

JUSTICE COURT ASSESSES FINES IN AUTO CASES

A continuation of justice court trials were reported this morning, as the result of numerous arrests late Saturday evening and early Sunday morning. Most of the arrests were made in Jacksonville or the highways leading from that town where the Gold Rush Jubilee was held.

Included among the cases disposed of by state police Monday afternoon in justice courts were: Ralph Parka, fined $100 and $4.50 costs, and sentenced to jail for thirty days, upon conviction of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Paris automatically loses his driver's license for one year under this sentence. He appeared before Justice of the Peace W. R. Coleman.

Eva Jones, who also appeared before Justice Coleman, was fined $25 and $4.50 costs on a charge of reckless driving. Tony Ungaro, arrested by state police on a reckless driving charge, failed to appear in justice court as scheduled and forfeited $25 bail which he had furnished.

A fine of $10 and $4.50 costs was passed on Windford Honeyman for having void California license plates on his car. He entered a plea of guilty, and was ordered to purchase an Oregon automobile license and obtain an Oregon operator's license at once.

Appearing before Justice of the Peace L. A. Roberts in Ashland, Donald Pitzer Cull was fined $25 and costs on a reckless driving charge. Claire Marie Blumenhauer, operating an automobile with void Michigan license plates, was fined $25 and costs in Judge Roberts' court Monday.

T. S. Kirkpatrick, who was operating a truck with void foreign plates, was fined $5 and costs of $3 in court yesterday, and required to purchase an Oregon license, which cost $50. Jasper E. Reynolds, arrested early Sunday morning on a charge of driving while intoxicated, appeared in justice court Monday afternoon, and time of plea was set at Thursday morning 10 o'clock. Reynolds is being represented by Attorney Frank DeSouza.

CURRY WINS COURT FIGHT OVER MONEY EXPENDED ON MINE
In the case of Gold Mound company vs. Harry Curry, Judge H. D. Norton has entered a judgment in favor of the defendant Curry. The pleadings show that Curry was in charge of the Gold Mound company, a corporation, and operating for the corporation the Barron mine, near Ashland, and the corporation brought a suit for an accounting against Curry, alleging that Curry had used funds belonging to the corporation, in his own behalf, in the sum of $29,500.

In trial before Judge Norton, the defendant Curry produced receipts and checks showing for what purpose the moneys coming into his hands were disbursed. The evidence showed that Curry had not only expended the funds which came into his hands in behalf of the corporation, but in addition thereto had expended more than $10,000 of his own money in the development of the mine.

The court awarded Curry a judgment against the plaintiff, the Gold Mound company, in a sum in excess of $10,000. The suit was brought by Edward G. Ongman, secretary and treasurer of the corporation, represented by G. M. Roberts and William McAllister. The defendant was represented by Gus Newbury.

WONDERLANDS OF UTAH TO BE TOPIC
This evening at the senior high school auditorium, Avis Lobdell of Portland, publicity lecturer of Nature's Wonderland, will give a lecture to which the public is urged to attend. The address will start at 8:15 o'clock, and Miss Lobdell has prepared a program to cover an hour's time. The lecture is being sponsored by the Medford chamber of commerce, and it is expected that many local and valley people will be interested in Miss Lobdell's talk. The oral descriptions will be accompanied by colored illustrations, and will include pictures of southern Utah parks and other interesting features. Miss Lobdell lectured on Saturday and Sunday at Crater Lake national park.

Dietrich-Stringer Wedding Solemnized

At a lovely service at nine o'clock Sunday morning in the Phoenix Presbyterian church, Miss Leah Dietrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Dietrich of Medford, became the bride of Ray C. Stringer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Stringer of Beall Lane. Rev. Ralph S. Peterson, pastor of the church solemnized the ceremony. The bride, who was attired in white georgette and lace, and carried a bouquet of roses and maiden-hair fern, was given in marriage by her father. The bride was attended by Mrs. Catherine Denzer of Phoenix, who wore an ensemble of rose and carried autumn flowers. Little Miss Beverly Jean Dally was the flower girl. The groom's brother was best man.

Robert Steadman of Phoenix sang "I Love You Truly", and Joseph Hartley, also of Phoenix, played Wagner's Wedding March from Lohengrin. At the close of the service he played Mendelssohn's Wedding March. Only relatives and immediate friends of the couple attended the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Stringer will make their home in Phoenix.

Mrs. Hazelrigg Returns From South

Mrs. Sue Hazelrigg has returned to her home in Medford after spending the past two months visiting with her son, W. W. Hazelrigg at Alameda, Calif. During her stay in the south, Mrs. Hazelrigg was the inspiration for a number of social events. She will be joined here in the near future by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hazelrigg, after they complete a motor trip through the redwoods with a party of their young friends from San Francisco.

AUTO INDIGENTS FIND COUNTY IS POOR PROVIDER

The county court, in an effort to correct the farthing impression that Jackson county "is a soft spot and easy pickings" has adopted the policy of giving short shift to the appeals of auto indigents for food, gasoline and clothing. A dozen appeals have been flatly rejected the past week.

The county court has adopted the policy of rendering aid only unto its own people, and they must be of known established residence. The relief fund of the county is low, and every penny is needed for this purpose.

Five or six requests received the past week for gasoline, to enable families to get out of the county were also refused. Another recent arrival reported that he was traveling with his wife and five children, and needed food and a wheel for his trailer.

It is also reported there has been a decline in the number of squatters up the creeks and the cool canyons, and along Rogue River the past 10 days. Many of the type had intended to winter here, the county authorities have learned. They served notice two weeks ago, that Jackson county would devote its relief fund to its own, and that there would be no county commissary this winter.

Other Pacific coast counties have adopted the same methods in the handling of indigent wanderers.

POSTAL WORKERS' PICNIC ENJOYED

Eighty postal employees of southern Oregon and their families made up a picnic party at the Grants Pass city park Sunday, at which time a short program was given, with Mayor W. W. Stockwell of Grants Pass giving the welcoming address.

Postmaster Masale of Grants Pass also gave a brief talk. Mr. and Mrs. Bailey of Roseburg, accompanied by Miss Gertrude Rost and Mable Crumb of Lawrence, Kansas, were also in attendance. Mr. Bailey is district manager of carriers for that section.

A. H. Wising and Mrs. Wising, formerly of Medford, who now reside in Grants Pass, and B. F. Gilbert of Medford, retired head janitor, were honor guests. Mr. Wising is a retired rural carrier.

Mrs. Sheets, of Medford, president of the Rural Carriers' Ladies' auxiliary of southern Oregon, gave a short address.

ROAD DISTRICTS ARE ABOLISHED SEPTEMBER 1ST

The 12 road districts of Jackson county, under a law passed by the last session of the legislature, will be abolished September 1, and all territory outside of incorporated towns will be in one district. The services of road supervisors are automatically suspended under the law.

The law provides that each incorporated town is a road district, and supervision of the roads and other duties of the road supervisors will be handled by the county court, which is empowered to make the appointments, and designate the territory to be covered. There will probably not be more than a half dozen road projects at the busiest season, and none in the dull season. Under present conditions one supervisor could cover the county.

The law was passed to cut expense of road programs, systematize the work, improve the service and eliminate rural politics and politicians.

Leave for Lake—Bernice Dahl and Ida Thedings of Seattle left by stage today for Crater Lake. They plan to return here this afternoon.
