Rogue Is Popular Gathering Place Of Local Society

Farewell parties for folk leaving Medford, welcome home parties for returning vacationists and visitors to the World's Fair, have kept local society very busy during the past week although the warm weather forecast a wane in events.

Throughout all the festivity the Rogue was a popular gathering place and continues to be. Last evening Mrs. H. Chandler Egan entertained at her river home, members of her bridge club and their husbands. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Corbin Edgell, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Sprague Regel, Mr. and Mrs. Wheldon Bidle Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gatin Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred S. V. Carpenter.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Carpenter also entertained at dinner last evening at their home in the country, inviting for the occasion Mr. and Mrs. Martin Luther, recent arrivals here; Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Aldrich, Miss Roxanne Ruhl and Chas. Voorhes.

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Hovenberg will be hosts at a 5 o'clock picnic at the Maud cabin on Rogue river, near Gold Hill.

Mrs. Lumsden Is 97 Today, Dinner Planned At Inn

"A happy birthday to you" is the song hosts of friends are singing if not in reality, at least in their hearts today to Mrs. E. M. ("Grandma") Lumsden, who is celebrating her 97th birthday. With her daughter-in-law, Mrs. H. U. Lumsden, with whom she makes her home, and a few other relatives and friends, she will motor to Rogue Elk Inn for birthday dinner. Plans for the party were announced yesterday by Mrs. H. U. Lumsden.

Although three more years will bring her to her centennial, Mrs. Lumsden is not dreading the future but anticipating it, as she does visits from the many friends she has made during her 97 years in Medford. And the many folk, who call to wish her "A happy birthday today, will find the beloved little pioneer smiling at the calendar.

Besides her daughter-in-law, Mrs. H. U. Lumsden, "Grandma," as she is known to all her friends, has the following relatives here: A grandson, Treve Lumsden, recently transferred from Medford to Hillsboro; two great grandchildren, Anna Lee and Treve Jr., and a nephew, C. I. Hutchison.

All will be joining a host of friends in extending birthday greetings to her today, for each August 27 that rolls around finds a shower of flowers, cards, other gifts, and good wishes awaiting "Grandma" Lumsden.

Activities of Legion Auxiliary

By Mrs. Cole Holmes.
Another branch of the work of the Auxiliary is the publicity. In order to carry out its purpose most effectively it is necessary for the Auxiliary to give the public an understanding of its ideals and principles and of the work which it is doing.

By making itself well known to the public, public support can be assured in all Auxiliary work, and as many of the Auxiliary activities are of a public or semi-public nature, this support is essential to fullest success. The publicity work in the Auxiliary has no end of its own to gain, but its purpose is to acquaint the public with the work of the Auxiliary. For success in membership work, in rehabilitation, child welfare, Americanism, community service, national defense, legislative work and the other endeavors of the Auxiliary effective publicity is always an important and often vitally necessary. It is the endeavor of the Auxiliary to continue to be a group of patriotic women, banded together for the dual purpose of contributing to the welfare of the widows and orphans of World War Veterans and in the rehabilitation of the disabled World War veteran. It is an honor to be able to belong to such a group of women and help in such a well-defined program. The Auxiliary is comprised of the highest grade of women who are able to combine pleasure with work. Every mother, wife, sister and daughter of a World War veteran should belong, for it is impossible for any organization to do its most successful work without adequate co-operation.

Miss Butler Returns To Longview, Wash.
Miss Arlene Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Butler, left yesterday for Longview, Wash., where she will resume her position in the schools with opening of the fall term. She divided her vacation time this year between Medford and Diamond Lake, where she spent six weeks at the Butler cabin.

Lecture Pleases Large Audience

By MRS. E. E. GORE
Like an oasis in the desert was the illustrated lecture at the high school auditorium Tuesday night by Lois Lobdel, who showed unusual views of the Zion National Park and Bryce Canyon. Miss Lobdel is woman's welfare director of the Union Pacific system and infuses the spirit of the great outdoors into her lecture. She creates an atmosphere of active participation in the trip through the park that is very fascinating. As one was heard to say, "The way she carried me along, I thought I'd never come out of some of those great canyons."

Miss Moulton, who assisted Miss Lobdel and who has sung in grand opera before world audiences, also pleased with musical interpretations of some of the most outstanding scenes.

It is to be hoped that the chamber of commerce will have more and other opportunities to provide delightful evenings' entertainment for its members and friends.
