$1,078,440 Received From Uncle Sam in Last Two Years—Equipment Worth Nearly Two Million Listed

SALEM, Ore.—(UP)—The federal government during the last two years spent $1,078,440 on national guard work in Oregon, according to Harry Brumbaugh, president of the state national guard association. During the same period the guard cost the state $225,400.

In addition, the government has in the state $1,783,890 worth of equipment, ranging from shoes to heavy howitzers. There are in Oregon 82 guard units enrolling an average of 3,076 men. Average cost to the state is $9,823 a unit, to the government $20,789, with $36,036 in equipment additional.

Created in 1929 the national guard, as it is today, was created in 1920 under the national defense act, replacing the state militias. It now contains 196,000 men in the United States, and with the regular army, constitutes America's trained troops. The guardsmen are subject to call by the president in any emergency, or by the governor for troubles within the state.

Oregon guardsmen range from 18 to 45 years of age, and are selected on basis of physical and mental examinations from those seeking to enlist. At least 48 drills during the year are required of the men, for which privates receive $1 a drill.

Officers are paid higher. In addition, the guardsmen must spend 15 days taking intensive training at summer camp, where they are fed, paid and clothed by the government. $12,617 to Jackson.

Distribution by counties of federal money sent to Oregon national guard during the last two years was as follows: Baker, $17,455; Benton, $18,455; Clackamas, $41,516; Clatsop, $52,872; Columbia, $18,455; Coos, $26,249; Douglas, $18,455; Jackson, $42,817; Josephine, $18,455; Klamath, $19,455; Lane, $70,293; Linn, $37,367; Marion, $78,352; Multnomah, $378,605; Polk, $18,455; Tillamook, $18,455; Umatilla, $18,455; Union, $26,532; Wasco, $18,455; Washington, $26,532; and Yamhill, $18,452.

Highly Efficient Despite the excellent rating of the Oregon guardsmen, Brumbaugh said, the per capita cost to the state is lower than that for any of 15 other states checked.

Oregon spends $75 a biennium for each guardsman, compared to $225 in Washington and $121 in California. Other states included Arkansas, $237; Maryland, $202; New Hampshire, $196; Vermont, $142; Indiana, $87; Minnesota, $122; Delaware, $105; Utah, $101; Wyoming, $98; West Virginia, $97; and Colorado $96.

National guard units in Oregon are located at Ashland, Medford, Grants Pass, Roseburg, Cottage Grove, Eugene, Springfield, Corvallis, Albany, Salem, Woodburn, Oregon City, Lebanon, Silverton, Gresham, Dallas, McMinnville, Forest Grove, Hillsboro, Marshfield, Tillamook, Astoria, St. Helens, Portland, Klamath Falls, The Dalles, Pendleton, La Grande, Union and Baker.

PACK RATS STEAL RANGERS SUPPLIES

FORTLAND, Ore.—(UP)—High-climbing rats, pack-rats who made their way 11,253 feet above sea level, are the bane of Lookout Ray Lewis' existence on top of Mt. Hood.

The rodents, seldom known to venture more than 7000 feet up have devoured the supplies in Lewis' lookout cabin buried in the deep winter's snows. He had to send to civilization for rat poison.

Members of the biological survey are studying the pack rats, which weigh half a pound more than wharf or city rats and have slightly bushy tails.

Judge and Clerk Look Alike

Judge Earl B. Day, County Clerk Geo. Carter.

Earl B. Day, the new county judge was given the oath of office yesterday by County Clerk George Carter. This important fact was properly chronicled in the columns of this paper. But a few moments later the county judge wanted to give his oath book with interest, for instead of his picture appearing in the article, there appeared the equally public-spirited features of the oath-giving county clerk, with the caption "Earl B. Day" beneath!

