TOMATO GROWERS ALSO NEED CODE

Expressing the views of many local tomato growers, C. D. Vrooman, a grower himself, yesterday issued a public statement urging local people to support home industries, and insist upon home grown tomatoes—which are far superior in flavor, quality and keeping qualities to the inferior tomatoes now being shipped in from California.

"Unless the people of Medford and vicinity support local growers of tomatoes this industry can't be maintained," said Mr. Vrooman. "We ask for no special favors, merely that we be given a square deal.

"By Medford trade is Medford made." This is the adopted slogan and should in our own self-interest be adhered to regarding all local products.

"But we are not getting the public support nor the support of the dealers, which we deserve. Some of the latter, for example, have admitted to me that they buy a few local tomatoes, then mix them with a lot of inferior tomatoes and claiming all the tomatoes are locally grown sell the lot at the local—and higher—price.

"This is not fair dealing, in my mind. A new retail code has been established and speaking for myself I think one provision of that code should be to prevent deceiving the consumer in this fashion. I personally know where dealers—not all of them, but some—are paying 4 cents for California tomatoes, mixing them with local tomatoes and selling them all around 12 cents. I am doing what I can to see that the tomato growers, too, are given a tomato code."

Besides his wife, Louise E. Wells, he leaves four children, Harold L., who was associated with him in business; George of Burbank, Calif., now serving in the U. S. navy; Floyd A. MOTHER ADMITS SLAYING BABIES

JEFFERSON, O., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Sheriff C. H. Blanche announced today that a 28-year-old farm wife, Mrs. Aleeta Fleming, of West Andover, had confessed to him she had slain two of her infant sons within the last year and a half.

Mrs. Fleming and her husband, Mertie Fleming, 55, were held in the Ashland county jail for questioning today, after Coroner C. P. Webster had returned a verdict of murder against Mrs. Fleming in the latter of the two killings, which occurred yesterday.

Mrs. Fleming's explanation, the sheriff said, was that she didn't want a boy baby.

COUNTY LEADERS ARE SCANNED FOR FEHL'S SUCCESSOR

fully as justice of the peace of the Gold Hill justice court for many years, and has a host of friends who would be glad to give him their support.

Many staunch Republicans were starting the ball rolling for Postmaster W. J. Warner, whose appointment expires in about a year, and who may be looking for a job by then. The plans of local Democrats to place Attorney Frank DeSousa in the postoffice are successful. Warner has kept himself completely out of the political turmoil that has enveloped Jackson county, and would go into the job without an organized opposition.

Democrats have hardly given the appointment a thought, except to wish a Democratic governor had been elected in Meier's place.

The office will be declared vacant automatically upon the sentencing of Judge Fehl, according to state statute, and not upon conviction alone. A mandate of the court is necessary to vacate the office. Fehl remains county judge until he is sentenced.

The person appointed to succeed Judge Fehl will hold office until the next regular election, it is understood, and not for the remainder of Fehl's regular term.

Ralph Billings of Ashland, regularly elected county commissioner, and senior member of the county court is being given wide support for the appointment to county judge, especially from Ashland and the south end of the county.

Commissioners Billings and Nealon are taking absolutely no part in the selection of Judge Fehl's successor, they announced yesterday.

"All we want is someone we can work with," Billings said. "We could get along without a judge for that matter. We have so far."

Nealon said they would be glad to assist Governor Meier in selecting a successor, but would make no recommendations unless they were asked for.

Representative Day, from all that can be gathered, has the inside track with Governor Meier, as he worked hand-in-glove with Meier during the last meeting of the legislature, and went to bat for Meier in his sales tax campaign down here. Fear was expressed by Day supporters, however, that Meier would want Day back in the legislature, and would therefore not appoint him county judge.

Van Hovenberg Prominent VanHovenberg worked with Meier during the height of L. A. Banks' campaign, was one of the leading members of the "Committee of 100," and had several conferences with Governor Meier before a special prosecutor was named to clean up the mess here.

As it was in the appointment of former County Judge C. B. Lampkin, though, Governor Meier may spring a surprise and appoint someone entirely aside from those the politicians are trying.

Anyway, it has given the Republican politicians something to do besides chew their fingernails.

The real figures are kept by naval intelligence in strictest confidence.

It would NOT be advisable to print such figures, but you may rest assured that they do not indicate we are in danger.

Figures will be announced to make it appear the new Japanese building program gives her an edge or equality with us. Actually it leaves her considerably behind.

In addition there is the fact that our admitted superiority in capital ships would give us a strong edge on them in a far eastern conflict.

The Japanese know that.

ly means is that the world is embarked on a naval race. It will be conducted within treaty limits. But those limits are effective only until 1936.

Our officials already have heard confidentially that Japan intends to insist then on equality with Britain and us. She wants a 5-5-5 ratio instead of 5-3-3. Britain is not prepared to grant such an increase. Neither are we.

That will be the big fight at the next naval conference. Japan is now only playing toward that end.

The reason you have heard little about the Japanese lately is that they have stopped thumbing their nose at us and turned to annoying the British.

London officials mentioned it in private conversation with our economic delegates there recently. They seemed somewhat worried.

The fact appears to be that the Japanese must hate someone. Their sad internal condition requires their government to center public opinion on an external foe if they can find one. The new British tariffs in India afforded the current opportunity to hate the British.

Recently returned visitors from Tokyo say airplanes fly over the city dropping handbills: "Boycott British goods."

Only a year ago they captured Shanghai because the Chinese were boycotting theirs.

Billions of words have been wasted courting up the possibilities of a Japanese empire in the far east surpassing both Britain and the U. S.

Inner signs suggest the senate investigators may have a change of heart on the Huey Long case before the New Orleans hearing October 16. Things are veering around to the point where a sincere inquiry might be feasible politically. That is not a promise but a possibility.

The committee has practically no money but might be able to get around that obstacle if it decides to go after Huey.
