school will be presented Tuesday night.

Work on a float to be entered in the water carnival has started and the committee in charge has issued the request that all swimmers and picnickers, visiting the Bybee bridge section, refrain from destroying the float and materials to be stored there for completing it.

FEW CAN EXECUTE ROLLING SCISSORS

Les Wolfe, the "rolling scissors" expert from Ashland, who went to a draw with Al Karasick last Thursday night, and who meets Ted Thye on next week's card, follows closely upon the style of Jim Browning, claimant to the world's heavyweight title. As far as is known, Wolfe and Browning are the only two heavies in the game with strength enough in their legs to enable them to execute the "rolling scissors" style.

With Thye one of the leading lights in the grunt and grince game, and Wolfe able to make it uncomfortable for Karasick, next week's card should even surpass the bouts of last week, according to Mack Lillard, promoter. Wolfe, according to fans, would have shown Karasick if the match had gone another few minutes.

Billy Newman of Denver, 195, will meet Karasick in the first hour of the evening. The Wolfe-Thye bout will be the main event.

PORTLAND, Aug. 5. — (AP) — The First National bank of Portland has made application to open a branch at Wilson, Marion county, E. B. MacNaughton, president of the large Portland institution, confirmed the report.

To Los Angeles — Allen Rogers accompanied Mrs. Paul Reddy to Los Angeles Saturday, where he will visit the H. M. Carter family. Mrs. Reddy has been visiting her relatives for several weeks.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS

Happier days are definitely in sight and we feel confident that the depression will soon be only an unpleasant memory. With the entire nation backing President Roosevelt's plan for re-employment and the return of prosperity, business is already on the up-grade. Medford merchants are to be complimented upon their readiness to carry out the N.R.A. policies.

KEARNS INVITED ACT AS REFEREE IN MITT FIESTA

The man who took Jack Dempsey to the world's heavyweight championship, Jack Kearns, may call fistic balls and strikes as the chief referee for the furious conflicts in the American Legion's great relief fund amateur inter-state championship amateur boxing tournament that starts with a bang on the Medford Armory battle front one week from tomorrow night, August 14. The mighty ring classic lasts for three nights, ending Wednesday.

After a verbal warfare over the referee question between rival team managers became so heated that it threatened to call off the big event, Les Showers, tourney chief, decided to engage either Kearns or Lieutenant Kennedy, who handled the world's welterweight go between Jackie Fields and Young Corbett III at San Francisco several months ago, head up the battery of referees. Kearns would meet with more popular approval of fans, Carl Y. Tengwald, chairman of the tourney committee of the local American Legion post, declared last night. Kearns officiated at several other important amateur ring classics and is noted for giving the beginner a chance to get started in the ring game.

The wild and vicious conflicts will be dished up in such machine-gun like manner that instead of giving the fighters their final instructions in the ring they will receive them in their dressing rooms before their tussles get under way. This will be necessary if 15 to 20 wild-eyed fights are to be offered from 8:15 and 10:30 on each night of the big meet, Aug. 14, 15, and 16.

Train Tomorrow Night
Bent upon punching their way to victory over the out-of-town ringmen, Medford's game and aspiring amateur ringsters will go into the last week of training at the open-air arena, near the East Main street bridge, at 7:30 tomorrow night. The workout is free to the public. In the meantime, all of the outside warriors, too, will resume training in their respective gymnasiums.

The Medford amateurs have been improving by leaps and bounds in their nightly workouts and their handlers are forecasting victory for them over the invading foemen when the curtain goes up on the grueling tussles Monday night, Aug. 14.

Not to be out-done by the social lights who turn out en masse for benefit Golden Gloves events in Chicago, Boston, New York City, and other larger fistic centers, the social set of hereabouts are reported making preparations to be on hand to support their favorite amateur fighting men as they go to war in the grand opening of the hostilities a week from tomorrow night. Game amateur fighters from Oregon will be seen throwing gloved fists at the prizes of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, and other states.

"Does Medford produce better fighting men than other points in Oregon?" Will Oregon's favorite amateur fighters hammer their way to victory over the enemy from Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, California, and other states be found floating in the other states be found floating in the air of victory after the smoke of battle clears away night of Aug. 14? The above and many others are the questions fans and fauettes are asking each other as they await the bell ushering in the mighty ring classic. And the answers will come amid flying gloved fists.

Sale Opens Friday
A grand rush for tickets is expected by Legion officials when the sale opens at Cleo's confectionery on Fir and Main streets early Friday morning. Despite the bigness of the event popular prices will prevail for the big bouts.

The Oregon amateurs will collide with the out-of-staters on the first night of the big meet. It is to be an elimination affair with the losers being eliminated and the winners remaining in until the champion in each weight division will have been crowned. The Legion is qualifying the winners for the Pacific coast championships.

