BOULDER CITY IS TOUGH ON TIRES

"The toughest place in the world for tires" was described here today by Sam Jennings of Jennings Tire Co., local Kelly-Springfield Tire dealers. According to Mr. Jennings this place is Boulder City, Nevada, where the gigantic Boulder Dam is being built to harness the power of the Colorado river.

"Boulder Dam" he declared, "combines everything that the most imaginative automotive engineer could think of to give a grueling test to tires. The heat of the place is terrific. From the bare, rocky canyon sides the glare of the sun is magnified onto the roadways used by the huge trucks.

"The roads themselves, in addition to being intensely hot from this focused sunlight, are merciless on tires. They are winding and steep, requiring strenuous braking. To top these things off, the tires must bear tremendous weight.

"The very heaviest types of trucks are employed on the job. These are used day and night to haul tons of rock and dirt blasted from the canyon sides. In all, with the heat, the roads and the loads, the tires used must stand more punishment than can be given on any man-made tire testing ground yet devised.

"It is interesting to note," continued Mr. Jennings, "that Kelly-Springfield Tires are now being used in the Boulder Dam project. When the work was in its early stages, several makes of tires were employed and their lasting power checked. However, Kelly won first place in this competition and are now being used almost exclusively."

"The lake reservoir," he asserted, "is to be 115 miles long, and will contain enough water to cover the state of Connecticut to a depth of

MINING ASSOCIATION MEETING IS SLATED FRIDAY AT CHAMBER

A meeting of the Southern Oregon Mining Association will be held at Chamber of Commerce rooms on Friday evening, August 11, beginning at 8 o'clock.

It is especially desired that all members and all those who are in any way interested in the industry be present at this meeting as a number of matters of special import are to be up for discussion.

First, the annual convention of the Oregon Mining Congress has been set for August 18-19 at Baker City and it is important and necessary that our association, which is directly affiliated with the state organization, have a strong delegation present at Baker. A good live delegation can secure the next annual meeting of the congress for Medford. For this reason, and because this organization has been and is more active than any other like organization in the state, it is important that we have a good representative at the Baker meeting.

Second, a discussion of what the new NEA code will mean to the gold mining industry, and how we can all help to make the movement effective and workable, will be up for consideration.
