LEAGUE STARTS BUILDING PLAN TO RIGHT CHINA

Humbled in Initial Attempt, L. of N. Embarks Upon Long Term Program To Settle With Japanese.

By STEWART BROWN (United Press Staff Correspondent) GENEVA.—(UP)—The League of Nations, humbled in its initial attempt to persuade Japan to restore Manchuria to the Chinese, has embarked upon a long-term program, which eventually may assist China to "settle" with the Japanese.
Dr. L. Rajchman, director of the League's health section, is going to China to assist the National Economic Council there to put into effect a vast program of national reconstruction.
Collaboration "Technical." Always careful not to tread on anyone's corns, the League has carefully specified that this collaboration with China will be strictly "technical, impartial and non-political." But political experts know the League is shooting for bigger game.
If China gets her national plant-railroads, schools, telephones, telegraphs—running at a modern pace, and if political unity ensues, League officials figure China, with her vast resources and population, will be ready to avenge Japan's "rape" of her three eastern provinces.
Much that the League might have done to assist China to resist the Japanese invasion of Manchuria at the outset was circumvented by China's disorganization, both politically and economically. This gave League members an opportunity to dilly-dally long enough to permit Japan to consolidate her position in Manchuria.
Disunion Criticized. Members of the League are disinclined to help a member state who cannot or will not help herself. During the Sino-Japanese debates in Geneva there were recurrent criticisms of China's political and economic disunion. This condition, League officials hope, will be remedied, at least in the economic and social field, by the technical assistance of League experts.
The recent appointment of Dr. Rajchman as liaison officer between the Chinese government and the League reveals the League's determination to proceed with the internal reconstruction of China's communications, finance, education and health.

SILVER SCREEN REVIEW

By Mary Greiner Kelly.

As frothily amusing as a broken whitecap and as invigorating as a spray laden sea breeze, Melody Cruise, the RKO musical plaything now playing at Hunt's Craterian should get a sincere vote of appreciation from any diversion loving summer audience.
The acting, deftly handled by that master comedian, Charlie Ruggles—and say, he is funny—a cleverly-titled named Chick Chandler, viragulous little Helen Mack and stinky Greta Nissen, sails along happily in key and tempo with the background of Phil Harris music. Phil, carrying the juvenile lead, doesn't do a bad piece of acting himself, although the main excuse for his being among those present is his orchestra and vocalizations.
But the photography is still something different and very clever, the music is grand and the special dance numbers lovely. In the latter category, the ice ballet is especially outstanding. All in all the show is worthy of a recommendation either to Aunt Emma or the best girl friend.

FIRE CHIEF EYES PACKING DISTRICT

Inspection of the packing house district was being made today, preparatory to opening of the season, by Fire Chief Roy Elliott and City Building Inspector Frank Rogers.
A warning was also issued by the fire chief today to housewives, asking them to remove all C-60 cans from closed, wooden closets. Several fires have been started during the hot weather by the cans, caused to ignite by tight quarters. They should be kept in metal enclosures or open places, easily reached by the air, he stated.

Fay Wray To Star In Rialto's Drama

Is a woman's place merely in the home? People interested in learning an answer to this often-debated question will find it in the Columbia picture, "Ann Carver's Profession," which opens Tuesday at the Rialto theater.
In this powerful drama Fay Wray appears as Ann Carver, a lawyer whose efforts to gain a greater reputation for herself results in her neglecting her husband.
It is only after he has become involved with another woman, and a series of complications results, that Ann Carver realizes her true happiness lies in the love of her husband.
Opposite Fay Wray is blonde-haired Gene Raymond, in the role of her husband, while Claire Dodd, Arthur Pierson, Frank Conroy, Frank Albertson and Claude Gillingwater form a strong supporting cast. Edward Buzzell directed.

or would be hired, because of what had so far been done.
The most recent substitution in the blanket code enlisted, officials said, 1,500,000 employees of the electric light and power, telephone, natural gas producing and manufacturing, canning, construction, corn products, paper and pulp and other industries.
Millions Under Agreement. Among the industries to which authority previously had been given by Johnson to enter into the blanket agreement with labor sections of their own proposed programs, are millions of other workers, such as:
Petroleum, meat packing, radio, printing, ice cream, barber and beauty shops, laundry, confectionery, restaurant, wholesale drug, food and shoe, retail coal merchants, paint, varnish, and lacquer, retail lumber, evaporated milk and numerous others.
The majority came in with a 40-hour week, a few had 35 and 36 hours, while the salary scales of all went upward from the $12 minimum weekly wage in the general blanket code.

CAPT. HENSELMAN BOASTS BASEBALL GAME IS 'IN BAG'

Out to put Medford on the map in a different way, Dr. J. J. Emmema, umpire of the Chamber of Commerce "baseball game," fired the opening gun today in the membership drive, which is expected to revive the old spirit of cooperation in this city.
Speaking at the forum luncheon of the chamber of commerce at the Hotel Medford, Dr. Emmema gave his baseball cap a professional swing in the air and introduced the two captains upon whom he is depending in this season's games, George Henselman and J. Verne Shangle.
The cooperation of every man and woman in Medford was asked by Dr. Emmema to make the big game a success, and to bring into the chamber of commerce the support which will wipe the slate of bad notoriety and put Medford in an enviable position on the coast.
Extending the challenge to the opposing team, Captain Henselman, leader of the Boacs, declared he felt the victory was already in the bag with Roland Hubbard's Diamond Lake curves to be depended upon. "We can't miss," he declared.
Answering the challenge, J. Verne Shangle stated that his tea had been practicing up on Crater Lake curves but could soon change tactics and would without a doubt devour the Boacs before the ninth inning.
The first inning in the membership campaign went to the Rogues at the end of the verbal battle, when the bat was tossed into the air by Dr. Emmema by way of starting the boys off on their drive.

YOUTHS CONFESS SETTING FIRE TO APPELATE STORE

Investigation was being made by state police and the district attorney's offices this afternoon concerning the $2000 fire late Saturday night at the George Truax place, four miles below the Applegate shore in the Missouri flat district, which was allegedly set by two young men attempting to steal gasoline.
Police officers who were on the case, said that statements signed by Orvel Rowden, 27, and Earl Murphy, 19, told how they went to the Truax garage to steal some gasoline, and that they were accompanied to the place by a 12-year-old boy, whose name was withheld by officers.
They lit a match when they entered the Truax garage, which resulted in a gasoline explosion and severe burns to both of the young men, their statements show. The car belonging to Mr. Truax was completely destroyed, as well as the garage and tools stored there.
Both Rowden and Murphy were severely burned, and extinguished their clothing by rolling on the ground. They suffered burns on the hands, and one was unable to sign the statement he made to officers.