From 15 to 20 exciting and thrilling fights will make up the card on each night of the mighty fistic revival. The fights will be put on so fast that the spectators will not soon stop cheering for one pair of ringmen than they will begin roaring for another. That is one reason why amateurs are out-drawing all other forms of ring sport.

Max Gillinsky and Chancy Harper are the two latest amateurs to be accepted from Medford into the big tourney. Both the promising prospects.

Mrs. Gaylord's Rites Monday
Funeral services for Kate M. Gaylord, wife of C. B. Gaylord, who passed away at her home in Phoenix Friday, will be conducted at the Conger chapel by Rev. W. R. Baird at 2:30 p. m. Monday. Interment in Medford I. O. O. F. cemetery.

Mrs. Gaylord leaves four children, F. M. Gaylord, Phoenix; A. M. of San Francisco; F. B. Los Angeles and Catherine of Medford. Also one sister, Mary Rommel of Phoenix.

"Thar's Gold in Them Thar Mitts" — Big Joe Is Told

Huge heavyweights from all walks of life will enter the ring and knock each other how-legged in the "battle of giants" to usher in the Legion's great relief fund benefit championship amateur boxing tournament at Medford Armory one week from tomorrow night. And Carl Tengwald, chairman of the relief tourney committee, is shown above explaining to "Big" Joe Kauphus, giant Chicago heavyweight from Union Creek C. C. Camp, possibilities of a grand march to the world's heavyweight championship in the Medford mittfest. Kauphus weighs 315 pounds and stands better than six feet and four inches in height. A record crowd will see the grand opening of the hostilities.

CARAVAN TO TOUR TWO CCC CAMPS

A caravan to make a tour of the CCC locations at Government camp and Wineglass will be organized by the chamber of commerce for next Thursday morning upon invitation of Major Clare H. Armstrong, commander of the CCC in this region, it was announced yesterday.

An invitation to visit the camps is extended the public and cars will be leaving the Medford chamber at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning. They will continue to Government camp and on to Wineglass for luncheon. As the government prohibits serving of meals free, the guests will be required to pay a small fee for lunch.

All persons planning to make the trip, which promises to be very interesting, are asked to register at the chamber of commerce as soon as possible.

Fishing Lines Hints for Those Who Angle in Southern Oregon Waters

With fishing reported good on both the north and south forks of Rogue river, as well as Diamond lake and Lake Prospect many fishermen of this district are expected to journey to these places today.

John Holmer, mayor of Prospect, was in Medford Saturday and said that eastern brook trout, weighing between one and three pounds, were being caught almost daily at Copco dam on the north fork of Rogue river, known as Lake Prospect. Dewey Hill, he said, has been catching fish nearly every day.

Ralph Stevenson and A. Keldhammer expect to make a trip into Fish lake today, as will E. W. Brown and party.

Roland Hubbard and family left yesterday for Diamond lake, where they intend to do some fishing today.

Carl Y. Tengwald yesterday related making a trip to Crater lake 12 years ago and while cruising along in a boat near Wizard Island, reached out and picked up a 6-pound trout. He said at first that he thought the fish was sick, but later decided it was only napping.

Major Clare H. Armstrong, commander of the CCC headquarters in Medford, has a good sunburn from fishing Friday at Crater lake. Other members of the party were E. C. (Al) Solinsky, superintendent of Crater Lake National park and Rupert J. Henry of Medford. German brown trout weighing over five pounds, a silverside weighing over three pounds, and a rainbow trout slightly over three, were included in the day's catch.

A six-pound steelhead was lured from the Rogue Thursday by Capt. Charles Boussum and his brother, Clarence, fished two miles below Bybee bridge on the high banks and brought in a catch of three salmon and five trout, the last of the week. The jack salmon weighed between two and a half and three pounds.

Elmer Headburg reported hooking nine steelheads and landing two at the Elks' picnic ground on the Rogue Tuesday.

At Dodge bridge R. L. Ray and C. M. Hon each hooked a five-pot. steelhead this past week.

A couple of members of the Medford postoffice force took a fishing trip to Hardy's riffle the other day and returned with the limit of trout. They were Otto DeJarnett and R. H. Singler.

CCC boys stationed in Crater Lake National park go on fishing trips almost every week-end, and Hubert Haas of Jacksonville, stationed at Wineglass camp brought in a fine catch of German brown and rainbow trout. He used an Andy Reeker spinner No. 4.

Bill Curtis, ranger stationed at Wineglass, made a good catch on the North Umpqua. Fred Colvig and Frank Robinson, CCC recruits at Wineglass, caught close to the limit of Dolly Vardens in Sun creek in Crater Lake National park last Sunday.

Stolen from Ranch—A report was filed at the city police station Saturday afternoon that a bridle with ray-hide reins and quilt and a common curb-bit, were stolen from the Con DeVore ranch Friday.

SATIN DRESSES & HATS, sleek and smooth. Beautiful fall styles and colors. See them at Adrienne's!
