Rulings of NRA Are Made Plain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 - (AP) - What does the NRA mean?

The following questions were developed and answered today by officials of the national recovery administration:

Are government employees on a 40 hour week?

No, the president's reemployment agreement exempts government and state employees. No reason given for this exception.

Does the 40 hour week apply to municipal employees?

No, but employees of municipally owned utilities are affected.

Are employees of banks affected by the reemployment agreement?

Yes. As yet there is no banking code, but clerical employees of banks come under the blanket code when the bank signs it.

Is time out for lunch included in an eight hour day?

No.

What constitutes an eight hour day under the president's reemployment agreement?

Generally speaking, an employee who starts at 8 in the morning, has one hour for lunch, and quits at 5 in the afternoon.

Suppose a waiter or waitress receives a fixed salary of $8, and gets $8 in tips. This totals $16. If under the minimum wage. However, he receives three meals which makes up for the $16 minimum wage prescribed. What is the employer expected to do?

The employer is expected to make up what the tips lack of $15. If meals are part of the compensation, it is expected that these will be charged in at a fair price.

WRITERS' LEAGUE SLATES MEETING AT LITHIA HOTEL

By MAUDE E. POOL.

That interest in the Southern Oregon chapter of the League of Western Writers is becoming widespread is manifest in a letter received by the president, Mrs. Atlanta Parker Satchwell, from the Ashland Lithia hotel, which mentioned that Ashland people are becoming interested, and invited the Medford branch to hold meetings at the hotel. At the meeting held at the Holland hotel last week it was voted to meet in the Lithia City at their hotel Monday, September 11, at 7:30 p. m.

A group of 14 journalists from Ashland, Grants Pass, Talent, and other sections attended Monday's meeting with four new members enrolling: Mrs. Douglas Wilson of Grants Pass, Ruth Holmes of Talent, and Mrs. Vivian Barto and Clinton Hume of Medford. Following the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, and explanations of the purpose and functions of the League, a brief program was presented.

Appropriate to the present pioneering stage of the writers' league, Mrs. Satchwell gave an account of the pioneer history of Oregon, which she wrote and had published in the Portland Oregonian years ago. Taking her listeners back to the early 80s when lives of the first settlers were filled with dangers from wild criminals and Indians, Mrs. Satchwell led on through the progress of settlement up to more recent times with which some of her listeners were familiar.

And well did the reader know the details of the perils and hardships of those pioneers, for among them was her father, the late Judge W. S. Parker, and many of her relatives, among whom were Lindsay and Jean Zippelstein. In preserving the history of her state, Mrs. Satchwell has followed in her father's footsteps in rendering a service for Oregon. She also read a poem, "The Oregon Trail," written by her sister, Cynthia Parker Wilson, well known writer of the San Francisco Bay region, which portrays the story of 15 men blazing the immigrant trail through southern Oregon.

Now was the entire program relegated to historical atmosphere, for members anxiously awaited the romantic touch promised by Professor V. A. Davis, and the promise was well fulfilled in the reading of a short story, which Professor Davis not yet has offered for publication. The romance of a banker's daughter, which was very much interrupted by the Court, promised the anticipated thrills. Professor Davis also read three of his poems on the Rogue River valley, Table Rock and castles in Spain, which were much appreciated.

"I don't care," said Mr. Hoover, "whom you do in Washington."

One may get an excellent thumbnail sketch of General Hugh Johnson, boss of NRA, these nights by standing near his hotel.

The general has a terrier of which he is most fond. When in town he snaps on a leash and takes the dog for an airing.

Before Johnson is more than a block from the hotel he becomes deeply engrossed in thought. As the multitudinous problems collect in his mind his pace and stride increase. In a minute or so the poor dog, with all four legs set, is being dragged down the street. But this never lasts long. The hard-boiled ear if industry realizes his pet perhaps isn't getting the best of it and in a second he's back beside the pup, fondling him and apologizing.

Henrietta Meek, Basks in Window After Capture

Would you like to have a look at Henrietta? Then come over to the News office where you will find her basking in the sun in the front window. Two local citizens, Raymond Ritter and Clarence Cook, made the brave capture in the wilds of upper Sardinia creek Wednesday afternoon.

Eight rattles and a button adorn her and for old times' sake she had been named Henrietta. And what's more she's alive too, but don't worry she won't strike as the cell she's in keeps people safe. Henrietta might rattle at you though as she has been