As the two portraits above show, the art editor of the Mail Tribune has an alibi. The two men DO look alike. They both have well molded, strong and clean cut features; they both have plenty of hair, well brushed back and up; they both have nice ears, straight noses, and firm, clean shaven mouths. Both also have the approved habit of fearlessly looking the camera man straight in the eye. But all men are alike in this—no matter how good, or bad looking they are, they bitterly resent being taken for ANYONE else. A masculine beauty contest committee would be hard put to decide between Day and Carter—either of them could have jobs in Hollywood as Greek Gods, if they were not serious minded public officials, with a hatred for the frivolous life—but strange as it may seem the new county judge was terribly sore to have his name under the portrait of George Carter, while George Carter was fairly frothing at the mouth when his facial lineaments were handed over to the new county judge, County Clerk Carter, who is to be county clerk and nothing else. Above all after six months in office he doesn't want to be mixed up with ANY MORE COUNTY JUDGES—picture or otherwise.

But the mischief was done. There was Carter marked Judge Day and Judge Day not appearing in the picture at all. And all this at the moment when a new deal and perfect harmony in county court circles had been formally announced! All this paper can do is humbly apologize, express its regret, and print both pictures of the two county officials, properly classified, as above. Those with immediate business at the court house are advised to cut these portraits out, with the proper captions, so as to avoid embarrassment, when they call at the county clerk's office, or seek the judge at the county court.

ARMES RETURNS FROM CONCLAVE

Harvey L. Armes, Medford district manager of the General Petroleum corporation, returned yesterday from Portland, where he attended a two-day conference of the district managers of the Oregon division of the company.

Considerable time was given at the conference to the discussion of policy and sales problems of the company; also to plan for continuation of the sales campaign in behalf of the new General Four Star gasoline which is proving most successful.

Reports from the various Oregon districts were that sales of the new motor fuel greatly have increased and that motorists call for it because they believe it gives a finer performance and greatly increased mileage, according to Armes.

The local district manager further said that he was greatly surprised at the number of NRA members being displayed by Portland business houses, indicating that the people are getting solidly behind President Roosevelt's reconstruction program.

Following the conference, M. D. Leh, Oregon division manager of the company, and A. E. Horn, his assistant, entertained the visiting district representatives at a half-day of golf on the greens of the Multnomah Country club.

Business Callers—Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Cass of Grants Pass were business visitors in Medford last night. Mr. Cass is assistant cashier of the Grants Pass Bank and Trust company.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(AP)—A program calling for the early slaughter of five million hogs, including four million young pigs, to be financed by a processing tax on all hogs weighing more than 235 pounds, was presented to farm administrators today by the corn and hog belt committee of 25 and immediately endorsed by most of the major farm organizations.

The program was presented at a conference of corn and hog producers called by administrators to devise an emergency program to reduce the nation's hog population as a result of an acute feed shortage in most of the corn belt.

Earl C. Smith, Chicago, chairman of the committee, said the program would remove from the domestic market a substantial amount of the potential hog tonnage and would have the effect of improving hog prices, which have been recently depressed because of the heavy marketing of hogs by farmers who are short of feed.

Proceeds of the processing tax which would be levied for one year, would be used to buy up four million young hogs weighing between 25 and 100 pounds from August 15 to October 1.

For these, the committee recommended the following schedule of prices: For pigs weighing from 25 to 40 pounds, $2 a hundredweight; 41 to 50 pounds, $6.50; 51 to 60 pounds, $8; 61 to 70 pounds, $7.50; 71 to 80 pounds, $7; 81 to 90 pounds, $6.50, and 91 to 100 pounds, $6.

Reach for a Lucky —for always Luckies Please!

A woman's reason for liking a man's cigarette

Maybe you'll think I'm a bit inconsistent. Most things I'm fond of are really quite feminine... dainty, frilly frocks—delicate deserts—yes, and delicate compliments, too. To me my cigarette is a personal thing—it touches my lips—so give me one with real character. For some reason or other, I find that whenever I reach for a Lucky, always "Luckies Please". They're as mild and pure as can be—I wonder if "Toasting" isn't the reason after all because "It's toasted"
