

FILE DISMISSALS OF INDICTMENTS TURMOIL CASES

Formal dismissals of indictments returned as a direct result of the Benks-Pehl engendered turmoil were filed today with the county clerk.

Indictments charging L. A. Benks, now serving a life term in state prison with criminal label, criminal syndicalism and ballot theft were dismissed. The state in the ballot theft trial introduced testimony that showed Benks' home was the meeting place for plotting agitation and agitatory deeds, and that with his wife he planned to furnish alibi for ballot theft defendants. The "inner circle" held "seances" at the Benks home.

The facial habeas corpus proceedings, issued in an abortive attempt by Earl H. Pehl, to secure the release of four ballot-theft defendants, when they were first arrested, were also quashed. The habeas corpus action was directed against Chief of Police Clatus McCredie. The men listed for release were Virgil Edgington, J. Croft, Tom L. Brechen and C. W. (Chuck) Davis. Edgington, Davis, and Brechen entered guilty pleas.

Contempt proceedings against Amos W. Walker, at times deputy sheriff and probation officer under Pehl, was also dismissed. Walker testified he had interviewed the wife of a juror, at the behest of Pehl, in the Schermerhorn trial.

The indictment against Leonard K. Hall, editor of the Jacksonville Miner, charging criminal libel was also set aside. Hall in an article charged that L. A. Benks was a menace, did not pay his debts and should be suppressed.

Indictments against Henrietta B. Martin, president of the self-styled "good government congress," charged with riotous conduct, with others, as the result of her attempt to burglarize Editor Hall, and against her father, C. H. Brown, secretary of the "good government congress," charged with slandering a bank, still remain. Both are indictable misdemeanors, punishable by county jail sentences. The district attorney's office declines to dismiss the indictments, on the grounds that public opinion demanded they be kept active. Trials on both indictments are scheduled to be heard at the contemplated term of the circuit court starting about September 15.

Thrift, Love, Romance Interwoven in Patchwork Quilt Maxwell Heirloom

By MAUDE POOL

In a little cabin of beech logs a blaze burned cozily in a huge fireplace. Nutshells were cracked with gusto as Father delved into the mysteries of a hunting tale. Over by the spinning wheel in the corner Maggie was picking quilt scraps from calico—

Such is the story one may read between the stitches of an old, old patchwork quilt made sometime in the late 1700's. This quilt is the cherished possession of M. W. Maxwell of Buch, whose grandmother, Maggie Wallace, sewed the time-honored relic with deft and loving fingers in her girlhood days in North Carolina some 130 years ago.

Its colors still are bright despite the probable fifty-launderings in old fashioned soft soap. In the substantial homespun, together with the excellence of hand stitching common to those days more than 40 years before Howe's first sewing machine came into use, has been wrought an article which has withstood the test of time and long use.

Nine blocks of 120 piece patterns suggesting the sun's rays constitute the quilt, which has an individuality all its own. More than mere cloth has been placed into this pattern. There is thrift and love and romance, and visions known to every young girl of happiness down through the years in a new home somewhere with children in it (there came to be eleven children in that home). Somewhere in the making of this old quilt has been caught wisps of sadness and sorrow, perhaps, as well as the joys that centered around the home hearth in simpler days. In the

Use Goodyear in Harvesting

Pneumatic tire efficiency provided for tractors last year has now been extended to farm machinery.

For years farm machines have jolted slowly over rough fields, limited in speed by the steel wheels with which they were equipped; but introduction of a new combine harvester, which cuts and threshes grain in one operation and designed for use with Goodyear tires, foresees a revolution in farm machinery design.

The low pressure tires on which the combine is mounted minimize shocks to such an extent that the old speed of harvesting machinery is stepped up considerably and the capacity of the machine is increased, according to engineers of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. In addition to increasing the speed of the machine, use of pneumatic tires played an important part in reducing its cost to a figure appreciably lower than that of larger combines.

"This is an age of speed," declared H. C. Merritt, manager of the tractor division of the Allis-Chalmers Mfg. Co., producers of the combine. "There is no reason why the farm machinery industry should sit back and allow developments of present day engineering to pass it by. We feel that we should adopt new automotive ideas in farm machinery, especially when they not only reduce the cost but also increase the output."

Designed for lightness and efficiency, the new combine weighs but 2400 pounds—a light load for a tractor to pull on pneumatic tires—and is smaller and more compact than previous large machines. Due to the speed made possible by the pneumatic tires, however, it can do as much work in a given length of time as larger combines. An innovation is increasing width of the threshing cylinder to equal that of the cutter bar. The stalks of grain go directly into the cylinder head first, and the width of the straw stream is always the same as the width of the swath

MURDER REPORT UNDER PROBE BY STATE OFFICERS

State police and the district attorney's office were checking up today on a "murder tale," and seeking the whereabouts of a man giving the name of "Porter."

The murder is supposed to have been committed in New Mexico. "Porter," according to the authorities a few days ago departed suddenly from his mining claim in the Steamboat section of the upper Applegate country.

Information reaching the state police says that "Porter" left his claim with the words: "They want me for that killing in New Mexico." He left his tools behind, and gave his mining claim—considered better than the average-to fellow miners.

"Porter" had excavated a number of placer holes on the land, and had reached "bedrock." State police have inspected the property in search of clues.

"Porter" the authorities say, told acquaintances that he was going to the head waters of the Chetro river, in a wild and inaccessible section of Curry county.

The state police are checking with

New Mexico authorities, and expect to locate "Porter" in Curry county, for questioning relative to his own admissions.

The murder report came to light during an investigation of charges that groceries were being stolen from miners' cabins, while they were at work.

Warner Baxter is starred in the role of the society thief, and the beautiful Miriam Jordan has the part of the girl sleuth.

FRAZIER ESTATE UNDER PROBATE

An order in administration of the estate of Frank D. Frazier, insofar as it is located in Jackson county, was filed today in circuit court.

Frazier died in Chicago last June, leaving an estate worth between $2,000,000 and $7,000,000. His Jackson county property is estimated at $500,000. Frazier's father in the 90's was one of the leading grain brokers of the middle west, and with James D. Patten cornered the wheat market.

Frazier was well known to scores of residents of this city and valley during the "boom days," and was one of the lavish spenders of that era. He owned an orchard tract near the city. He left here in 1915.

Frazier was the first resident of the valley to own two automobiles.

Slenderize with Salads!

SPEAKING OF "SALAD DRESSINGS"
Carole Lombard
You Don't Pay For Water
 ... when you buy Best Foods Mayonnaise

It's a fact—so-called "salad dressings" contain 30% to 40% water. So naturally they sell for 1/3 less than a fine mayonnaise like Best Foods user in your own kitchen. Naturally, no "salad dressing" can give you its same delicious flavor, velvet smoothness, and valuable health benefits.

For even the finest "salad dressing," you know, is nothing more than a cooked-up mixture of water, vinegar and inexpensive cereal "fillers" (as much as 30% to 40%) stirred into a little mayonnaise.

Now do you wonder that "salad dressings" can be sold for less than real mayonnaise? Perhaps, knowing the facts, you wonder why they sell for as much as they do (1/3 less than a true mayonnaise like Best Foods).

There's no substitute for it

If you can possibly afford it, buy Best Foods Mayonnaise always. There is no substitute for its fine ingredients—the same ingredients

WHY SALAD DRESSING COSTS 1/3 LESS

A LITTLE MAYONNAISE + CEREAL FILLERS + WATER = SALAD DRESSING

NO WATER IS ADDED TO REAL MAYONNAISE. Best Foods Mayonnaise, you know, is made from eggs, fine salad oils, imported spices and selected vinegar—no water is added, no "fillers," no cooking. While even the finest salad dressing, as you see, contains inexpensive "fillers" and water (as much as 30% to 40%) to give added bulk so it can be sold for slightly less than real mayonnaise.
